$4,000 Loss Seen In Blaze In Rural Area

Ohio Township Pair Loses Furnishings, Clothing To Flames

The five-room home of a young Ohio Township couple was gutted by flames early this morning in 5 above zero weather.

About $4,000 was estimated as the loss to the house in Cow Hollow in which Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams and daughter, Dana, 11 months, resided. An overheated coal furnace was believed to blame.

Some 15 Ohio Township volunteer firemen with 2 pumper trucks and 6 Midland Heights firemen and a truck answered the alarm at 1:50 a. m. Heights firemen were alerted by Midland Fire Chief Vincent D'Itri.

Fire Chief John Dawson of the township said flames were shooting out of the windows when he arrived. Bernard Zlatovich, township constable, and Al Monac, Midland Heights assistant fire chief, were at the scene.

The blaze was extinguished shortly after firemen arrived but Heights firemen remained until about 4 a.m. and Ohio Township firemen until 5 a.m. to watch the smouldering ruins.

The family escaped with very little clothing and they lost all their furniture and clothing.

Only recently, Williams had put $400 into furniture for the home. Christmas tree decorations and gifts for the baby were also destroyed.

The family went to the home of his uncle, Nathan Smith, of the Midland-Fairview Rd., who owns a store nearby. The home is owned by Smith's father, W. B. Smith, 380 Ohio Ave., Midland.

According to the uncle, Mrs. Williams went to the baby's room to check on her and smelled something burning. She aroused her husband who went downstairs to check on the furnace. He saw sparks and returned upstairs and found flames in the kitchen.

Williams, 22, is presently idle. When employed, he works for a construction contractor near Pittsburgh.

FBI Captures County Thief

Sheriff Deputies To Get Edmond Maras

LISBON — A 30-year-old Ohio man, who escaped from jail at Freeport, Ill., 11 months ago while under a Columbiana County indictment for armed robbery, has been apprehended by the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Tulsa, Okla.

The man, Edmond Maras of Newton Falls, is wanted here for trial in a $600 robbery at Barnett's Motel on U.S. 62 west of Salem last December. He was being held for Columbiana authorities when he escaped at Freeport.

Maras and his brother, James, 20, were indicted by the grand jury last January. James was convicted and is serving a 10-25-year term in Ohio Penitentiary. His appeal is pending before the Ohio Supreme Court.

Charles Harris, 38, of Warren, also wanted in connection with the motel robbery, was slain by police at Dixon, Ill., Jan. 4 when he tried to draw a revolver after

Rusk Slated To Slow Rush To 'Summit'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new secretary of State for the Kennedy administration, Dean Rusk, is expected to oppose the rush to a summit conference advocated by Soviet Premier Khrushchev and favored by British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Rusk, 51, a self-made diplomat, favors more traditional and cautious forms of negotiation. His views on the subject were spelled out earlier this year in a lecture delivered at the Council on Foreign Relations in New York. He made clear there that he thinks the president's personal diplomacy should be reserved for very rare and special uses.

Rusk was named by President-elect John F. Kennedy Monday to take over the State Department and the day-to-day direction of U. S. foreign policy in the administration starting Jan. 20.

Kennedy also announced that Rep. Bowles was his choice for undersecretary of State and that Adlai E. Stevenson had accepted the post of U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Rusk is an old hand at the State Department operation, having served as assistant secretary during the Truman administration.

He resigned from the department nine years ago to become president of the Rockefeller Foundation, a philanthropic organization set up to promote research and development in the sciences and humanities.

Rusk made his big impression on official Washington as the assistant secretary of State directly in charge of U. S. political policies at the time of the Korean War outbreak in 1950 and in the months following.

He was reported to have favored decisive action by the United States such as President Truman ordered to meet the Communist attack on South Korea. He then favored keeping the war strictly limited and once told associates that it might be vital in the nuclear age to establish the practice of fighting for a precise and limited purpose; in that case, to repel the aggresion.

Rusk also felt that the policies of President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson had to prevail over the war-expansion policies of the U. S. commander in the Far East, Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Truman fired MacArthur in early 1951 for arguing publicly against his directives.

Rusk Will Take Pay Slash As Secretary

NEW YORK (AP)—Dean Rusk apparently will take a cut in salary when he takes over as secretary of state in the Kennedy administration.

"It's tough on him but good for the country," one of Rusk's fellow officers at the Rockefeller Foundation said Monday night.

Rusk, as president of the foundation, received a reported salary of $50,000 to $75,000 a year. Foundation officials said the salary is confidential.

His salary as secretary of state pays only $25,000 a year. The State Department, however, pays for the secretary's official entertaining.

3 Children Die In Fire

MADISON, W. Va. (AP) — Three small children were burned to death early today when fire destroyed their small frame home at Lick Creek near Danville, Boone County.

City Burglary Wave Termed 'Well Planned'

Officers Investigate Theft Of $202 At Downtown Tavern

A series of burglaries and robberies which erupted in East Liverpool over the weekend "obviously was well-planned and executed on carefully - gathered information," Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi commented today as officers checked the latest — a $202 burglary of a downtown tavern.

The cash was taken from the Vi-Jon Bar at 107 E. 6th St., operated by John Varsho, where intruders forced open a cash register to obtain $200 and broke into a coin-operated bowling machine to take another $2.

Reporting the burglary to police late yesterday morning, the tavern management said intruders broke in through a rear window sometime between 5 p. m. Sunday and 10 a. m. yesterday. An undetermined amount in checks also was stolen, police said.

In other weekend cases, two gunmen bound up 83-year-old Mrs. L. C. Boice at the St. Clair Ave. home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kaiser, and escaped with $100; a strongbox was removed from the home of T. H. Kashuba on Pope Ave. and a safe containing $615 in cash and checks was hauled bodily out of the Tri-State News Agency office at 217 Union St.

Chief Radeschi commented today that in each case the burglars obtained explicit information that enabled them to time their movements carefully and strike at a time when there was the least chance of detection.

He pointed out that they entered the Kaiser home Saturday night after ascertaining by telephone that the owner and his wife would be absent, leaving Mrs. Boice alone. A mysterious telephone call also preceded the burglary at the Kashuba home, although it was several days before the strongbox was taken.

The burglary at the news agency office obviously was timed for a brief period when the busy office would be unoccupied.

Chief Radeschi repeated a request that the public co-operate with police in stamping out the wave of burglaries by reporting suspicious cars or loiterers or mysterious telephone calls.

Police should be notified of suspicious strangers or cars in a neighborhood or mysterious calls, the chief said. If police have advance warning, they may be able to apprehend the culprits in the next burglary or robbery, he said.

Jap Labor Unionists Strike For Higher Pay

TOKYO (AP)—Labor unionists throughout Japan struck today in an annual year-end campaign for higher wages and bonuses. Union leaders said half a million participated in walkouts and parades.

About 15,000 workers waving Red flags walked off the job at 27 U.S. military bases. Many hospitals, schools and government offices were affected.

Blizzard Leaves 150 Dead

Record Northeast Storm Followed By Bitter Cold

Below Zero Reported In Many Areas

Snowfall Up To 25 Inches Mars Bid To Get Traffic Rolling

By The Associated Press

Zero temperatures today followed the Northeast's worst pre-winter blizzard and blocked efforts to get traffic rolling normally.

The death toll mounted to near 150—from heart attacks caused by overexertion in snow shoveling or attempts to push stalled automobiles, from skidding vehicles and from exposure to cold.

The temperature dropped to 28 degrees below zero in Jefferson County in northwest Pennsylvania and to 14 below in Wyoming County near Buffalo, N.Y.

Mercury readings were at a low for the date in many areas —1 below in Pittsburgh, Pa., 8 above in Philadelphia and 7.4 above in New York City.

In New York, where commuters were lucky to get to work at all Monday, they straggled in on trains and buses that ran behind schedules.

Railroad problems were caused by icing of equipment and the loading of greater numbers of passengers—many of whom ordinarily drive their automobiles to work.

Buses were hampered by drifts, ruts in plowed stretches of road, and overloads of passengers.

A bright sun shone in most of the hardest hit area, from Virginia to Canada, but snow was reported still falling in Ontario, where it had reached a depth of 25 inches.

A deer hunter, Thomas Mroczkowski, 17, of Perth Amboy, was missing in snowbound High Point State Park in New Jersey's Sussex County. A helicopter and ground searchers sought the youth, missing since Monday.

The depth of the snow and drifts was reflected by the plight of a woman in Edison, N.J. She reported her small foreign car stolen. Police found it—just where she had parked it near her home. It was buried under a snowdrift.

Snowdrifts, which reached the height of 10 feet in New Jersey, formed again behind snow plows bucking their way down main roads. In many cases side streets which were left untouched became playgrounds for children and their sleds.

Some sunshine was expected during the day, with diminishing winds and slightly moderating temperatures. No real relief was in sight until Wednesday, when the mercury was expected to climb into the 30s in the afternoon, bringing some thawing and help to the shovelers.

Warmup Due Wednesday

Cold Wave Reaches Zero In Rural Areas

The mercury reached the "Big O" in the rural areas this morning in the second seige of zero weather this month but the Ohio weatherman promised a warming trend Wednesday.

Edwin Copeland's U. S. weather station at Millport recorded the zero mark early today as other sections got more moderate readings ranging from 2, 6 and 8 above. Fredericktown, the "ice box of the county," had an unofficial low of 5 below. Copeland had one below Dec. 1.

Downtown East Liverpool had a chilly 8 above and Dam 7 at Midland reported 6 from midnight on. The State Highway Department garage at Leetonia reported a reading of 2.

Record-breaking and sub-zero temperatures were general over Ohio this morning. Columbus set a new record for the date with 5 below.

Cincinnati also set a record for the date with 4 degrees above.

Defense Sees Slain Man As 'Quarrelsome'

Plea Of Self Defense Made By Counsel For Murder Defendant

LISBON — A picture of a 37-year-old Alabama shooting victim as a "violent and quarrelsome man" was drawn today by the defense at the Common Pleas Court trial of Frank W. Fisher of Salem, charged with the shotgun slaying of Wyman Capps, his son-in-law.

A claim of self-defense was made by veteran Atty. John E. Bauknecht of East Palestine, counsel for Fish, 56, an employe of the American Standard Radiator Co. of Salem and a truck farmer.

Bauknecht, in opening statements this morning, said Capps, 37, married to Fish's daughter, Kathryn, was an escapee from an Alabama prison and had a reputation for brutality that caused Fish to fear for his life and family in the Aug. 3 shooting at the Fish farm home along Egypt Rd. 3 miles southeast of Salem.

Fish, indicted for second degree murder, stood on the porch of the home and shot Capps in the chest with a 12-gauge shotgun when his son-in-law returned from Salem intoxicated.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said Capps was "stupid drunk" and unable to do any harm, but Bauknecht declared Capps was "mean drunk" carrying a carton of beer, a bottle of whisky and another package, the contents of which Fish did not know.

Bauknecht told the jury of 6 men and 6 women that Capp approached the porch after telling his father-in-law: "I'll kill you," and held his hand at his hip pocket. The attorney said Capps had tried to purchase a pistol at two places in Salem before returning to the Fish home, where he and his wife had been residing.

Recapitulation of the day of the shooting by the two lawyers showed Fish had taken his daughter and Capps to Salem in the morning for some dental work. Mr. and Mrs. Fish then went to Canfield, where they sold some vegetable produce they had raised.

Bauknecht said the Capps—married in March 1957 — had been staying at the Fish home for 4 weeks. They had lived there at times before in addition to residing at Salem, Alabama and other locations. He said Capps had left Salem in March 1959, ostensibly to go to Florida, but was next heard from in the jail at Jasper, Ala., where he was reared.

According to the defense coun-

Kennedy Holds Talks

New Selections Loom For Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy began a busy round of conferences on possible Cabinet appointments today by seeing George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

The labor leader, whose presence on the Kennedy appointment list had not been previously announced, showed up at Kennedy's Georgetown home at 9:10 a.m. and went directly inside without a word to newsmen clustered outside in 11-degree weather.

Kennedy has been waiting to talk to Meany before reaching a decision on the man he will name secretary of labor.

Before Meany's unannounced appearance it had been thought Kennedy was concentrating today on conferences dealing with the secretary of agriculture post in his Cabinet.

There were also hints from Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, that Kennedy was on the verge of announcing his choice for secretary of defense or secretary of the treasury.

Kennedy scheduled separate meetings at his Georgetown home with Ralph Bradley, president of the Illinois Farmers Union, and Rep. Harold Cooley, D-N.C., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. On tap was discussion of who will head the Agriculture Department in the new administration — an assignment which could be one of the most difficult of the Kennedy regime.

There has been speculation the job may go to Rep. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., or Fred V. Heinkel, president of the Missouri Farmers Association.

Among those mentioned for secretary of Defense are Robert S. McNamara, president of the Ford Motor Co.; Paul H. Nitze, director of the State Department's policy planning staff in the Truman administration; and Roswell Gilpatric, undersecretary of the Air Force under President Truman.

Over the weekend Kennedy was reported giving serious consideration to a Republican, Douglas Dillon, for secretary of the Treasury. Dillon is undersecretary of state in the outgoing Eisenhower administration. McNamara also has been listed as a possibility for the Treasury spot.

Kennedy Monday chose the top echelon of the new administration's foreign policy team. He picked Dean Rusk, head of the Rockefeller Foundation, as secretary of State, and Rep. Chester Bowles, D-Conn., as undersecretary. And he announced that Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, had agreed to serve as ambassador to the United Nations.

Rusk, 51, a Democrat who was an assistant secretary of State under Truman, was the fourth Cabinet member selected by Kennedy.

Leaders Declare 'War'

Hoffa, Bridges Rap U.S. Attempt To Plague Labor

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Two powerful independent labor leaders—James Hoffa of the Teamsters and Harry Bridges of the West Coast Longshoremen — declared war Monday night on what they called government attempts to plague organized labor.

They trained their verbal guns on the Landrum-Griffin labor law and the U. S. Senate Labor-Management Committee at a joint meeting of their unions' membership in Civic Auditorium.

"Hoffa and I are committed to unity and action," Bridges declared. "We can't worry about the McClellans, Kennedys, politicians and employers, we've got to fight."

Hoffa addressed the crowd of about 4,000 by telephone from Washington, D. C.

"We're in for the fight of our lives," he said. "If we don't progress at the bargaining table, if our demands for an increased share in the standard of living are not met, we'll strike."

Hoffa, under subpoena to appear before the Senate committee in Washington, has asked cancellation of Wednesday's hearing to enable him to fly here for the joint meeting. A postponement to Jan. 10 was ordered but too late for Hoffa to make the trip across the continent

Board Selects Architect For 3 New Schools

Hancock Group Goes Ahead With Plans In $5 Million Program

A Columbus architectural firm was selected by the Hancock County Board of Education Monday night to design two new high schools and a new junior high building for the county system.

The naming of Kellam & Foley Architects by the board followed earlier action of purchasing a 97-acre tract near Pughtown as the site for one of the 2 proposed high schools.

Construction of the buildings is included in a $5 million expansion and modernization program recommended for Hancock County by a research staff from Ohio State University.

The board expects to present the $5 million bond issue to county voters this spring, probably in May.

The building program can be financed by continuing the present tax rates with no additional increases to the taxpayers, Supt. Robert H. Hall pointed out.

The OSU research team recommended, after a six-month study of the system, construction of a new high school building in Pughtown and a new high school and new junior high school for Weirton.

Supt. Hall said Kellam & Foley were "very highly recommended." The board was unanimous in its selection of the architectural firm. The firm has designed many schools in the Columbus area.

Four other architects were considered for the job. They were from East Liverpool and Newark, Ohio, and Weirton and Parkersburg.

The architects will design buildings with use of a guide prepared by the OSU research staff to house specific educational programs and curriculum.

The board met last night in New Cumberland High School. Other business was routine. Dr. W. Dale Williams, president, presided. The next meeting is Jan. 9.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said Capps was "stupid drunk" and unable to do any harm, but Bauknecht declared Capps was "mean drunk" carrying a carton of beer, a bottle of whisky and another package, the contents of which Fish did not know.

Bauknecht told the jury of 6 men and 6 women that Capp approached the porch after telling his father-in-law: "I'll kill you," and held his hand at his hip pocket. The attorney said Capps had tried to purchase a pistol at two places in Salem before returning to the Fish home, where he and his wife had been residing.

Recapitulation of the day of the shooting by the two lawyers showed Fish had taken his daughter and Capps to Salem in the morning for some dental work. Mr. and Mrs. Fish then went to Canfield, where they sold some vegetable produce they had raised.

Bauknecht said the Capps—married in March 1957 — had been staying at the Fish home for 4 weeks. They had lived there at times before in addition to residing at Salem, Alabama and other locations. He said Capps had left Salem in March 1959, ostensibly to go to Florida, but was next heard from in the jail at Jasper, Ala., where he was reared.

Kennedy Holds Talks

New Selections Loom For Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy began a busy round of conferences on possible Cabinet appointments today by seeing George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

The labor leader, whose presence on the Kennedy appointment list had not been previously announced, showed up at Kennedy's Georgetown home at 9:10 a.m. and went directly inside without a word to newsmen clustered outside in 11-degree weather.

Kennedy has been waiting to talk to Meany before reaching a decision on the man he will name secretary of labor.

Before Meany's unannounced appearance it had been thought Kennedy was concentrating today on conferences dealing with the secretary of agriculture post in his Cabinet.

There were also hints from Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, that Kennedy was on the verge of announcing his choice for secretary of defense or secretary of the treasury.

Kennedy scheduled separate meetings at his Georgetown home with Ralph Bradley, president of the Illinois Farmers Union, and Rep. Harold Cooley, D-N.C., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. On tap was discussion of who will head the Agriculture Department in the new administration — an assignment which could be one of the most difficult of the Kennedy regime.

There has been speculation the job may go to Rep. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., or Fred V. Heinkel, president of the Missouri Farmers Association.

Among those mentioned for secretary of Defense are Robert S. McNamara, president of the Ford Motor Co.; Paul H. Nitze, director of the State Department's policy planning staff in the Truman administration; and Roswell Gilpatric, undersecretary of the Air Force under President Truman.

Over the weekend Kennedy was reported giving serious consideration to a Republican, Douglas Dillon, for secretary of the Treasury. Dillon is undersecretary of state in the outgoing Eisenhower administration. McNamara also has been listed as a possibility for the Treasury spot.

Kennedy Monday chose the top echelon of the new administration's foreign policy team. He picked Dean Rusk, head of the Rockefeller Foundation, as secretary of State, and Rep. Chester Bowles, D-Conn., as undersecretary. And he announced that Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, had agreed to serve as ambassador to the United Nations.

Rusk, 51, a Democrat who was an assistant secretary of State under Truman, was the fourth Cabinet member selected by Kennedy.

Leaders Declare 'War'

Hoffa, Bridges Rap U.S. Attempt To Plague Labor

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Two powerful independent labor leaders—James Hoffa of the Teamsters and Harry Bridges of the West Coast Longshoremen — declared war Monday night on what they called government attempts to plague organized labor.

They trained their verbal guns on the Landrum-Griffin labor law and the U. S. Senate Labor-Management Committee at a joint meeting of their unions' membership in Civic Auditorium.

"Hoffa and I are committed to unity and action," Bridges declared. "We can't worry about the McClellans, Kennedys, politicians and employers, we've got to fight."

Hoffa addressed the crowd of about 4,000 by telephone from Washington, D. C.

"We're in for the fight of our lives," he said. "If we don't progress at the bargaining table, if our demands for an increased share in the standard of living are not met, we'll strike."

Hoffa, under subpoena to appear before the Senate committee in Washington, has asked cancellation of Wednesday's hearing to enable him to fly here for the joint meeting. A postponement to Jan. 10 was ordered but too late for Hoffa to make the trip across the continent

Board Selects Architect For 3 New Schools

Hancock Group Goes Ahead With Plans In $5 Million Program

A Columbus architectural firm was selected by the Hancock County Board of Education Monday night to design two new high schools and a new junior high building for the county system.

The naming of Kellam & Foley Architects by the board followed earlier action of purchasing a 97-acre tract near Pughtown as the site for one of the 2 proposed high schools.

Construction of the buildings is included in a $5 million expansion and modernization program recommended for Hancock County by a research staff from Ohio State University.

The board expects to present the $5 million bond issue to county voters this spring, probably in May.

The building program can be financed by continuing the present tax rates with no additional increases to the taxpayers, Supt. Robert H. Hall pointed out.

The OSU research team recommended, after a six-month study of the system, construction of a new high school building in Pughtown and a new high school and new junior high school for Weirton.

Supt. Hall said Kellam & Foley were "very highly recommended." The board was unanimous in its selection of the architectural firm. The firm has designed many schools in the Columbus area.

Four other architects were considered for the job. They were from East Liverpool and Newark, Ohio, and Weirton and Parkersburg.

The architects will design buildings with use of a guide prepared by the OSU research staff to house specific educational programs and curriculum.

The board met last night in New Cumberland High School. Other business was routine. Dr. W. Dale Williams, president, presided. The next meeting is Jan. 9.

Blue Cross Of Northeast Ohio To Get Only 19.75% Rate Hike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio will get only a 19.75 per cent rate increase for the Cleveland area instead of the 27.4 per cent hike it sought, Ohio's insurance superintendent has ruled.

Supt. Edward A. Stowell made the ruling Monday. He also rejected a 5 per cent boost intended to provide discounts for elderly subscribers based on the number of years of participation in the program.

Blue Cross sought the general rate increase for subscribers in Cuyahoga, Lake, Geauga, Lorain, Medina, Summit and Portage counties. It hopes to have the increase in effect by Feb. 1.

The 5 per cent increase to cover the proposed discount program for the aged would also have taken in Ashtabula, Ashland, Wayne, Richland and Huron counties. Stowell's rejection means rates to subscribers in those counties will remain as they are.

Stowell also recommended creation of a committee that would seek to "restrain" hospital costs from increasing—without lowering standards of medical care. The committee would be composed of representatives of Blue Cross, labor, management, government, hospital administrators and members of the medical profession.

Stowell's action was comparable to his decision on a similar rate increase sought recently by Blue Cross of Southwestern Ohio.

Northeast Ohio Blue Cross collects about $73 million annually in premiums from about 1,800,000 subscribers.

New Date Not Set For Leaders' Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — No date has been set for the called-off meeting between Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and leaders of the new legislature convening next month. The meeting wasn't held Monday because of difficult travel conditions resulting from the recent snowstorm. It had been called to discuss ground rules for administration-legislature liaison.

Leaders in both parties were notified of the cancellation, but Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Hamilton, wasn't reached until he already had left Cincinnati for Columbus. Taft was stopped by the Highway Patrol in Wilmington and informed of the change in plans. He returned to Cincinnati.

Wounded Boy, 14, Is Transferred To State Institution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 14-year-old Urbana boy, wounded in the head in a mysterious shooting at his home in which his 17-year-old sweetheart was killed, has been transferred from Children's Hospital here to a state mental institution because of what a hospital informant calls "suicidal tendencies."

The informant replied "No", when asked if Walter Slone had tried to take his own life at Children's Hospital. He said the term "suicidal" referred to the shooting Nov. 30 in which Walter's girl friend, Louise Blosser, was mortally wounded.

The Champaign County coroner has yet to rule on who fired the .38 caliber pistol bullet that went through the head of the Blosser girl and lodged in the center of Walter's brain. The two were found in the bedroom of young Slone's Urbana home where he lives with his widowed mother.

When Walter walked out of Children's Hospital with his mother late Monday, the bullet was still in his brain, the hospital source said. He added that doctors had merely treated the wound, since surgery to remove the bullet apparently would have been too dangerous.

The informant said the boy's mother had signed him into Columbus State Hospital.

CASTLE, Okla. (AP) — Residents carrying saucepans and buckets reaped a bonanza of free gasoline one day. The gasoline poured freely after a road grader slashed an 8-inch gasoline transmission line near here.

Accord Reached On 2-Year Pact

CLEVELAND (AP) — Representatives of Greyhound Corp.'s Eastern Division and the Amalgamated Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes Union reached agreement Monday on a tentative two-year contract.

Edwin C. Nicholas, company spokesman, said union negotiators recommended the new settlement.

Terms of the agreement, which covers 5,200 drivers, maintenance and terminal employes in the northeastern part of the country, were not disclosed pending a ratification vote by union members. Nichols said this may take about three weeks.

A previous agreement providing an 18-cent hourly wage increase over a two-year period was turned down by the union last week by a vote of 2,453 to 1,823.

The old contract expired Oct. 31, but the union has continued to work pending outcome of the negotiations.

Lorain Industrial Jobs Dip, Population Rises

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Industrial jobs in Lorain County decreased since 1950 while population was increasing 46 per cent, according to a 10-year survey which the Ohio State Employment Service's Lorain office expects to complete next week.

Ward A. Riley, OSES manager here, reports automation more than offset the addition of about 5,000 manufacturing jobs during the decade. Currently 6,700, or 9.7 per cent of the county's labor force of 69,300 is unemployed.

Results Of Lie Test Admitted As Evidence In Trial

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—For the first time in the memory of Dayton attorneys, results of a lie detector test have been admitted as evidence in a trial.

It happened Monday at the armed robbery trial of Donald D. Foran in Common Pleas Court before Judge Carl D. Kessler. Foran is charged with the $428 holdup of a Dayton bar last March 23.

Defense attorney William R. Ellis was cross-examining a prosecution witness, Detective Lt. Richard Grundish of Dayton police, when the attorney asked if a lie detector test had been administered to Foran.

Grundish said that was so.

Ellis then asked what the results showed.

"It showed he was lying," the detective answered.

Results of lie detector tests ordinarily are not admissible as evidence in court. However, attorneys point out, anything is admissible as long as attorneys trying the case don't object. A judge cannot rule until there is an objection. There was none when Ellis asked his question.

Court observers said Ellis apparently didn't know the results of the test or he wouldn't have asked the question. Ellis said afterward he was trying to show that Foran was forced into allegedly confessing the robbery.

Meal is a soup bowl: A poached egg on toast with hot chicken broth poured over, Italian style. Pass grated Parmesan or Romano cheese if you like.

Kennedy's Foreign Affairs Team

Now that President-elect Kennedy has announced his major appointments in the realm of foreign affairs, it is interesting to look at them from the perspective of the whole.

As Secretary of State he has chosen Dean Rusk, a scholar who has held jobs both in government and private endeavor that permitted him contact with a wide range of human activity dedicated to the betterment of man.

This is especially true of his nine-year tenure as head of the Rockefeller Foundation. It is worthy of note that when Mr. Rusk was previously on the State Department staff, his specialty was the Far East, one of the two critical regions of a world which the United States has a vital stake in saving for democracy.

AS AN UNDERSECRETARY of State, Mr. Kennedy has tapped Chester Bowles, another intellectual who has seen extensive service both in private enterprise and government. Included in his many government positions, both appointive and elective, was the ambassadorship to India. In that focal point of Far Eastern neutrality that has often proved aggravating to the West, Mr. Bowles gained an expert's knowledge and a diplomat's respect from the Indians.

As ambassador to the United Nations, Adlai Stevenson will be able to draw upon deep personal admiration of foreign representatives and a fine talent for articulate debate. With considerable private wealth and free time at his disposal, he has traveled widely in the world but has had closest connection with Latin America, an area of continuing concern to Washington.

Announced earlier was the appointment of G. Mennen Williams as assistant secretary of state for African affairs, the second critical region of today's world.

It also is interesting to note that Sen. John W. Fulbright, who figured in early speculation on the Secretary of State assignment, apparently will remain in the Senate. As chairman of that body's foreign relations committee, he may very well be as much a part of the administration's foreign policy team as any of the appointees.

VIEWED AS A WHOLE, the team appears to have been deliberately blocked out with special emphasis on those areas which Sen. Kennedy said throughout his campaign should be given special attention. Each member is considered to be strong in his special area of interest or experience. Each has a reputation for taking the intellectual approach to practical problems.

It can be assumed, then, that President-elect Kennedy intends to be the active coach of the team.

He repeatedly criticized President Eisenhower during the campaign for taking too passive a role in administrative policy-making and he particularly attacked the reign of the late John Foster Dulles over the nation's foreign policy.

Mr. Kennedy belongs to the strong-president school of political thought, believing the chief executive, as elected representative of the people, should initiate policy and push the presidential power prerogatives to the limit.

HIS FOREIGN AFFAIRS team apparently is designed to implement the policies which he himself will take a direct hand in laying down. His will be the practical job of making the decisions that will put the team's brain power to work.

It may be, as Mr. Kennedy said during his campaign, that this approach is what is needed to set aright those things that he found wrong with the United States' position in the world.

His constituents and his counterparts in other nations will be waiting to see if he is right.

Tips Could Help

East Liverpool residents would do well to heed the appeal of Police Chief Radeschi for cooperation in stamping out burglaries.

Would Congolese Accept Negroes?

One of the most exciting ideas generated by the national campaign was Sen. Kennedy's proposal for a corps of young Americans to help new governments get on their feet, especially in Africa?

The idea was borrowed from a British plan already in operation. There is a possibility that young men might serve in such a corps in lieu of military training, either as draftees or volunteers.

They would be drawn from colleges and universities and would work under trained supervision to set up the civil service organizations of governments asking for help. This would be similar to what was done in the Republic of Congo when Congolese students were brought home from schools in France to handle routine housekeeping chores like record-keeping, public health administration, sanitation, payroll work and the like.

These students were not connected with the Congo's political issues. They were not expected to take sides. They were not part of the competition for public power. They were asked to serve their new country as apprentice civil servants—rank-and-file public employes who could read and write.

The question about American students is whether they would be accepted by the Congolese. Surely their chances of acceptance would be infinitely greater if they were Negroes; they would not be handicapped by the prejudice of the Congolese against whites.

There are many outstanding Negro students in American colleges and universities. There are many outstanding Negroes in the professions and occupations that must be developed in the emerging African nations. These people are uniquely equipped to help members of their race who are trying to achieve in months and years the know-how of government that older nations have been working at for generations. It would be one type of people-to-people program that would cost little and produce results of incalculable value.

Would American Negroes do it? Would the Congolese accept them? Perhaps G. Mennen Williams will be able to find out when he becomes assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

With one of the biggest bowling alleys on earth over waiting room, it will be so quiet tourists can hear a thousand "PINS" drop. Ceiling, now 65 feet high and giving the station air and beauty, will be cut down to 15 feet.

This should make it impossible for traveler to be sure whether he is listening to trains rumbling in and out or whether everybody is making "spares" and "strikes" above his head.

Why not go all out for fun? Let's have a trampoline bouncing mat around the information booth, a cinder path between lunch counters and a horseshoe pitching area for commuters who have just missed a train.

With pool tables where a few games could be played while the ticket window men fill out those long-distance ticket forms and some handball and tennis courts scattered along the balconies.

In the new concept of railroad stations there should be room for a fight arena, some wrestling centers (exclusive of those around the train-portals in rush hour) and jiu jitsu plazas.

Why worry about trains in a railroad station? They are becoming practically unimportant. Important question is whether the bowling alleys run on Sundays and holidays.

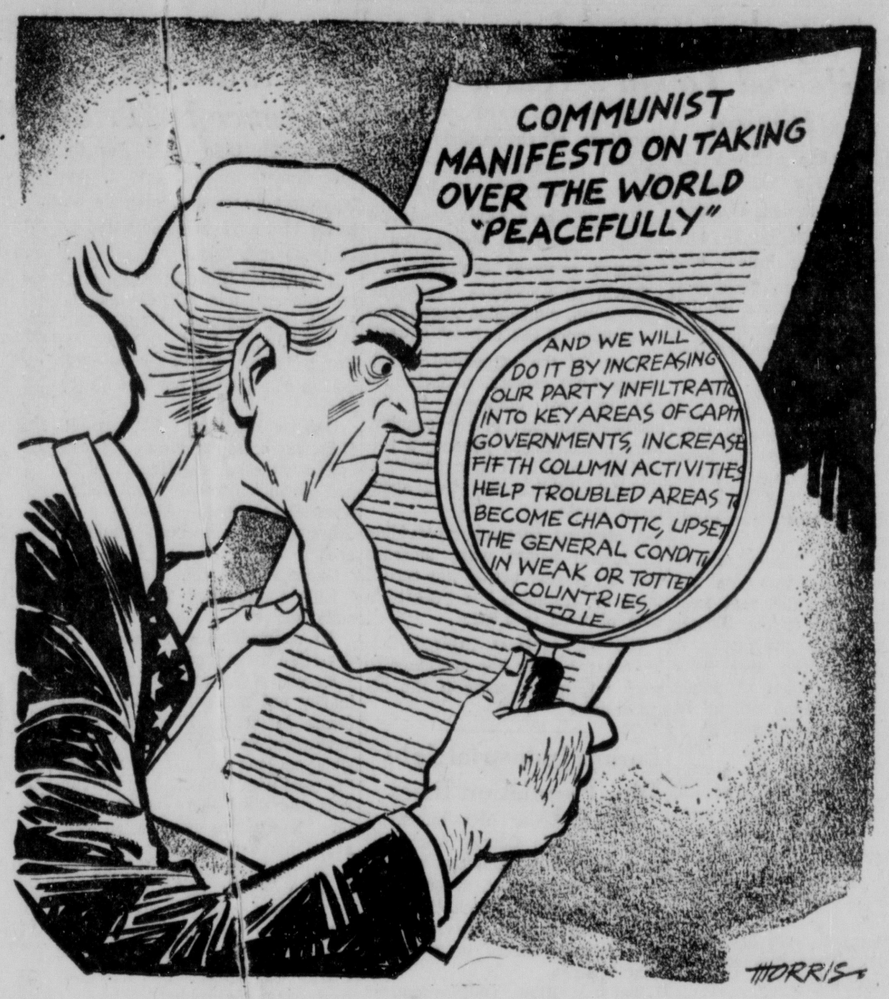
Don't Forget The Fine Print



Meany Won't Apply The Pressure

By Victor Riesel

One of the most disappearing men in the history of President-elects has been John F. Kennedy. I was a lone scout inside the Waldorf Towers last Wednesday afternoon when he arrived there only to vanish into its heights.

Victor Riesel

In the same area was labor counselor Arthur J. Goldberg. Some labor men thought he was the one who quietly filled in part of the "missing" time with his intimate friend "Jack."

It wasn't so. Sen. Kennedy conferred with Republicans.

It was exactly a week previous, to the hour, that John Kennedy and the labor lawyer talked for over 70 minutes in the Georgetown mansion, but there was good reason for the labor insiders to believe that the two men had met at the Waldorf. For some time they have been trying to solve a sticky issue for the new administration.

Soft-spoken Art Goldbert is, as self-effacingly as possible, helping Kennedy make headlines of the future on a fermenting and volatile front—labor.

ON THIS ISSUE the President-elect is deeply troubled, indeed. Kennedy would like to "deliver" to his labor allies and get that pre-inaugural problem over with. But he can't. He doesn't know what to deliver.

Labor can't make up its mind over what it wants. The national union chiefs are split wide open on policy. And inside labor Art Goldberg is the great compromiser—in the best sense of the word.

This is what they discussed privately in the Kennedy home at 6 o'clock Wednesday, Nov. 30.

That evening Kennedy offered Goldberg the post of secretary of labor. The lawyer did not want the job but told the President-elect he would take it if Kennedy asked and if George Meany approved.

Goldberg also pointed out that this meant the unprecedented appointment of two men of Jewish faith. But John Kennedy waved that issue aside.

The President-elect wanted a united labor front with which to deal. The split, it could be said, began with an off-the-record telephone call put in by the President-to-be to the president of the AFL-CIO shortly after Election Day.

Kennedy wanted personally to thank George Meany for the aide of the powerful machine labor had thrown into the campaign.

THE LABOR CHIEF said, in effect, it was gracious of the senator to call. Then he added, we're not going to press you for anything. We'll not demand any specific appointments. You know who our friends are. You know we trust you and have faith in you. You know our policies. We have worked together before. We know you have vast problems now, so we won't push and it is in your hands.

When word of this conversation seeped back into the rest of labor's high command, rumbling came from distant corners.

Walter Reuther protested. George Harrison, leader of the railway clerks and head of the labor committee of the Democratic party protested.

There were others. They said that they had faith in Jack Kennedy but how did they know that his judgment on their friends would coincide with theirs.

When Meany takes a stand, he makes Stonewall Jackson a man of tissue paper will power. Meany did not believe that a labor man should be appointed secretary of labor. Reuther and his group did. Meany did not want to give labor public responsibilities for other government appointments. Reuther and the others, especially those out of the old CIO, did.

MEANY did not want labor to take any position which would embarrass Kennedy by making it appear this would be a labor administration.

The AFL-CIO chief executive did not, for example, call a fall meeting of labor's high command so it would not appear that the AFL-CIO Executive Council was dictating policy to the President-elect who soon would be preparing the State of the Union address.

Then Meany agreed with Kennedy that they call off the Thanksgiving Eve conference with 10 labor leaders and Jack Kennedy. Neither leader wanted the labor factions to debate the matter with the President-elect.

Finally Meany decided to keep a long-standing commitment in Europe right at the height of Kennedy's policy-making and Cabinet-constructing moments. He left for some three weeks in Brussels.

Last Tuesday the Reuther group met at the Industrial Union Dept. Art Goldberg was there. Meany wasn't. Somebody said send him a telegram and tell him to come home.

All of Western Union couldn't change Meany's mind. He's not going to presure Kennedy regardless of the pressure the others put on the labor chief.

It's That Time Again

By Truman Twill

Time again for Christmas cards, which means time again for the yearly puzzlement about this holiday activity.

One year we bought letter paper with a holly wreath at the top and wrote Christmas letters to our friends. It took time, but it eliminated all the people who were on our Christmas card list only because we had received cards from them in some former year.

Many people write personal messages on their regular cards and in fact choose cards large enough to accommodate written messages. It is one of my jobs to write these when it's time for the cards.

The messages are meaningful, whether sent or received. They convey the thought that here it is, Christmas again, another year has vanished and once more thoughts are of old friends, faraway places and precious things that are no more.

With us, the messages go on to say, it has been a year pretty much like all years. There have been illnesses, disappointments, pleasures, triumphs, satisfactions and regrets. Some very old and very precious things have been lost, also some very new and very precious things.

Time has run on and left an aching void. Plans have been made and carried out after a fashion, and where no plans had been made things have shaped up of their own accord. The children are older. And of course they're doing very well, and where are those attractive babies of yours by this time? All married, with babies of their own. No doubt.

It has been a long time since we've seen each other, but we'll get together one of these days. Some things with us are different. We're older, but our hearts are still young and gay, cha-cha. And you two—you're still cutups, we betcha. Zing-a-ling-ling.

We still live in the same place and have the same routine. We often think about you and wonder how things are with you. Did Sambo ever get the better job he was hoping to get? And what happened to the trouble you were having with your skin the last time you wrote?

And your vacation last summer—how about it? Did you finally get to Europe, as you said you had been dreaming of doing for so long? As for us, we spent our vacation at home. European vacations never did appeal to us, and besides somebody has to hang around here to keep the chipmunks from taking over the place.

Maybe sometime we could take a vacation together. Make reservations at the same fishing camp. Get adjoining rooms at a summer resort. Book passage on a cruise together, except there's always the question of time. Jimbo's business is so pressing his boss can't spare him for very long. And now, what with things being tough all over and everybody doubleing up and all it couldn't be done anyway.

Anyway, it's Christmas again and we were thinking of you tonight, around the dining room table, with the Christmas cards all spread out and the address books, the telephone book, the stamps, envelopes and all. This is to wish yours and yours and yours and yours a merry, merry, merry, merry Christmas, Christmas, Christmas, just like it says here on the card, except in your case it's for real, real, real, real, because you're among our oldest friends, friends, friends, and happy, happy, happy, New, New, New Year, Year, Year, Year . . .

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO—Through the efforts of Miss Evelyn Frederick, school nurse, and the cooperation of city firemen and others, 600 toys and dolls were offered by school pupils for distribution on Christmas Day.

Miss Alma Jones was installed as worthy matron of Crystal Chapter 8 Order of Eastern Star.

Robert Beatty, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Beatty of Thompson Ave., a student at Carnegie Institute of Technology, was pledged to Beta Theta Pi, national social fraternity.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Wellsville property owners were informthat their tax rate in 1941 would be cut from 27 to 23 mills.

The East End grade school football team, winner of 1940 grade school competition, was honored with a reception by the Horace Mann Home and School Association.

TEN YEARS AGO — Mrs. Janet O'Hara, co-owner of the East Liverpool China Co., and Miss Mary Ellen Martin, executive of Mary Patterson Memorial, were among those initiated into the Quota Club.

Fred Doutt was installed as worshipful master of Riddle Masonic Lodge 315.

New members of the East Liverpool Board of Health were Mrs. Esther McHenry, drugstore operator, and William F. Walker, bakery route driver.

John Alden, central figure in the famous story of "The Courtship of Miles Standish," was the youngest signer of the historical Mayflower Compact, and was also the last survivor of all who made the epic voyage to America in that ship.

Non-Controversial

By James Marlow

A Look At Kennedy's Cabinet Appointments

WASHINGTON

President-elect John F. Kennedy has gone about picking a Cabinet like a man determined to avoid a brawl before he has a chance to start his presidency.

None of his four Cabinet appointees so far is a controversial figure.

None therefore is likely to get much opposition or criticism from liberals or conservatives in the new Congress next year—at least in the beginning.

Kennedy filled the spot which could have caused the biggest rumpus with an adroit but nonspectacular figure; Dean Rusk, head of the Rockefeller Foundation, as secretary of State.

Rusk in the past held several government jobs—the highest as assistant secretary of State for Far Eastern affairs under President Truman—but handled himself unobtrusively. To the public he was generally unknown.

He had to be adroit to be on that Far Eastern desk in 1950 and come through unscarred when Sen. Joseph McCarthy was belaboring the State Department for its handling of Far Eastern affairs, particularly in China.

Rusk is esteemed for brains by people who know him. Since he's a quiet operator, he and Kennedy will have the advantage of starting out in foreign affairs with at least a period of peace and quiet.

He'll get his share of brickbats later, which is par for the course for secretaries of State.

The story would have been different if Kennedy had given the No. 1 foreign policy job to Adlai E. Stevenson, who is a hero to some.

The slot Kennedy picked for Stevenson — ambassador to the United Nations—can hardly cause a fire in Congress or elsewhere. In the United Nations Stevenson will not be making American foreign policy. He'll just be expressing.

Kennedy reportedly had considered several men for the job he finally gave Rusk: Stevenson, Chester Bowles and Sen. William Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, among others.

Apparently he did his greatest soulsearching in the case of Bowles. Monday, he gave Bowles, the State Department's No. 2 job as undersecretary, which puts him at Rusk's right hand.

Bowles, a liberal, a Connecticut congressman and former governor, had a fine record as ambassador to India under Truman and as administrator of the Office of Price Administration during the war.

He was Kennedy's foreign policy advisor during the presidential campaign. But his part in shaping the liberal Democratic platform far from endeared him to some of the conservative members of his party.

There might have been some sharpshooting at him right from the start if Kennedy had named him secretary instead of the noncontroversial Rusk. As undersecretary Bowles will be in a position to move up if Rusk ever leaves.

None of Kennedy's other three Cabinet appointees has been in any broad public dispute and has no backlog of ill will to carry into his new job with him.

Those three are Connecticut Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff as secretary of Health, Education and Welfare; Stewart L. Udall, Democratic congressman from Arizona as secretary of the Interior; and North Carolina Gov. Luther H. Hodges as secretary of Commerce.

All three of them, like Bowles, were active Kennedy supporters during the campaign. Still Kennedy can't be accused of picking his key men to pay off political debts.

Kennedy said Monday he had never met Rusk until last week. And David Elliott Bell, a Harvard economist whom Kennedy named budget director, didn't take an active part in the campaign and hardly knew the president-elect.

Religion And The Law

By Raymond Moley

There are 450 cases on the docket of the Supreme Court in the current session, and, of these, 26 have a direct or indirect bearing on religion or religious freedom.

Five of these concern the constitutionality of state laws which prohibit business and commercial activities on Sunday — the so-called "blue laws" which are mostly distinguished by their violation other than their observance.

There has been constant conflict at the state level about these laws, and their status is so confused that the Supreme Court is going to attempt to determine their status.

There are also cases concerning the reading of the Bible in public schools and cases testing the constitutionality of laws requiring the observance of religious holidays such as Christmas and Easter in public schools.

CONNECTICUT has a law which will be tested. It forbids the distribution of information concerning contraceptives, the use of contraceptives and the prescription of contraceptive techniques by physicians. This will be very closely watched by the clergy of both Catholic and Protestant churches. On this subject, the Catholic church has a firm stand, and many Protestant clergymen are solidly and vigorously in opposition.

The new President will have an eye on this case, for it may well provide him with the greatest of all tests of the conscience of which he spoke in addressing the Houston ministers in the campaign. And an large part of the clergy will be closely watching him. This could be a most explosive issue in our foreign relations.

There is also a case which concerns one Roy P. Torcaso, who has been denied the right to serve as a notary public because he is a declared antheist.

The Hutterites are a religious group which believes in communal living and common ownership of all worldly possessions. The Montana courts have declared that this organization should be taxed as a corporation. The Hutterites have appealed on the ground that their possessions are religious property. The Supreme Court must decide.

OTHER CASES deal with the perennial conflict between public prudence and literary license. Books and plays of the Lady Chatterly sort will be made best sellers through judicial notice and the subsequent publicity.

If I am not in violation of the tradition of the press venturing an opinion on a subject which is res judicata, there is no way to prevent authors and publishers from getting such publicity other than to permit the mails and the book stores to be filled with demoralizing smut.

As the distinguished editor of the Richmond News Leader, James Jackson Kilpatrick, amply documents in his book, "The Smut Peddlers," the danger to public morals, especially juvenile morals, is very great because of printed matter much worse than D. H. Lawrence's famed book.

I heartily agree, incidentally, with Kilpatrick's opinion that, even aside from the question of dirt, "Lady Chatterly's Lover" is a very bad novel. Except for the smut, it would have died a quick death.

There must be law and regulations to prevent such corruption, and the courts are compelled to be the final arbiters.

Are G.I.'s Overpaid?

By Omer Anderson

FRANKFURT

Part of the American gold gap could be closed by reducing the pay of U. S. servicemen overseas—they are outrageously overpaid in relation to European scales.

This proposal is being advanced to U.S. Military Headquarters for Europe, at Heidelberg—and to the Pentagon—by Jakob Altmaier, a Social Democrat who represents the Hanau district in the West German Parliament.

Altmaier's Bundestag district has perhaps the highest concentration of American troops in Europe—and also one of the highest "serious incident" rates.

Altmaier has made a three-point proposal which he contends would not only ease the balance of payments but also improve U.S. troop-German civilian relations:

1. Compel single soldiers by military regulation to deposit half their monthly pay in the U.S.

2. Prohibit them from owning or operating an automobile on a regular basis.

3. Prohibit them from renting an apartment or a room.

"Money is the root of all evil—only more so among GI's in Germany," Altmaier asserted.

"American servicemen are paid more money than they need in Germany or should have for their own good, far too much by German standards."

Altmaier says the GI's invest their surplus pay in automobiles and housekeeping arrangements for "steady" German girl friends.

GI-driven cars are involved in a high percentage of German road accidents (Germany has the world's worst road carnage on a per-driver basis).

The Budestag deputy doesn't blame the GI's for Germany's road chaos but he says everybody would be better off if the GI's were taken off the road.

Altmaier is agitated, however, by the GI invasion of the German housing market.

Kennedy's Foreign Affairs Team

Now that President-elect Kennedy has announced his major appointments in the realm of foreign affairs, it is interesting to look at them from the perspective of the whole.

As Secretary of State he has chosen Dean Rusk, a scholar who has held jobs both in government and private endeavor that permitted him contact with a wide range of human activity dedicated to the betterment of man.

This is especially true of his nine-year tenure as head of the Rockefeller Foundation. It is worthy of note that when Mr. Rusk was previously on the State Department staff, his specialty was the Far East, one of the two critical regions of a world which the United States has a vital stake in saving for democracy.

AS AN UNDERSECRETARY of State, Mr. Kennedy has tapped Chester Bowles, another intellectual who has seen extensive service both in private enterprise and government. Included in his many government positions, both appointive and elective, was the ambassadorship to India. In that focal point of Far Eastern neutrality that has often proved aggravating to the West, Mr. Bowles gained an expert's knowledge and a diplomat's respect from the Indians.

As ambassador to the United Nations, Adlai Stevenson will be able to draw upon deep personal admiration of foreign representatives and a fine talent for articulate debate. With considerable private wealth and free time at his disposal, he has traveled widely in the world but has had closest connection with Latin America, an area of continuing concern to Washington.

Announced earlier was the appointment of G. Mennen Williams as assistant secretary of state for African affairs, the second critical region of today's world.

It also is interesting to note that Sen. John W. Fulbright, who figured in early speculation on the Secretary of State assignment, apparently will remain in the Senate. As chairman of that body's foreign relations committee, he may very well be as much a part of the administration's foreign policy team as any of the appointees.

VIEWED AS A WHOLE, the team appears to have been deliberately blocked out with special emphasis on those areas which Sen. Kennedy said throughout his campaign should be given special attention. Each member is considered to be strong in his special area of interest or experience. Each has a reputation for taking the intellectual approach to practical problems.

It can be assumed, then, that President-elect Kennedy intends to be the active coach of the team.

He repeatedly criticized President Eisenhower during the campaign for taking too passive a role in administrative policy-making and he particularly attacked the reign of the late John Foster Dulles over the nation's foreign policy.

Mr. Kennedy belongs to the strong-president school of political thought, believing the chief executive, as elected representative of the people, should initiate policy and push the presidential power prerogatives to the limit.

HIS FOREIGN AFFAIRS team apparently is designed to implement the policies which he himself will take a direct hand in laying down. His will be the practical job of making the decisions that will put the team's brain power to work.

It may be, as Mr. Kennedy said during his campaign, that this approach is what is needed to set aright those things that he found wrong with the United States' position in the world.

His constituents and his counterparts in other nations will be waiting to see if he is right.

That evening Kennedy offered Goldberg the post of secretary of labor. The lawyer did not want the job but told the President-elect he would take it if Kennedy asked and if George Meany approved.

Goldberg also pointed out that this meant the unprecedented appointment of two men of Jewish faith. But John Kennedy waved that issue aside.

The President-elect wanted a united labor front with which to deal. The split, it could be said, began with an off-the-record telephone call put in by the President-to-be to the president of the AFL-CIO shortly after Election Day.

Kennedy wanted personally to thank George Meany for the aide of the powerful machine labor had thrown into the campaign.

THE LABOR CHIEF said, in effect, it was gracious of the senator to call. Then he added, we're not going to press you for anything. We'll not demand any specific appointments. You know who our friends are. You know we trust you and have faith in you. You know our policies. We have worked together before. We know you have vast problems now, so we won't push and it is in your hands.

When word of this conversation seeped back into the rest of labor's high command, rumbling came from distant corners.

Walter Reuther protested. George Harrison, leader of the railway clerks and head of the labor committee of the Democratic party protested.

There were others. They said that they had faith in Jack Kennedy but how did they know that his judgment on their friends would coincide with theirs.

When Meany takes a stand, he makes Stonewall Jackson a man of tissue paper will power. Meany did not believe that a labor man should be appointed secretary of labor. Reuther and his group did. Meany did not want to give labor public responsibilities for other government appointments. Reuther and the others, especially those out of the old CIO, did.

MEANY did not want labor to take any position which would embarrass Kennedy by making it appear this would be a labor administration.

The AFL-CIO chief executive did not, for example, call a fall meeting of labor's high command so it would not appear that the AFL-CIO Executive Council was dictating policy to the President-elect who soon would be preparing the State of the Union address.

Then Meany agreed with Kennedy that they call off the Thanksgiving Eve conference with 10 labor leaders and Jack Kennedy. Neither leader wanted the labor factions to debate the matter with the President-elect.

Finally Meany decided to keep a long-standing commitment in Europe right at the height of Kennedy's policy-making and Cabinet-constructing moments. He left for some three weeks in Brussels.

Last Tuesday the Reuther group met at the Industrial Union Dept. Art Goldberg was there. Meany wasn't. Somebody said send him a telegram and tell him to come home.

All of Western Union couldn't change Meany's mind. He's not going to presure Kennedy regardless of the pressure the others put on the labor chief.

It's That Time Again

By Truman Twill

Time again for Christmas cards, which means time again for the yearly puzzlement about this holiday activity.

One year we bought letter paper with a holly wreath at the top and wrote Christmas letters to our friends. It took time, but it eliminated all the people who were on our Christmas card list only because we had received cards from them in some former year.

Many people write personal messages on their regular cards and in fact choose cards large enough to accommodate written messages. It is one of my jobs to write these when it's time for the cards.

The messages are meaningful, whether sent or received. They convey the thought that here it is, Christmas again, another year has vanished and once more thoughts are of old friends, faraway places and precious things that are no more.

With us, the messages go on to say, it has been a year pretty much like all years. There have been illnesses, disappointments, pleasures, triumphs, satisfactions and regrets. Some very old and very precious things have been lost, also some very new and very precious things.

Time has run on and left an aching void. Plans have been made and carried out after a fashion, and where no plans had been made things have shaped up of their own accord. The children are older. And of course they're doing very well, and where are those attractive babies of yours by this time? All married, with babies of their own. No doubt.

It has been a long time since we've seen each other, but we'll get together one of these days. Some things with us are different. We're older, but our hearts are still young and gay, cha-cha. And you two—you're still cutups, we betcha. Zing-a-ling-ling.

We still live in the same place and have the same routine. We often think about you and wonder how things are with you. Did Sambo ever get the better job he was hoping to get? And what happened to the trouble you were having with your skin the last time you wrote?

And your vacation last summer—how about it? Did you finally get to Europe, as you said you had been dreaming of doing for so long? As for us, we spent our vacation at home. European vacations never did appeal to us, and besides somebody has to hang around here to keep the chipmunks from taking over the place.

Maybe sometime we could take a vacation together. Make reservations at the same fishing camp. Get adjoining rooms at a summer resort. Book passage on a cruise together, except there's always the question of time. Jimbo's business is so pressing his boss can't spare him for very long. And now, what with things being tough all over and everybody doubleing up and all it couldn't be done anyway.

Anyway, it's Christmas again and we were thinking of you tonight, around the dining room table, with the Christmas cards all spread out and the address books, the telephone book, the stamps, envelopes and all. This is to wish yours and yours and yours and yours a merry, merry, merry, merry Christmas, Christmas, Christmas, Christmas, just like it says here on the card, except in your case it's for real, real, real, real, because you're among our oldest friends, friends, friends, and happy, happy, happy, New, New, New Year, Year, Year, Year . . .

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO—Through the efforts of Miss Evelyn Frederick, school nurse, and the cooperation of city firemen and others, 600 toys and dolls were offered by school pupils for distribution on Christmas Day.

Miss Alma Jones was installed as worthy matron of Crystal Chapter 8 Order of Eastern Star.

Robert Beatty, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Beatty of Thompson Ave., a student at Carnegie Institute of Technology, was pledged to Beta Theta Pi, national social fraternity.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Wellsville property owners were informthat their tax rate in 1941 would be cut from 27 to 23 mills.

The East End grade school football team, winner of 1940 grade school competition, was honored with a reception by the Horace Mann Home and School Association.

TEN YEARS AGO — Mrs. Janet O'Hara, co-owner of the East Liverpool China Co., and Miss Mary Ellen Martin, executive of Mary Patterson Memorial, were among those initiated into the Quota Club.

Fred Doutt was installed as worshipful master of Riddle Masonic Lodge 315.

New members of the East Liverpool Board of Health were Mrs. Esther McHenry, drugstore operator, and William F. Walker, bakery route driver.

John Alden, central figure in the famous story of "The Courtship of Miles Standish," was the youngest signer of the historical Mayflower Compact, and was also the last survivor of all who made the epic voyage to America in that ship.

Non-Controversial

By James Marlow

A Look At Kennedy's Cabinet Appointments

WASHINGTON

President-elect John F. Kennedy has gone about picking a Cabinet like a man determined to avoid a brawl before he has a chance to start his presidency.

None of his four Cabinet appointees so far is a controversial figure.

None therefore is likely to get much opposition or criticism from liberals or conservatives in the new Congress next year—at least in the beginning.

Kennedy filled the spot which could have caused the biggest rumpus with an adroit but nonspectacular figure; Dean Rusk, head of the Rockefeller Foundation, as secretary of State.

Rusk in the past held several government jobs—the highest as assistant secretary of State for Far Eastern affairs under President Truman—but handled himself unobtrusively. To the public he was generally unknown.

He had to be adroit to be on that Far Eastern desk in 1950 and come through unscarred when Sen. Joseph McCarthy was belaboring the State Department for its handling of Far Eastern affairs, particularly in China.

Rusk is esteemed for brains by people who know him. Since he's a quiet operator, he and Kennedy will have the advantage of starting out in foreign affairs with at least a period of peace and quiet.

He'll get his share of brickbats later, which is par for the course for secretaries of State.

The story would have been different if Kennedy had given the No. 1 foreign policy job to Adlai E. Stevenson, who is a hero to some.

The slot Kennedy picked for Stevenson — ambassador to the United Nations—can hardly cause a fire in Congress or elsewhere. In the United Nations Stevenson will not be making American foreign policy. He'll just be expressing.

Kennedy reportedly had considered several men for the job he finally gave Rusk: Stevenso Chester Bowles and Sen. Willia Fulbright, Arkansas Democra among others.

Apparently he did his greate soulsearching in the case Bowles. Monday, he gave Bowl the State Department's No. 2 j as undersecretary, which pu him at Rusk's right hand.

Bowles, a liberal, a Connectic congressman and former gove nor, had a fine record as amba sador to India under Truman a as administrator of the Office Price Administration during t war.

He was Kennedy's foreign poli advisor during the presidenti campaign. But his part in sha ing the liberal Democratic pla form far from endeared him some of the conservative me bers of his party.

There might have been so sharpshooting at him right fro the start if Kennedy had nam him secretary instead of the no controversial Rusk. As underse retary Bowles will be in a pos tion to move up if Rusk ev leaves.

None of Kennedy's other thr Cabinet appointees has been any broad public dispute and h no backlog of ill will to carry in his new job with him.

Those three are Connectic Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff as se retary of Health, Education a Welfare; Stewart L. Udall, Dem cratic congressman from Arizon as secretary of the Interior; a North Carolina Gov. Luther Hodges as secretary of Com merce.

All three of them, like Bowle were active Kennedy supporte during the campaign. Still Ke nedy can't be accused of pickin his key men to pay off politic debts.

Kennedy said Monday he ha never met Rusk until last wee And David Elliott Bell, a Harvar economist whom Kennedy name budget director, didn't take an a tive part in the campaign an hardly knew the president-elect.

Religion And The Law

By Raymond Moley

There are 450 cases on the docket of the Supreme Court in the current session, and, of these, 26 have a direct or indirect bearing on religion or religious freedom.

Five of these concern the constitutionality of state laws which prohibit business and commercial activities on Sunday — the so-called "blue laws" which are mostly distinguished by their violation other than their observance.

There has been constant conflict at the state level about these laws, and their status is so confused that the Supreme Court is going to attempt to determine their status.

There are also cases concerning the reading of the Bible in public schools and cases testing the constitutionality of laws requiring the observance of religious holidays such as Christmas and Easter in public schools.

CONNECTICUT has a law which will be tested. It forbids the distribution of information concerning contraceptives, the use of contraceptives and the prescription of contraceptive techniques by physicians. This will be very closely watched by the clergy of both Catholic and Protestant churches. On this subject, the Catholic church has a firm stand, and many Protestant clergymen are solidly and vigorously in opposition.

The new President will have an eye on this case, for it may well provide him with the greatest of all tests of the conscience of which he spoke in addressing the Houston ministers in the campaign. And an large part of the clergy will be closely watching him. This could be a most explosive issue in our foreign relations.

There is also a case which concerns one Roy P. Torcaso, who has been denied the right to serv as a notary public because he is declared antheist.

The Hutterites are a religiou group which believes in communa living and common ownership o all worldly possessions. The Mon tana courts have declared that thi organization should be taxed as corporation. The Hutterites have appealed on the ground that their possessions are religious property. The Supreme Court must decide.

OTHER CASES deal with the perennial conflict between public prudence and literary license. Books and plays of the Lady Chatterly sort will be made best sellers through judicial notice and the subsequent publicity.

If I am not in violation of the tradition of the press venturing an opinion on a subject which is res judicata, there is no way to prevent authors and publishers from getting such publicity other than to permit the mails and the book stores to be filled with demoralizing smut.

As the distinguished editor of the Richmond News Leader, James Jackson Kilpatrick, amply documents in his book, "The Smut Peddlers," the danger to public morals, especially juvenile morals, is very great because of printed matter much worse than D. H. Lawrence's famed book.

I heartily agree, incidentally, with Kilpatrick's opinion that, even aside from the question of dirt, "Lady Chatterly's Lover" is a very bad novel. Except for the smut, it would have died a quick death.

There must be law and regulations to prevent such corruption, and the courts are compelled to be the final arbiters.

Are G.I.'s Overpaid?

By Omer Anderson

FRANKFURT

Part of the American gold gap could be closed by reducing the pay of U. S. servicemen overseas—they are outrageously overpaid in relation to European scales.

This proposal is being advanced to U.S. Military Headquarters for Europe, at Heidelberg—and to the Pentagon—by Jakob Altmaier, a Social Democrat who represents the Hanau district in the West German Parliament.

Altmaier's Bundestag district has perhaps the highest concentration of American troops in Europe—and also one of the highest "serious incident" rates.

Altmaier has made a three-point proposal which he contends would not only ease the balance of payments but also improve U.S. troop-German civilian relations:

1. Compel single soldiers by military regulation to deposit half their monthly pay in the U.S.

2. Prohibit them from owning or operating an automobile on a regular basis.

3. Prohibit them from renting an apartment or a room.

"Money is the root of all evil—only more so among GI's in Germany," Altmaier asserted.

"American servicemen are paid more money than they need in Germany or should have for their own good, far too much by German standards."

Altmaier says the GI's invest their surplus pay in automobiles and housekeeping arrangements for "steady" German girl friends.

GI-driven cars are involved in a high percentage of German road accidents (Germany has the world's worst road carnage on a per-driver basis).

The Budestag deputy doesn't blame the GI's for Germany's road chaos but he says everybody would be better off if the GI's were taken off the road.

Altmaier is agitated, however, by the GI invasion of the German housing market.

Duties Assigned In Midland Board

James Morrison, new president of the Midland Board of Education, appointed committees for next year including a new educational committee Monday night.

The new group will be headed by John Shovlin, vice president, and includes Leslie B. Roach and Maurice Newman.

It will make recommendations to Supt. Ralph Jewell and to the board concerning education. It will meet from time to time with the superintendent, principals, teachers and the board.

OTHER COMMITTEES, with chairman first, include: finance—Newman, Roach and Shovlin; property — Edward Cilli, John Uccellini and Newman; athletic — Uccellini, Cilli and Frank Aloi. personnel — Roach, Aloi and Shovlin, and playground — Aloi, Uccellini and Cilli.

Tuition rates for next year were approved at $45.03 for elementary and $51.47 for secondary. They were $39.31 for elementary and $46.65 for secondary the past year.

The board approved the annual insurance premium due each Dec. 17 for coverage on all buildings and equipment in the amount of $3,231.84. The premium is paid over a period of five years.

—:—

MISS BERNICE Coffin, secretary, said the insurance company will make a study of possible deductions and inform the board of any rate change and rebate.

The board approved Saturday morning basketball classes, which started last Saturday, for 10 weeks.

Use of the old gymnasium by the Presentation Parochial School for basketball games also was approved. The request was made by Fr. John B. Corbett, assistant pastor of the Presentation Catholic Church. There will be a fee for games but none for practice.

Samuel Rosatone, maintenance supervisor, reported leaks in the roof over the front of the high school auditorium and one also at 7th St. School. Supt. Jewell said the repairs will be included in next year's budget.

ROSATONE ALSO reported that the fan room is flooded when a pump, on occasions, shuts off. A study will be made to see if equipment should be replaced or a drain installed. Playground equipment was reported stored.

Cilli, property chairman, reported termite exterminators are through with their work at the high school and library and will make a check in six months. Replacement of costly door frames destroyed by the pests will be included in the new budget.

General bills in the amount of $8,774 were ordered paid along with a book list in the amount of $174.09, requested by the Carnegie Library Board of Trustees. Interim orders placed in the last month by Supt. Jewell in the amount of $582.18 were approved.

CASH RECEIPTS totaling $495.44 were approved for the proper account. Mrs. Eldamae Castelli, treasurer, reported $76,670.93 as the balance of accounts Nov. 30.

Rudolph Presutti, tax collector, reported $3,014.96 in taxes deposited in November, leaving a balance of $17,554.64 on the tax duplicate of $514,537.06.

The board gave Supt. Jewell permission to sell two old harness looms that may be used for weaving. He also was given permission to obtain a speaker for commencement next year.

Sliding Truck Damages Pole

A truck which skidded as it ascended the Walnut St. grade toward St. Clair Ave. Monday afternoon damaged a utility pole owned by the Ohio Power Co., police reported. A skid also was blamed for a two-car crash this morning on Dresden Ave.

The pole was struck about 12:35 p. m. yesterday by a 1956 model truck owned by Commercial Motor Freight Co. of Columbus and operated by Frank Gardner, 30, of Box 208, East Liverpool, police said. There was no damage to the truck.

Gardner told police he was headed upgrade on Walnut St. to turn onto St. Clair Ave. when the truck began to slide backward and hit the pole.

The mishap this morning at 8:01 on Dresden Ave. at Webber Way damaged a 1951 two-door sedan operated by Denton E. Curtis, 43, of Glenn St., Glenmoor, and a 1958 model station wagon operated by Bernard H. Quinlan, 41, of the Cannons Mills Rd.

Curtis halted for a vehicle which was turning onto Smith St. and his car was hit from the rear by the Quinlan auto. The grill, right front fender and hood of the Quinlan auto were damaged, police said. There was no damage to the Curtis auto.

Herter In Brussels For Pre-Wedding Rites

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter flew into Brussels today to represent President Eisenhower at the pre-wedding ceremonies of King Baudouin.

The king, 30, weds Dona Fabiola de Mora y Aragon of Spain Thursday.

The secretary will leave the Belgian capital Wednesday to attend the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministers meeting in Paris.

Herter's plane was delayed more than 12 hours in leaving Washington because of a snowstorm.

When the secretary moves on to Paris, he will leave Wiley Buchanan, State Department protocol officer, in Brussels as Eisenhower's personal representative at the wedding.

Picks Cheapest Brick

CINCINNATI (AP) — With a group of Parent-Teacher Association guests at the meeting Monday, President Stanley McKie of the Cincinnati school board invited them to decide which of five types of brick to use for the new Winton Terrace School. After they selected the kind they thought looked best, McKie noted with pleasure it was also the cheapest of the five.

Steelworkers To Hold Party For Children

Some 2,500 children are expected to attend the annual Christmas party of Local 1212, United Steelworkers Union, Dec. 22 at 2:30 p. m. in the Midland steelworkers Hall.

Santa Claus will be on hand to greet youngsters. Treats will be passed out by union committeemen. There will be cartoons and Christmas movies.

Special guests will include Kay Kluz, acting director of United Steelworkers District 20, the Rev. J. M. Marbrey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Fr. Francis E. Paul, pastor of the Presentation Catholic Church, and Fr. Milorad Dobrota, pastor of the St. George Serbian Orthodox Church.

Also during the week before Christmas, officers and members of the union will take gifts to the Beaver County Children's Home at New Brighton and the Beaver County Home on Dutch Ridge Rd., Beaver. Members who are patients at City Hospital and Rochester General also will be visited.

The local's regular membership meeting will be Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Pershing Missile Again Launched Successfully

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Army has scored a second straight launch success with a two-stage model of its Pershing tactical missile.

The 34-foot solid-fuel rocket roared away from this test center Monday and propelled a simulated warhead about 140 miles down range. Brig. Gen. Richard M. Hurst, commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, termed the flight a complete success.

The Army and the Martin Co. are developing the missile as a mobile field weapon with a nuclear range of 50 to 700 miles.

Gardner told police he was headed upgrade on Walnut St. to turn onto St. Clair Ave. when the truck began to slide backward and hit the pole.

The mishap this morning at 8:01 on Dresden Ave. at Webber Way damaged a 1951 two-door sedan operated by Denton E. Curtis, 43, of Glenn St., Glenmoor, and a 1958 model station wagon operated by Bernard H. Quinlan, 41, of the Cannons Mills Rd.

Curtis halted for a vehicle which was turning onto Smith St. and his car was hit from the rear by the Quinlan auto. The grill, right front fender and hood of the Quinlan auto were damaged, police said. There was no damage to the Curtis auto.

Herter In Brussels For Pre-Wedding Rites

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter flew into Brussels today to represent President Eisenhower at the pre-wedding ceremonies of King Baudouin.

The king, 30, weds Dona Fabiola de Mora y Aragon of Spain Thursday.

The secretary will leave the Belgian capital Wednesday to attend the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministers meeting in Paris.

Herter's plane was delayed more than 12 hours in leaving Washington because of a snowstorm.

When the secretary moves on to Paris, he will leave Wiley Buchanan, State Department protocol officer, in Brussels as Eisenhower's personal representative at the wedding.

Picks Cheapest Brick

CINCINNATI (AP) — With a group of Parent-Teacher Association guests at the meeting Monday, President Stanley McKie of the Cincinnati school board invited them to decide which of five types of brick to use for the new Winton Terrace School. After they selected the kind they thought looked best, McKie noted with pleasure it was also the cheapest of the five.

Steelworkers To Hold Party For Children

Some 2,500 children are expected to attend the annual Christmas party of Local 1212, United Steelworkers Union, Dec. 22 at 2:30 p. m. in the Midland steelworkers Hall.

Santa Claus will be on hand to greet youngsters. Treats will be passed out by union committeemen. There will be cartoons and Christmas movies.

Special guests will include Kay Kluz, acting director of United Steelworkers District 20, the Rev. J. M. Marbrey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Fr. Francis E. Paul, pastor of the Presentation Catholic Church, and Fr. Milorad Dobrota, pastor of the St. George Serbian Orthodox Church.

Also during the week before Christmas, officers and members of the union will take gifts to the Beaver County Children's Home at New Brighton and the Beaver County Home on Dutch Ridge Rd., Beaver. Members who are patients at City Hospital and Rochester General also will be visited.

The local's regular membership meeting will be Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Pershing Missile Again Launched Successfully

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Army has scored a second straight launch success with a two-stage model of its Pershing tactical missile.

The 34-foot solid-fuel rocket roared away from this test center Monday and propelled a simulated warhead about 140 miles down range. Brig. Gen. Richard M. Hurst, commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, termed the flight a complete success.

The Army and the Martin Co. are developing the missile as a mobile field weapon with a nuclear range of 50 to 700 miles.

Will Recall 200

CLEVELAND (AP)—Some 200 workers will be recalled by the White Motor Co. next month when it begins production on a new line of "compact" trucks and tractors. This was announced Monday by President J. N. Bauman, who said truck production schedules will be increased by 12 to 20 per cent. The company's present work force is between 3,100 and 3,200.

Serves With Fleet

LISBON — Pfc. Dale E. Brown, 210 Washington St., is serving with the landing force of the 6th Fleet operating from ships in the Mediterranean. He is a member of the 2nd Marine Division from Camp Lejeune, N. C., and will be in the Mediterranean area six months.

Pontiac trims side overhang to give you a new Wide-Track...greater stability

Notice that the sleek lines of the body are closer than ever to track width. We've trimmed side overhang. Every inch and ounce of this '61 Pontiac travels with steadier footing.

The change is also noticeable inside. We've increased seat height and allowed more headroom, legroom and footroom.

Clearance between steering wheel and seat is 12 per cent more than before. Doors are wider, swing open farther.

More balanced in motion. More comfortable inside. That's the Wide-Track way to travel. And there's only one place to try it . . . in a '61 Pontiac! Take a deciding drive soon.

THE ONLY WIDE-TRACK CAR!
Pontiac has the widest track of any car. Body width trimmed to reduce side overhang. More weight balanced between the wheels for sure-footed driving stability.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove scorch stains from a white shirt?

A. Scorch marks are not, strictly speaking, stains. They're burns. If not too serious and is treated in time, it may be removable. Sponge with a cloth dipped in peroxide, and then iron again. Or, cover with a cloth dipped in peroxide, put a dry cloth on top, and then iron again.

Q. How can I remove some grease spots from wallpaper?

A. Make a paste of cornstarch and water, let remain until dry, then brush off. If this doesn't work try a paste of fuller's earth and carbon tetrachloride, and use in the same manner.

Q. How can I prevent cream from curdling when poured over acid berries or fruits?

A. By mixing a small pinch of baking soda with the cream before serving.

Yule In Scotland Is Described For Wellsville DAR

Christmas in Scotland was described by Mrs. Carrie Sanko at the dinner meeting of the Bethia Southwick Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution Friday night at Piatt's Tea Room in Wellsville.

She told of the Yule season in Edinburgh, where she resided for three years while her husband, the Rev. James Sanko, pastor of the Riverside United Presbyterian Church, pursued graduate work at the New College Faculty of Divinity.

Mrs. Ford S. Ball, regent, conducted the DAR ritual and business. Mrs. Betty Little of Canfield, an out-of-town member, served as acting chaplain, reading the Christmas story from St. Luke. The flag salute and the national anthem followed.

Mrs. Helen Wilson read Christmas greetings from out-of-town members and Mrs. Alma Jones Spiker, a recent bride planning to reside in Morgantown, W. Va., was presented a gift. Mrs. Robert Faulk, DAR Schools chairman, reported a box of clothing sent to a school at Tamassee, S. C. Toledo Teachers Due Pay Hikes Up To $936

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Teachers in Toledo's schools will receive pay raises of up to $936 a year on Jan. 1.

The board of education approved a new salary schedule Monday night which raised the starting salary for teachers with a bachelor's degree from $4,160 to $4,600 a year and increased the top salary from $6,656 to $7,400.

Teachers with master's degrees will have a top of $7,800 a year, compared to the present $6,864.

Philo Dunsmore, superintendent, said Toledo teachers will have "one of the best salary schedules for big cities in the state of Ohio."

The wage increase was financed by a 3-mill levy approved by voters in November.

David Brookman Heads Wellsville School Group

David Brookman has been named chairman of the Constitution commitete of the National Honor Society of Wellsville High School.

The committee, which will either approve or revise the present constitution, includes Portia Wolski and Keith Tipton. Charla Grindle has been appointed publicity chairman.

Mrs. Alex Fisher will screen slides of her visit to Israel at the next meeting Jan. 17 in Lisbon.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove scorch stains from a white shirt?

A. Scorch marks are not, strictly speaking, stains. They're burns. If not too serious and is treated in time, it may be removable. Sponge with a cloth dipped in peroxide, and then iron again. Or, cover with a cloth dipped in peroxide, put a dry cloth on top, and then iron again.

Q. How can I remove some grease spots from wallpaper?

A. Make a paste of cornstarch and water, let remain until dry, then brush off. If this doesn't work try a paste of fuller's earth and carbon tetrachloride, and use in the same manner.

Q. How can I prevent cream from curdling when poured over acid berries or fruits?

A. By mixing a small pinch of baking soda with the cream before serving.

Yule In Scotland Is Described For Wellsville DAR

Christmas in Scotland was described by Mrs. Carrie Sanko at the dinner meeting of the Bethia Southwick Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution Friday night at Piatt's Tea Room in Wellsville.

She told of the Yule season in Edinburgh, where she resided for three years while her husband, the Rev. James Sanko, pastor of the Riverside United Presbyterian Church, pursued graduate work at the New College Faculty of Divinity.

Mrs. Ford S. Ball, regent, conducted the DAR ritual and business. Mrs. Betty Little of Canfield, an out-of-town member, served as acting chaplain, reading the Christmas story from St. Luke. The flag salute and the national anthem followed.

Mrs. Helen Wilson read Christmas greetings from out-of-town members and Mrs. Alma Jones Spiker, a recent bride planning to reside in Morgantown, W. Va., was presented a gift. Mrs. Robert Faulk, DAR Schools chairman, reported a box of clothing sent to a school at Tamassee, S. C. A $10 contribution will be sent to Mrs. Marshall Francis, state registrar, for the rebinding of membership application books at Washington. A gift exchange was held.

The next meeting will be Jan. 13 at the home of Mrs. Donald Wolfe on Ambrose Ave., East Liverpool.

Chester Students Plan For Christmas Dance

Plans were made for a Christmas dance at Chester High School when the Student Council met Monday.

The dance will be held Friday night, Dec. 23, with Bob Hall's orchestra of East Liverpool furnishing the music. A highlight will be the crowning of "Miss Snowflake."

Ed Jordan presided. The next meeting will be Jan. 9.

City's Jewish Groups Will Mark Hanukkah

Hanukkah, the eight-day Festival of Lights, will begin at sundown tonight in Jewish homes and synagogues of the city. The event symbolizes the fight for religious freedom throughout the ages.

The eight-candles menorah signifies the rededication of faith, freedom, courage, love, integrity, knowledge and peace.

Services at the B'nai Israel Synagogue will be held tonight at 8:30 with Rabbi Henry Lieberman, spiritual leader, in charge. Other services will be held Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 11 a. m., which will feature a candle lighting ceremony.

At the B'nai Israel Temple, services will be held Friday at 8 p.m. with student Rabbi Arnold Fink in charge.

Toledo Teachers Due Pay Hikes Up To $936

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Teachers in Toledo's schools will receive pay raises of up to $936 a year on Jan. 1.

The board of education approved a new salary schedule Monday night which raised the starting salary for teachers with a bachelor's degree from $4,160 to $4,600 a year and increased the top salary from $6,656 to $7,400.

Teachers with master's degrees will have a top of $7,800 a year, compared to the present $6,864.

Philo Dunsmore, superintendent, said Toledo teachers will have "one of the best salary schedules for big cities in the state of Ohio."

The wage increase was financed by a 3-mill levy approved by voters in November.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: PLEASE, PLEASE, PLEASE help us women whose husbands have no consideration for the work they bring us during hunting season.

My husband loves to hunt—anything. I don't mind being left behind because he enjoys it so. I worry a little, as all hunt widows do, but I never let him know. The thing that burns me up is that he brings home the birds for me to clean.

He says when a husband shoots 'em the wife is supposed to clean 'em. I say it's unfair. If a man enjoys the sport he should do the dirty work connected with it. What do you say? — FEATHERS FLYING.

Dear Feathers: I agree with you that husbands should not bring home birds for the little woman to clean—and this goes for fish, too. A wife does her part by letting her husband enjoy his sport without complaint. She shouldn't have to be a cotton pickin' pheasant plucker, too.

Code For Teachers

Dear Ann: Are teachers supposed to honor a code of professional ethics? I always thought teachers were expected to preserve confidences just as doctors, lawyers and clergymen do.

A certain teacher was in a social group the other evening and someone asked how So-and-So's son was doing in her class. I was shocked and disappointed when the teacher gave a full 5-minute report on the boy's stupidity, his laziness and inability to get along with others. The boy's parents heard of this the next day and they were furious.

Do you feel this was a breach of professional ethics, or am I mistaken?—A.F.R.

Dear A.F.R.: You are not mistaken. No professional person should use his patients, clients, parishioners or students as subjects for social conversation. The teacher's poor judgment reflected on her profession and if she repeats this sort of performance, someone should tell her off.

Spoiled Daughter

Dear Ann: I'm afraid my husband is ruining our teen-age daughter. Please print this letter. I can't have it coming to the house.

Is it right for a 16-year-old to sit on her father's lap every night for hours and watch TV? Is it right for them to kiss on the lips, several times during an evening?

She has no interest in boys her own age. I've heard her turn down perfectly nice fellows so she can go riding with her father, or just stay at home and be with him. They go off together every Saturday afternoon, for shopping, sightseeing or to a movie. Her father labels every boy who comes to the house a "jerk" a "squirt" or "a dummy."

When she was a young child her father doted on her, which was all right. I thought this attachment would be outgrown when she became dating age but I was wrong. What can be done?—NO NAME.

Dear No Name: Run—don't walk to your family doctor and get the name of a specialist whose field is sick personalities.

Tell your husband he must talk this situation over with a professional for the sake of his daughter's future happiness.

He may be entirely unaware of the damage he has done already. If she's 16 and this has been going on since early childhood. She'll probably need therapy too, in order to gain the perspective she'll need to make a successful marriage.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Judge Voids Assault 'Pay'

LISBON — Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp Monday afternoon vacated a signed agreement in a personal injury suit stemming from an assault and battery case filed by Mrs. Betty Peters of Salem against Jerald Franks, now working in Cleveland.

Mrs. Peters Saturday signed the agreement to drop the suit against Franks for $100 but the judge ordered her to return the $100 and decreed judgment of $1,000 against Franks after hearing the testimony of Mrs. Peters. Franks was not at the hearing.

Judge Sharp said the $100 agreement was signed because the plaintiff "was in fear" and he reprimanded Mrs. Zora Franks of Salem, mother of the defendant, for getting her to sign the agreement without Mrs. Peter's attorney being present.

Mrs. Peters also failed to appear for the hearing yesterday but Judge Sharp ordered the sheriff's office to bring her in. She then waived a jury trial and the case was heard by Judge Sharp.

Franks formerly of Salem, is married to Mrs. Peter's sister. He assaulted Mrs. Peters in May 1959 when he arrived at her home in an intoxicated condition. He was found guilty of the criminal charge of assault in Salem mayor's court later.

Mrs. Peters in her suit claimed injuries from being hit in the face and thrown violently to the floor by Franks.

Judge Arranges Pre-Trial Talks In Damage Suits

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Judge Ward Yager plans a pre-trial conference in Boone Circuit Court Jan. 23 with attorneys in the 17 damage suits arising from an explosion at Greater Cincinnati Airport.

The damage suits total over $1 million.

Judge Yager Monday dismissed, with prejudice, a suit for $300,000, plus $745 funeral expenses, filed against Frank Messer & Sons Inc., The Stevens Co., Bertke Electric Co. and Union Light, Heat & Power Co.

The suit had been filed by Mrs. Helene F. Paul, administratrix of the estate of John W. Paul who was killed in the blast in August 1959.

Mrs. Paul won a judgment of $125,000 last month in U.S. District Court, Covington, against E. J. Nolan Co., the firm which installed boilers at the airport.

The explosion occurred in a section of new construction at the airport.

City Man's Car Hit In Accident At Lisbon

A door of the 1954 Packard of Herbert Combs, 1028 Ephriam St., was damaged in one of two accidents at Lisbon Monday afternoon.

Police said Combs opened the door and it was struck by a coal truck driven by Judy Tullis of Rogers.

In the other mishap, Jerry Boyer reported his car was struck by a hit-skip driver who passed him on W. Lincoln Way, damaging the left front fender.

Combs' mishap occurred in front of the County Court office on W. Lincoln Way, where he is employed.

Circle Meets On Thursday

The Quilting Circle of the Bethel Methodist Church will convene Thursday at the home of Mrs. Howard Glenn of Georgetown R. D. 1 for an all-day meeting, luncheon and Christmas party. There will be a gift exchange and program.

Mrs. Walter Reed and son, Gary, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reed of Lancaster, Pa.

Ten attended a meeting and Christmas party of the Missionary Society of the Mill Creek Church Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Leonard Scott on Route 1.

A box of toys was packed to be sent to a mission in Kentucky. Roll call was answered with Bible verses beginning with the letter "L" from the Psalms.

Secret pals were revealed and gifts exchanged. Devotions were led by Mrs. Catharine Woodling, who read the Christmas story from St. Luke, second chapter.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lewis Lyon. At the next meeting Jan. 11, Mrs. Norman Woodling of Hookstown R.D. 1 will be hostess.

A family party to observe the first birthday anniversary of Cheryl Ann Laughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Laughlin of Georgetown R.D. 1, was held Saturday night at her home.

Twelve attended, including Mr. and Mrs. William Devitt of Burgettstown, maternal grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Laughlin of Georgetown, paternal grandparents; three aunts, Miss Helen Devitt, Miss Joyce Devitt and Miss Jane Devitt, and also Miss Carol Harper, all of Burgettstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Calhoon of Parma, Ohio, visited his mother, Mrs. Thomas Calhoon, Sunday.

Discoverer XVIII Was Subjected To Less Radiation

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Air Force scientists said Monday that Discoverer XVIII satellite's nose cone was subjected to far less radiation than was that of Discoverer XVII during a similar flight through space.

The earlier satellite flew through much heavier radiation than last week's vehicle because a solar flare of near-record size occurred seven hours before the November firing, Dr. George Crawford, a nuclear physicist at the School of Aviation Medicine here, said.

The gold-plated capsule from Discoverer XVIII, which was opened Monday, did not receive enough radiation on its 48 trips around the world to register on the detectors called needle dosimeters, he said.

Detailed reports on the exact amount of radiation and its effect on seven types of human tissue, bread mold, bacterial spores, algae and other specimens in the capsule, are expected within two weeks.

The capsule was flown here from California after being recovered by an Air Force C119 over the Pacific.

To Get Pay Hikes

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati teachers are to get pay raises of $225 to $450 yearly, and the salaries of administrative and supervisory personnel will go up $500, under action by the school board Monday. Teacher pay under the new schedule will range from $4,600 to $7,300 yearly for those with a bachelor's degree. Those with a master's degree will get $500 more.

Elkton WSCS Sets Meeting

The WSCS of the Elkton Methodist Church will meet Wednesday noon at the Lisbon Methodist Church parsonage for a coverdish dinner.

A public Christmas program will be held at the Elkton church Sunday night at 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Crawford were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Crawford of Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dickey attended an ice show at Canton Sunday.

Mrs. Myron McCammon of the West Point Rd. entertained her club associates Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Harrold visited Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Briggs of Steubenville.

Mrs. Walter Eells was hostess to a family dinner Friday in honor of her granddaughter, Mrs. Ernest Williams of Lisbon, who is moving to Page, Ariz.

Marion City Council Increases Income Tax

MARION, Ohio (AP)—The Marion City Council Monday night approved legislation renewing the city income tax but increasing the rate from six-tenths of one per cent to seven-tenths of one per cent effective next Jan. 1.

The tax is expected to bring in $585,000 annually into the city treasury, with the increase in rate expected to add about $105,000 to the total. The council said the added money is needed for salaries of additional firemen as well as a building inspection program and street projects.

West Virginia's 8 Electoral Votes Due For Kennedy

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia's eight electorial votes will be cast officially for President-elect John F. Kennedy in Gov. Underwood's office next Monday.

The eight electors will sign six separate certificates of their votes for president and vice president. One copy will go to the president of the U.S. Senate, two to Secretary of State Joe F. Burdett, two to the General Services Administration and one to Federal Judge John A. Field Jr.

The electors, all Democrats, include Mrs. Arminta Justice of Huntington, Mrs. Philip Woolwine of South Charleston, E. A. McDonald of Logan, A. D. Peters of Charles Town, Rolla Johnson Sr. of Parkersburg, Richard Wright of Chester, Andrew Edmiston of Weston and Samuel Solins of Welch.

They were selected at the Democratic State Convention last summer.

Re-Examination Urged Of Loan, Grants Plan

DETROIT (AP)—A "rigorous re-examination of our entire foreign loan and grants program," was urged Monday by Harold Boeschenstein, president of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

Boeschenstein told the Economic Club of Detroit that the "United States should not countenance any arrangements in the European Common Market or European Free Trade Areas which would, in effect, add to discrimination against American goods."

He said a general program should be drawn up which would strengthen this nation's free market economy, promote world trade and contribute to collective security in order to maintain a strong domestic and international financial system.

Is it right for a 16-year-old to sit on her father's lap every night for hours and watch TV? Is it right for them to kiss on the lips, several times during an evening?

She has no interest in boys her own age. I've heard her turn down perfectly nice fellows so she can go riding with her father, or just stay at home and be with him. They go off together every Saturday afternoon, for shopping, sightseeing or to a movie. Her father labels every boy who comes to the house a "jerk" a "squirt" or "a dummy."

When she was a young child her father doted on her, which was all right. I thought this attachment would be outgrown when she became dating age but I was wrong. What can be done?—NO NAME.

Dear No Name: Run—don't walk to your family doctor and get the name of a specialist whose field is sick personalities.

Tell your husband he must talk this situation over with a professional for the sake of his daughter's future happiness.

He may be entirely unaware of the damage he has done already. If she's 16 and this has been going on since early childhood. She'll probably need therapy too, in order to gain the perspective she'll need to make a successful marriage.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Judge Voids Assault 'Pay'

LISBON — Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp Monday afternoon vacated a signed agreement in a personal injury suit stemming from an assault and battery case filed by Mrs. Betty Peters of Salem against Jerald Franks, now working in Cleveland.

Mrs. Peters Saturday signed the agreement to drop the suit against Franks for $100 but the judge ordered her to return the $100 and decreed judgment of $1,000 against Franks after hearing the testimony of Mrs. Peters. Franks was not at the hearing.

Judge Sharp said the $100 agreement was signed because the plaintiff "was in fear" and he reprimanded Mrs. Zora Franks of Salem, mother of the defendant, for getting her to sign the agreement without Mrs. Peter's attorney being present.

Mrs. Peters also failed to appear for the hearing yesterday but Judge Sharp ordered the sheriff's office to bring her in. She then waived a jury trial and the case was heard by Judge Sharp.

Franks formerly of Salem, is married to Mrs. Peter's sister. He assaulted Mrs. Peters in May 1959 when he arrived at her home in an intoxicated condition. He was found guilty of the criminal charge of assault in Salem mayor's court later.

Mrs. Peters in her suit claimed injuries from being hit in the face and thrown violently to the floor by Franks.

Judge Arranges Pre-Trial Talks In Damage Suits

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Judge Ward Yager plans a pre-trial conference in Boone Circuit Court Jan. 23 with attorneys in the 17 damage suits arising from an explosion at Greater Cincinnati Airport.

The damage suits total over $1 million.

Judge Yager Monday dismissed, with prejudice, a suit for $300,000, plus $745 funeral expenses, filed against Frank Messer & Sons Inc., The Stevens Co., Bertke Electric Co. and Union Light, Heat & Power Co.

The suit had been filed by Mrs. Helene F. Paul, administratrix of the estate of John W. Paul who was killed in the blast in August 1959.

Mrs. Paul won a judgment of $125,000 last month in U.S. District Court, Covington, against E. J. Nolan Co., the firm which installed boilers at the airport.

The explosion occurred in a section of new construction at the airport.

City Man's Car Hit In Accident At Lisbon

A door of the 1954 Packard of Herbert Combs, 1028 Ephriam St., was damaged in one of two accidents at Lisbon Monday afternoon.

Police said Combs opened the door and it was struck by a coal truck driven by Judy Tullis of Rogers.

In the other mishap, Jerry Boyer reported his car was struck by a hit-skip driver who passed him on W. Lincoln Way, damaging the left front fender.

Combs' mishap occurred in front of the County Court office on W. Lincoln Way, where he is employed.

ROME (AP)—Italian film director Roberto Rossellini flew to Paris today for work on a new film. On the same plane was Sonali Das Gupta, the Indian scriptwriter who was linked with his name while he still was the husband of Ingrid Bergman.

Circle Meets On Thursday

The Quilting Circle of the Bethel Methodist Church will convene Thursday at the home of Mrs. Howard Glenn of Georgetown R. D. 1 for an all-day meeting, luncheon and Christmas party. There will be a gift exchange and program.

Mrs. Walter Reed and son, Gary, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reed of Lancaster, Pa.

Ten attended a meeting and Christmas party of the Missionary Society of the Mill Creek Church Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Leonard Scott on Route 1.

A box of toys was packed to be sent to a mission in Kentucky. Roll call was answered with Bible verses beginning with the letter "L" from the Psalms.

Secret pals were revealed and gifts exchanged. Devotions were led by Mrs. Catharine Woodling, who read the Christmas story from St. Luke, second chapter.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lewis Lyon. At the next meeting Jan. 11, Mrs. Norman Woodling of Hookstown R.D. 1 will be hostess.

A family party to observe the first birthday anniversary of Cheryl Ann Laughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Laughlin of Georgetown R.D. 1, was held Saturday night at her home.

Twelve attended, including Mr. and Mrs. William Devitt of Burgettstown, maternal grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Laughlin of Georgetown, paternal grandparents; three aunts, Miss Helen Devitt, Miss Joyce Devitt and Miss Jane Devitt, and also Miss Carol Harper, all of Burgettstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Calhoon of Parma, Ohio, visited his mother, Mrs. Thomas Calhoon, Sunday.

Discoverer XVIII Was Subjected To Less Radiation

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Air Force scientists said Monday that Discoverer XVIII satellite's nose cone was subjected to far less radiation than was that of Discoverer XVII during a similar flight through space.

The earlier satellite flew through much heavier radiation than last week's vehicle because a solar flare of near-record size occurred seven hours before the November firing, Dr. George Crawford, a nuclear physicist at the School of Aviation Medicine here, said.

The gold-plated capsule from Discoverer XVIII, which was opened Monday, did not receive enough radiation on its 48 trips around the world to register on the detectors called needle dosimeters, he said.

Detailed reports on the exact amount of radiation and its effect on seven types of human tissue, bread mold, bacterial spores, algae and other specimens in the capsule, are expected within two weeks.

The capsule was flown here from California after being recovered by an Air Force C119 over the Pacific.

To Get Pay Hikes

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati teachers are to get pay raises of $225 to $450 yearly, and the salaries of administrative and supervisory personnel will go up $500, under action by the school board Monday. Teacher pay under the new schedule will range from $4,600 to $7,300 yearly for those with a bachelor's degree. Those with a master's degree will get $500 more.

Elkton WSCS Sets Meeting

The WSCS of the Elkton Methodist Church will meet Wednesday noon at the Lisbon Methodist Church parsonage for a coverdish dinner.

A public Christmas program will be held at the Elkton church Sunday night at 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Crawford were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Crawford of Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dickey attended an ice show at Canton Sunday.

Mrs. Myron McCammon of the West Point Rd. entertained her club associates Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Harrold visited Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Briggs of Steubenville.

Mrs. Walter Eells was hostess to a family dinner Friday in honor of her granddaughter, Mrs. Ernest Williams of Lisbon, who is moving to Page, Ariz.

Marion City Council Increases Income Tax

MARION, Ohio (AP)—The Marion City Council Monday night approved legislation renewing the city income tax but increasing the rate from six-tenths of one per cent to seven-tenths of one per cent effective next Jan. 1.

The tax is expected to bring in $585,000 annually into the city treasury, with the increase in rate expected to add about $105,000 to the total. The council said the added money is needed for salaries of additional firemen as well as a building inspection program and street projects.

West Virginia's 8 Electoral Votes Due For Kennedy

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia's eight electorial votes will be cast officially for President-elect John F. Kennedy in Gov. Underwood's office next Monday.

The eight electors will sign six separate certificates of their votes for president and vice president. One copy will go to the president of the U.S. Senate, two to Secretary of State Joe F. Burdett, two to the General Services Administration and one to Federal Judge John A. Field Jr.

The electors, all Democrats, include Mrs. Arminta Justice of Huntington, Mrs. Philip Woolwine of South Charleston, E. A. McDonald of Logan, A. D. Peters of Charles Town, Rolla Johnson Sr. of Parkersburg, Richard Wright of Chester, Andrew Edmiston of Weston and Samuel Solins of Welch.

They were selected at the Democratic State Convention last summer.

Re-Examination Urged Of Loan, Grants Plan

DETROIT (AP)—A "rigorous re-examination of our entire foreign loan and grants program," was urged Monday by Harold Boeschenstein, president of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

Boeschenstein told the Economic Club of Detroit that the "United States should not countenance any arrangements in the European Common Market or European Free Trade Areas which would, in effect, add to discrimination against American goods."

He said a general program should be drawn up which would strengthen this nation's free market economy, promote world trade and contribute to collective security in order to maintain a strong domestic and international financial system.

Trial

sel, Capps was sent to prison in Alabama in July 1959, where he remained until he escaped in July 1960. He then came to Salem, Bauknecht said, telling Fish he was on parole.

On the afternoon of Aug. 3, Capps came back from Salem in an Alabama car with two other men who waited for him after he talked with his wife inside the home. He left shortly, and the Fishes, observing the condition of the men, notified the Highway Patrol that they were driving while intoxicated.

Capps again returned to the home about 3:40 p. m., this time much more intoxicated, the statements showed. He was brought this time by a taxi.

Apparently Fish warned Capps —carrying the packages — not to come into the home, but to leave. Capps withdrew to a nearby truck and fell down once. He then approached the house two more times, again warned by Fish.

As he neared the porch the third time, muttering to Fish, the latter, who had obtained a shotgun from the corner of the diningroom, stood on the porch and fired at the younger man, the blast catching Capps in the chest, killing him.

Bauknecht said Capps had tried unsuccessfully to purchase a pistol at Dean's Lunch and Fishers' News Agency in Salem on his second visit. A woman at the lunch stand notified police, who found him in the bar, apparently not drunk enough to arrest. However, Bauknecht said, Capps told one of the officers he "would kill you some day."

The defense counsel said depositions from Jasper area residents would show the "violent, vicious, quarrelsome and dangerous" nature of Capps and that he had a record of damaging houses and assaulting people.

The prosecutor, however, said that Fish shot Capps while the latter was too drunk to do any harm, then "calmly" put away the gun and called police.

The jury, seated yesterday afternoon by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard, visited the farm afterward, but did not return to the Courthouse in time later in the afternoon to hear opening statements because the bus was disabled.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Beresford was the first prosecution witness as the testimony began this morning. He told of his investigation of the shooting and displayed the shotgun and beer and whisky, along with Capps' clothing.

On the jury are Frank Hancock, 306 Union St., Mary Worcester, M. C. 22, Charles W. Horger, 1062 St. George St., and Lessie Thomas, 1218 Erie St., all East Liverpool.

Carl Sommers of Salem, Dorothy Smith, Virginia Kessler, Robert Cameron, Harriett Feit and Essel Hadley of Lisbon, Victor Billett of Leetonia, and Myrtle McCoy of Rogers. Frank Eells of Negley is first alternate and Mrs. Florence M. Bye of East Palestine is second alternate.

Heater Fault Closes Beaver Grade School

Classes at the Beaver Local Elementary School at Williamsport are expected to be resumed Wednesday after the school was closed today because of a defective section in a heating boiler.

George Van Horne, executive head, said workmen have started repairs and classes are scheduled to be resumed tomorrow morning.

A crack developed in a section of one boiler about 6:30 Monday night, Van Horne said, and the school was closed today because of the heating problem in the severe cold.

Rows of strawberry plants should be about four feet apart, to allow for cultivation.

Constable System Discussion Slated

The St. Clair Township trustees, at a meeting Monday night, announced the third and final session in a series of special meetings to allow residents to register suggestions on the way to utilize the new police constable levy will be held Thursday Dec. 15, at 7:30 p. m. at the township hall.

All residents of the township are being given the opportunity to offer their ideas as to how the protection system should be operated and the money spent.

The trustees also announced that any resident interested in the constable job may submit an application at the meeting.

In other business, two permits were issued the Ohio Valley Gas Co. to open Martha St. in Glenmoor and Highland Dr. in Calcutta to provide home service.

The trustees adopted a resolution accepting the amounts and rates as determined by the county budget commission and certifying them to the county auditor.

The Board of Trustees approved purchase of a new $152 snow plow blade for a tractor of the Hancock County Children's Home at a meeting Monday night in the home on State Route 2.

Cyrus Spear of Weirton, executive secretary, also reported the 19 youngsters in the home were given 6 dozen ice cream cups for Thanksgiving by Mrs. Eddie Ferber, a Weirton restaurant operator.

The children will be feted by the Weirton Elks at a Christmas party Saturday. Fire extinguishers in the home were checked by Chief John Pittinger of Pughtown. One in the boys' dormitory was replaced.

Fire Causes Damage Of $250 At Dungannon

LISBON — Fire damaged a wall by a fireplace at the home of Walter Obst in Dungannon at 6:15 a.m. today and Fire Chief James Wernet of the Hanover Township fire department estimated damage at $250. The home is owned by John Burnett of Hanoverton.

Chief Wernet said that defective bricks in fireplace allowed the fire to get into the wall and joists. The Hanover department put out the blaze but reported that it was so cold a water hose froze.

Beaver Court Begins Robbery Trio's Trial

BEAVER — The trial of three Pittsburgh men, indicted recently by the Grand Jury for the armed robbery and beating of an Ambridge merchant, started in Beaver County Court Monday.

Ernest Davis, Edward Henderson and Alex Howard are charged with beating Samuel Kroll, 70, of Ambridge and robbing him of $1,700 last June.

Davis and Howard, turned down counsel appointed by the court and are acting for their own defense. Henderson is being defended by Atty. Harry Garrett of Midland.

Sam Kurtz of Monaca, charged with numbers writing, went to trial today.

Trial

sel, Capps was sent to prison in Alabama in July 1959, where he remained until he escaped in July 1960. He then came to Salem, Bauknecht said, telling Fish he was on parole.

On the afternoon of Aug. 3, Capps came back from Salem in an Alabama car with two other men who waited for him after he talked with his wife inside the home. He left shortly, and the Fishes, observing the condition of the men, notified the Highway Patrol that they were driving while intoxicated.

Capps again returned to the home about 3:40 p. m., this time much more intoxicated, the statements showed. He was brought this time by a taxi.

Apparently Fish warned Capps —carrying the packages — not to come into the home, but to leave. Capps withdrew to a nearby truck and fell down once. He then approached the house two more times, again warned by Fish.

As he neared the porch the third time, muttering to Fish, the latter, who had obtained a shotgun from the corner of the diningroom, stood on the porch and fired at the younger man, the blast catching Capps in the chest, killing him.

Bauknecht said Capps had tried unsuccessfully to purchase a pistol at Dean's Lunch and Fishers' News Agency in Salem on his second visit. A woman at the lunch stand notified police, who found him in the bar, apparently not drunk enough to arrest. However, Bauknecht said, Capps told one of the officers he "would kill you some day."

The defense counsel said depositions from Jasper area residents would show the "violent, vicious, quarrelsome and dangerous" nature of Capps and that he had a record of damaging houses and assaulting people.

The prosecutor, however, said that Fish shot Capps while the latter was too drunk to do any harm, then "calmly" put away the gun and called police.

The jury, seated yesterday afternoon by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard, visited the farm afterward, but did not return to the Courthouse in time later in the afternoon to hear opening statements because the bus was disabled.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Beresford was the first prosecution witness as the testimony began this morning. He told of his investigation of the shooting and displayed the shotgun and beer and whisky, along with Capps' clothing.

On the jury are Frank Hancock, 306 Union St., Mary Worcester, M. C. 22, Charles W. Horger, 1062 St. George St., and Lessie Thomas, 1218 Erie St., all East Liverpool.

Carl Sommers of Salem, Dorothy Smith, Virginia Kessler, Robert Cameron, Harriett Feit and Essel Hadley of Lisbon, Victor Billett of Leetonia, and Myrtle McCoy of Rogers. Frank Eells of Negley is first alternate and Mrs. Florence M. Bye of East Palestine is second alternate.

Heater Fault Closes Beaver Grade School

Classes at the Beaver Local Elementary School at Williamsport are expected to be resumed Wednesday after the school was closed today because of a defective section in a heating boiler.

George Van Horne, executive head, said workmen have started repairs and classes are scheduled to be resumed tomorrow morning.

A crack developed in a section of one boiler about 6:30 Monday night, Van Horne said, and the school was closed today because of the heating problem in the severe cold.

Rows of strawberry plants should be about four feet apart, to allow for cultivation.

Constable System Discussion Slated

The St. Clair Township trustees, at a meeting Monday night, announced the third and final session in a series of special meetings to allow residents to register suggestions on the way to utilize the new police constable levy will be held Thursday Dec. 15, at 7:30 p. m. at the township hall.

All residents of the township are being given the opportunity to offer their ideas as to how the protection system should be operated and the money spent.

The trustees also announced that any resident interested in the constable job may submit an application at the meeting.

In other business, two permits were issued the Ohio Valley Gas Co. to open Martha St. in Glenmoor and Highland Dr. in Calcutta to provide home service.

The trustees adopted a resolution accepting the amounts and rates as determined by the county budget commission and certifying them to the county auditor.

Backs Conservation More Than Ever

Hills Call Mayhew After Trip West

By CHUCK CRONIN

Shields Mayhew of Pughtown has returned from a week's visit to an experimental farm in Arizona more firmly convinced that successful farming and conservation go hand in hand.

As West Virginia No. 1 conservation farmer in 1959-60, Mayhew received an expense paid vacation trip to the Wigwam, a resort on the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.'s 14,000-acre model farm at Litchfield Park, near Phoenix.

He found the flat, irrigated farmland and hot, dry air in direct contrast to the hilly woodland of his 175-acre "spread" at Pughtown, now in the icy grip of winter.

But after touring the Goodyear farm with 104 other "wranglers" from across the country, he said he still prefers "the West Virginia hills" to Arizona's sun - baked plains.

THE ARIZONA farmers receive a more sizeable yield per acre of crop, but only with greater expense, Mayhew noted.

Irrigation is necessary to provide moisture for the sandy soil of the Western state and the expense runs high for necessary equipment to pump water from a series of 74 wells on the test farm.

Mayhew was pleased with the year-round crop production operations of the state noted for its climate and 80 per cent sunshine. But those farmers may encounter serious problems soon because of a fast-decreasing water table level, the Pughtown farmer said in discussing his visit.

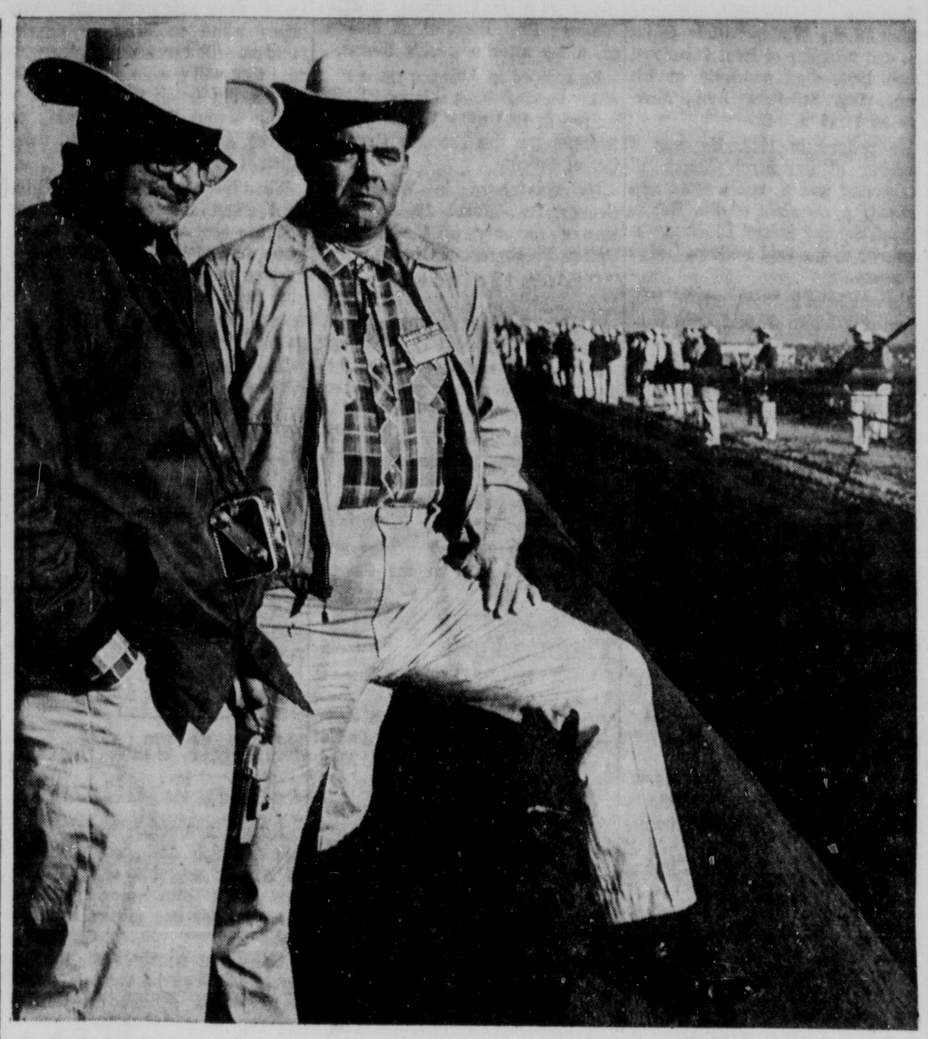
"The only water problem I have at Pughtown is getting the rain to fall at the right time," he commented.

He was amazed at the huge amounts of water necessary to operate farms in the dry climate. The farmers flood the fields to grow crops of cotton, corn, wheat and barley. Spraying crops is not feasible because of the high rate of evaporation.

—:—

BECAUSE OF the rate of consumption, the water table level in the Phoenix area has diminished by 100 feet in the last decade, Mayhew was told.

While he found the entire visit interesting, of particular value were discussions with other farmers from across the country on conservation practices.



SHIELDS MAYHEW of Pughtown (right) wore a 10-gallon hat with authority during his visits to Arizona last week as the reward for being named West Virginia's No. 1 conservation farmer of the year. He is shown inspecting an irrigation ditch on a model farm with Burl E. Allen of Cameron, a conservation supervisor in the Northern Panhandle.

Most farmers agreed that their biggest problem is the runoff of valuable top soil caused by lack of proper watershed programs. Iowa appears to have the problem licked for the present by construction of a system of lakes which limits the soil and water runoff, Mayhew was told in one of the discussions.

Most farmers are controlling the runoff problem by practicing contour farming and growing a good, heavy cover of grass on their land, he said.

Mayhew has undertaken a project of fencing a woodlot on his farm and planting trees to help curb the loss of valuable soil during storms and rain.

Irrigation wouldn't be a practical project in the Northern Panhandle area because of the expense involved in pumping water to the hilly ground, Mayhew reflected.

THROUGH USE of conservation practices, notably construction of ponds and watering troughs, strip farming, contour planting and proper fertilization, Mayhew's farm has increased its production rate about 100 per cent in recent years.

He grows the primary crops of corn, wheat and alfalfa and also raises dairy and beef cattle. Some of the beef is sold for use by patients in the County Infirmary nearby which Mayhew operates.

Mayhew was judged the top conservation farmer in the Northern Panhandle and then the entire state of West Virginia by a board of judges selected from among leading agriculturalists.

Mayhew's farm has been in the family for 75 years. Making the visit with him from the state of West Virginia were Burl E. Allen of Cameron, supervisor of the Northern Panhandle Soil Conservation District, Howard Thornburg of Barboursville and Earl K. Kelley of Red House, soil conservationists.

The Goodyear hosts provided the farmers with typical western attire during their stay. Entertainment included swimming, desert tours, golfing and a visit to Phoenix.

Mayhew won't be eligible for another contest until 1965-66. But he plans to continue his conservation practices and strongly believes participation in the county programs will prove beneficial to all West Virginia farmers.

Council Asks New CD Plans At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — Council Monday night turned down a model ordinance for participation in the proposed new Columbiana County Civil Defense program and directed Solicitor Warren Bettis to prepare legislation more suitable to the village.

The program was outlined at the last meeting by Mayor Kenneth Leishman. It was devised by county commissioners and mayors. Salineville is in the central evacuation area of the Canton, Youngstown, and Steubenville region under the setup.

The proposed program will cost about 12.5 cents per capita, with the county paying 5 cents and the communities the remainder. Council already has agreed to back the program and the financing, which will cost the village about $150.

Mayor Leishman read a proclamation from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, which set the population at 1,898 and termed Salineville a "small village" because it falls below the 2,000 mark.

Pete Growall, street foreman, requested new barricades to close off Jefferson St. when it snows so children will have a place to coast. The old barricades are not usable.

Leishman said he will donate the lumber. Growall agreed to construct the barricades.

A notice was read from the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board warning Council of the expiration date of its sewage extension permit. Bettis was asked to investigate. The mayor said he had met with some state officials on a proposed site for the village sewage disposal plant but that it would not meet approval.

Leishman said he will investigate other sites. Bob Skinner of the School House Hill requested slag for an alley between Washington and Lincoln Sts. He was told none is available at present but will be after the first of the year.

Council adopted a resolution accepting amounts and tax rates as determined by the County Budget Commission authorizing necessary tax levies and certifying them to the county auditor.

Tom Wilson, deputy marshal, requested he be paid additional money each month as was proposed in January. Council then told him he would receive $25 more each month if it was available. He now receives $125 a month. He was told the money still is not available but may be in January.

Gerald Finnie, pastor of the Church of Christ, gave the opening prayer. Council will meet again next Monday night. The meeting was advanced because of Christmas.

Penalty Forgiven, Southerner Plans To Head For Dixie

"I don't understand this ice and snow and this slippin' and slidin' around," an Alabama native told Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today as he asked for an opportunity to leave the East Liverpool district's chilly weather after he was convicted on an intoxication charge.

Made curious by the defendant's southern accent, the judge learned he is a native of Andalusia, Ala., "about 15 miles from the Florida line." The man said he has been working on an East Liverpool district farm about three months.

"But you can't take these thin southern clothes and go very far in this cold weather," he added ruefully. Although he had only $1.05 when arrested, he told the judge he hopes to hitch-hike back to Alabama as quickly as possible.

As he was a first offender, the judge decreed a suspended fine of $10 and costs and added: "Be on your way, boy!"

Southern hospitality broke through as the prisoner started out of court.

"If you're ever down my way, look me up," he told the judge.

Final Pledges Asked From CP's Telephone

Lawrence Zollinger, president of the Columbiana County Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association, requested today that all pledges for the recent telethon be sent in so that accounts may be closed.

They may be mailed or taken to the Clinic headquarters in Mary Patterson Memorial.

Members of the affiliate and the Key Club of the high school will decorate the tree and room Wednesday for the Christmas party which will be given Friday by the Parental Group.

Santa Claus will arrive at 7 o'clock with gifts for the children. Refreshments will be served.

18 Attend Wellsville Methodist Men's Event

Eighteen attended a meeting of the Methodist Men Monday night at the Wellsville Central Methodist Church.

A film, "Family Life," was screened by William Montgomery. It was provided by the Ohio Power Co.

Eugene Montgomery, president, presided. The men donated $15 to the Sunday School basketball team. Harold Driggs conducted devotions.

George Hough presented a special program. Lunch was served. The next meeting is Jan. 9.

5 Are Enrolled In Legion Post

Five new members were obligated by Robert Tosker, 10th District commander, at a service held Monday night by American Legion Post 374 in the East End Home.

Tasker was assisted by Louis Krawiec, post chaplain, and James Wallover, past commander.

James Calhoun was accepted as a new member. Krawiec was named to serve as chairman for the "Back to God" campaign. The post made its annual contribution to the Salvation Army for Christmas.

John Frederick, second vice commander, reported plans completed for the annual Christmas party Dec. 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the post home. The membership to date is 363.

The committee for the New Year's Eve party includes Ray Cusick, chairman, Walter Galloway, John Fone, Robert Horner and Cregar. Reservations may be made by calling the post home, FU. 5-3090.

Americanism chairman Robert Milne will present a new flag to Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Saturday at 10 a. m. for Municipal Court.

Visitors included Roger Bowers and John Bartholow of Post 31 in East Palestine. Bowers is county commander.

A dance will be held in the post home Saturday night with Vince Mundy's band to furnish music.

Movies Added To Event For Irondale Children

IRONDALE — A program of movies has been added to the annual children's Christmas party and treat to be held Thursday night at 7 near the community tree.

William Hoobler will screen Christmas movies in the American Legion Post 655 home after children are presented treats by Santa Claus. Hot chocolate and cookies will be served.

The activity is co-sponsored by the Legion and Irondale volunteer firemen.

First Socialist Premier Of Norway Dies At 101

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Norway's first Socialist premier, Christopher Hornsrud, 101, died today.

Hornsrud headed the shortest government in Norwegian history, from Jan. 28 to Feb. 15 in 1928.

One of his first acts as premier was to free the present premier, fellow Socialist Einar Gerhardsen, who was in jail for trying to incite Norway's conscript army to turn pacifist.

Past Presidents Given Pin In South Side PTA's Program

During a Founder's Day program Monday evening, past presidents of the South Side Parent-Teachers Association were honored and presented pins.

The association met in the elementary building near Hookstown with Mrs. Virginia Searight, president, presiding.

Receiving pins were Mrs. Virginia Powell, Mrs. Eleanor Jones, Charles Ryland and Mrs. Searight. Unable to attend to receive their pins were Mrs. Iris Morrow, Mrs. Nellie Swearingen, Mrs. Harriet Evans and Earl Gosnell. They were presented by Mrs. Franklin Walker, program chairman.

During business, the group voted to sponsor an essay contest for students of the 5th to 12th Grades. Reports were given by Mrs. Lawrence Weikel, Mrs. William Stewart, Mrs. Jack Smith and Mrs. Ruth Lombardo.

Mrs. Walker interviewed Melvin Cook of the high school and Mrs. Virginia Rogers of the elementary.

There was group carol singing led by Harry Lutton, accompanied by Mrs. James Goodwin. Carols were also sung by the 5th and 6th Grade Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Florence Kennedy, music instructor. Devotions were led by the Rev. Howard Ashbaugh of the Mt. Olivet Church.

The attendance banner was won by the rooms of Harold Howarth of the high school and Mrs. Zula Whitehill of the elementary.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert Butterfield, assisted by Mrs. Ward Powell, Mrs. Millard Fox, Mrs. Herbert Graham, Mrs. Mildred Faulk, Mrs. Lyle Kiffer and Mrs. Bertha Cain.

Next meeting is Jan. 9.

LaCroft Autoist Cited In Crash Near Calcutta

A LaCroft motorist was cited by the State Highway Patrol after he collided with a Columbus man's car Monday afternoon on the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd.

James W. Davis, 32, of 6th Ave. was charged with reckless driving after making a left turn in the path of a westbound car driven by A. Morelle Cheney, the patrol said.

The mishap occurred about 3:50 p.m., about a mile east of Calcutta.

The patrol also reported a mishap in the North Georgetown area.

Plans To Be Discussed For Scout Winter Camp

Plans for the Boy Scout Polar Bear winter encampment Jan. 6-8 will be discused at a committee meeting of the Cherokee District tonight at 7:30 at Chester American Legion Post 121.

Backs Conservation More Than Ever

Hills Call Mayhew After Trip West

By CHUCK CRONIN

Shields Mayhew of Pughtown has returned from a week's visit to an experimental farm in Arizona more firmly convinced that successful farming and conservation go hand in hand.

As West Virginia No. 1 conservation farmer in 1959-60, Mayhew received an expense paid vacation trip to the Wigwam, a resort on the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.'s 14,000-acre model farm at Litchfield Park, near Phoenix.

He found the flat, irrigated farmland and hot, dry air in direct contrast to the hilly woodland of his 175-acre "spread" at Pughtown, now in the icy grip of winter.

But after touring the Goodyear farm with 104 other "wranglers" from across the country, he said he still prefers "the West Virginia hills" to Arizona's sun - baked plains.

THE ARIZONA farmers receive a more sizeable yield per acre of crop, but only with greater expense, Mayhew noted.

Irrigation is necessary to provide moisture for the sandy soil of the Western state and the expense runs high for necessary equipment to pump water from a series of 74 wells on the test farm.

Mayhew was pleased with the year-round crop production operations of the state noted for its climate and 80 per cent sunshine. But those farmers may encounter serious problems soon because of a fast-decreasing water table level, the Pughtown farmer said in discussing his visit.

"The only water problem I have at Pughtown is getting the rain to fall at the right time," he commented.

He was amazed at the huge amounts of water necessary to operate farms in the dry climate. The farmers flood the fields to grow crops of cotton, corn, wheat and barley. Spraying crops is not feasible because of the high rate of evaporation.

—:—

BECAUSE OF the rate of consumption, the water table level in the Phoenix area has diminished by 100 feet in the last decade, Mayhew was told.

While he found the entire visit interesting, of particular value were discussions with other farmers from across the country on conservation practices.

Most farmers agreed that their biggest problem is the runoff of valuable top soil caused by lack of proper watershed programs. Iowa appears to have the problem licked for the present by construction of a system of lakes which limits the soil and water runoff, Mayhew was told in one of the discussions.

Most farmers are controlling the runoff problem by practicing contour farming and growing a good, heavy cover of grass on their land, he said.

Mayhew has undertaken a project of fencing a woodlot on his farm and planting trees to help curb the loss of valuable soil during storms and rain.

Irrigation wouldn't be a practical project in the Northern Panhandle area because of the expense involved in pumping water to the hilly ground, Mayhew reflected.

THROUGH USE of conservation practices, notably construction of ponds and watering troughs, strip farming, contour planting and proper fertilization, Mayhew's farm has increased its production rate about 100 per cent in recent years.

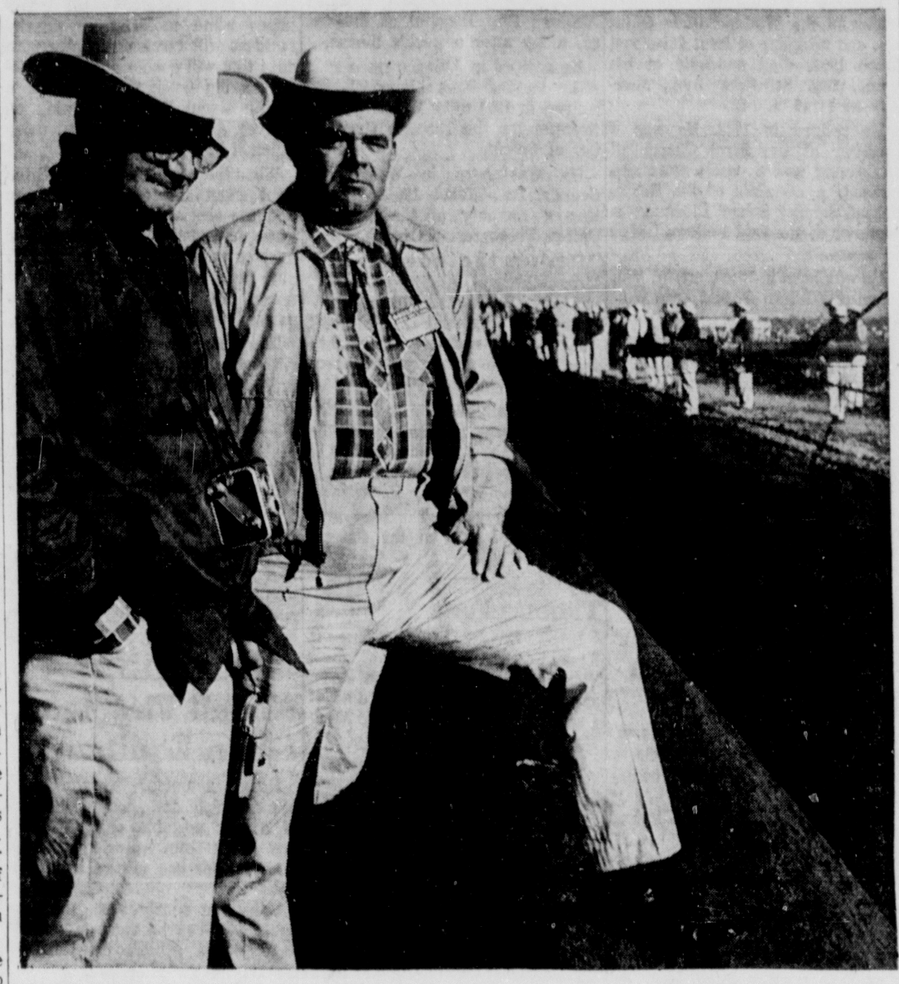
He grows the primary crops of corn, wheat and alfalfa and also raises dairy and beef cattle. Some of the beef is sold for use by patients in the County Infirmary nearby which Mayhew operates.

Mayhew was judged the top conservation farmer in the Northern Panhandle and then the entire state of West Virginia by a board of judges selected from among leading agriculturalists.

Mayhew's farm has been in the family for 75 years. Making the visit with him from the state of West Virginia were Burl E. Allen of Cameron, supervisor of the Northern Panhandle Soil Conservation District, Howard Thornburg of Barboursville and Earl K. Kelley of Red House, soil conservationists.

The Goodyear hosts provided the farmers with typical western attire during their stay. Entertainment included swimming, desert tours, golfing and a visit to Phoenix.

Mayhew won't be eligible for another contest until 1965-66. But he plans to continue his conservation practices and strongly believes participation in the county programs will prove beneficial to all West Virginia farmers.



SHIELDS MAYHEW of Pughtown (right) wore a 10-gallon hat with authority during his visits to Arizona last week as the reward for being named West Virginia's No. 1 conservation farmer of the year. He is shown inspecting an irrigation ditch on a model farm with Burl E. Allen of Cameron, a conservation supervisor in the Northern Panhandle.

Council Asks New CD Plans At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — Council Monday night turned down a model ordinance for participation in the proposed new Columbiana County Civil Defense program and directed Solicitor Warren Bettis to prepare legislation more suitable to the village.

The program was outlined at the last meeting by Mayor Kenneth Leishman. It was devised by county commissioners and mayors. Salineville is in the central evacuation area of the Canton, Youngstown, and Steubenville region under the setup.

The proposed program will cost about 12.5 cents per capita, with the county paying 5 cents and the communities the remainder. Council already has agreed to back the program and the financing, which will cost the village about $150.

Driver Hired For Beaver Local Schools

Employment of a new bus driver and a full-time mechanic were authorized by the Beaver Local Board of Education Monday night.

Allen Pepin of Calcutta was approved for the bus driver's post. He has been employed part-time.

Dale Blazer was named as a mechanic in the bus garage. A bus driver, he has been working part-time in the garage.

A lengthy discussion on the insurance on school buildings was held with William McNutt of the McNutt Insurance Agency of East Liverpool.

Some policies expire early next year and the board is deciding its future course and whether to purchase additional insurance.

The board also took under consideration the possibility of enlarging the parking lots at the elementary and high school buildings at Williamsport. An offer has been submitted by the board delayed action pending an investigation.

A discussion was held on the basketball and football schedules for 1961-62 seasons. The schedules must be approved by George Van Horne, executive head of the school district, and then be given final approval by the board.

A high school student, who was suspended for 10 days for smoking in the high school, was admonished about smoking in the building or on the grounds and informed he will be reinstated at the end of the suspension period.

The board has a policy barring smoking in and around the school and the grounds.

Herron Will Propose State Fund Changes

NEW CUMBERLAND — Squire John D. Herron will present a recommendation calling for a new system of handling state funds at the Jan. 8 convention of the Minor Judiciary Association of West Virginia in Wheeling.

The resolution was drafted by the Northern Panhandle chapter earlier to prevent a recurrence of a $20,000 embezzlement by a Brooke County justice of the peace.

If adopted at the state convention, the recommendation will be submitted to the State Legislature. Squire Herron is president of the Minor Judiciary Association and is eligible to be returned for another term.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Penitentiary officials say one convicted forger residing there apparently hasn't learned his lesson. They are investigating how he obtained a check they say was stolen, filled it in for $65 and had it cleared by the penitentiary.

Shippingport Bridge Site Is Announced

Park H. Martin, secretary of the Pennsylvania State Department of Highways, has announced that a site for the proposed Midland - Shippingport Bridge has been tentatively fixed and preliminary design plans are being prepared.

The proposed construction will begin in Shippingport Borough about 185 feet west of the intersection with Route 168 and Route 118 and proceed in a northerly direction, overpass the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, the Ohio River and the Pennsylvania Railroad.

It will terminate at the intersection of Route 68, about 0.5 mile east of the Midland Borough line for a length of about 0.75 mile.

Martin said that a public hearing to discuss economic effects of the bridge construction on the surrounding areas will be scheduled if a written request is received from any interested citizen of the communities affected.

The written request for the hearing must be submitted on or before Dec. 26 to the district engineer, Gateway Center, Pittsburgh, 22. Then a date, place and time of the hearing will be announced.

Preliminary site plans will be available for inspection at the hearing or may be examined by request at the Pittsburgh office of the highway department.

Deer Fear Hunters Go To Palestine Park

EAST PALESTINE — Deer in Columbiana County must have been forewarned that hunting season on their species opens next week because several of them have been seeking protection in Municipal Park here.

Residents said several deer have been spotted in the park in the past two weeks.

Early Sunday morning a large buck ambled down the main street through the business section. He was spotted by several newsboys and police.

The witnesses said the deer made a left turn at Park Ave. and then continued on, entering the park by the main entrance.

They said the deer came from the direction of Negley and kept on the right side of the road. It never hesitated, but continued straight into the park.

Yule Party Arranged By Calcutta's Firemen

Calcutta volunteer firemen met Monday night and completed plans for their annual Christmas party for children of the rural community.

Robert Dunn reported the party for the youngsters will be held Saturday night from 7 to 9 in the station. Entertainment will be furnished by pupils from the Cassidy Dance Studio. Santa Claus will distribute gifts and each child will be served refreshments.

Firemen have selected their next project as installing ventilating fans in the hall. Norman Neal, president, presided. The next meeting will be Monday night at 8.

Motorist Fined $100 On 2 Counts

LISBON — A Warren motorist was fined on 2 counts and sentenced to jail by County Judge James L. MacDonald Monday.

Fred W. Liston, 43, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 3 days in jail when he pleaded guilty of driving while intoxicated, and $50 and costs for driving without an operator's license.

Three Lisbon area motorists were fined a total of $15 and costs and 4 others forfeited bonds. Another was found not guilty.

William F. Homan, 57, of R.D. 5 was fined $5 and costs for failing to signal a turn; Oscar L. Ikirt, 70, of 226 S. Lincoln Ave., $5 and costs for speeding, and Donna Belle Webber, 37, of 916 Market St., $5 and costs for reckless operation.

Darl T. Peterson, 43, and Jack Zallow, 27, both of Warren, Emerson W. Ridinger, 53, of Chester and Roscoe L. Cartier, 45, of Canton forfeited $15 each for speeding.

Robert J. Weber, 22, of Hanoverton pleaded not guilty and was found innocent of reckless operation. All were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Man Injures His Ribs In Fall Upon Ice Here

A city man injured in a fall on ice Monday night was admitted to City Hospital and another man hurt in a fall and another who cut his finger received treatment.

Eugene Brown, 51, of 300 E. 2nd St. is in "fair" condition today with possible fractures of the right ribs suffered when he fell at Washington and 2nd Sts. about 8 p. m.

Howard Davis, 319½ Walnut St., cut his scalp when he fell while working at the Roma Cafe, 223 Broadway.

James Elliott, 1027 Phoenix Ave., Chester, cut his finger on a light globe at home.

EAST PALESTINE — Thomas Ross Foster, 17, a son of Mrs. Florence Foster, 560 Bacon Ave., and the late Lewis Foster, died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound Monday afternoon at 4:45.

Columbiana County Coroner William A. Kolozsi said the boy shot himself in the head with a 16-gauge shotgun while alone at home. He was found by a nephew, Don Coakley, about 6:15 p. m. Police were notified at 6:20 p. m.

A junior at East Palestine High School, the youth was active in the school chorus and the Centenary Methodist Church. He was born Sept. 10, 1943. He was a part-time employe of the Akenhead Ice Cream plant.

Survivors include his mother, a sister, Mrs. Gloria Coakley, two brothers, Herbert Foster and Bruce Foster, and the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Lulu Bevington, all of East Palestine.

Services will be held Thursday at 1:30 p. m. at the Oliver Funeral Home by the Rev. Thomas Hammerton. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

City Seeks Data On Vehicle Which Hit Traffic Signal

Safety - Service Director Lee Copenhaver said today the city hopes some motorist or nearby resident will furnish the city with data that will enable officials to locate a big truck which struck a traffic signal Friday morning on Harvey Ave. at Putnam St., damaging it beyond repair.

When the eastbound truck hit the light about 6:45 a. m., the noise and the scattering parts probably were noticed by some motorist or nearby resident who can furnish data that will enable the city to trace the vehicle, the director pointed out.

The busy intersection has been without a traffic light since the crash, although stop signs have been erected for traffic approaching Harvey Ave. from Putnam St. The director pointed out the intersection is used as a crossing for children walking to Klondyke School and by some who attend Neville School.

He estimated the replacement cost of the light at $240. Since it was mounted 14 feet above the pavement, the damage must have been caused by an unusually large truck, the director said.

Newell Firemen Given Equipment

Newell volunteer firemen met Monday night and accepted the gift of a new portable oxygen mask and gauge from American Legion Post 114 for use in the community.

Valued at nearly $100, the new equipment can be used in a resident's home without constant attention by an attendant.

Earl Flesch, chairman of the building committee, reported that blockwork has been completed for an addition to the post home, 26-by-24 feet, to be used for storage. Firemen will construct the roof and floor in the near future.

Robert Mercher was accepted as a new member. Ed Mercer was instructed to contact authorities for carnival rights for 1961.

The annual meeting will be held Jan. 8 at 2 p. m. with election of officers scheduled. New boots, hats, and badges have been ordered from a Columbus firm.

Safety Pins Given To 20 At Meeting

Safe mileage pins were awarded 20 members of the Flying Wheels Motorcycle Club at its annual banquet Saturday night at Tice's Restaurant.

Mrs. Georgia Couts made the presentations and also awarded trophies to the highest safe miles winners — William Patterson, first, with a total of 11,185; Charles White, second, 8,535; Eugene Saxton, third, 8,083.

Eugene Saxton, vice president, installed the 1961 officers: White, president; George Tate, vice president; Patterson, treasurer; Mrs. Marion Patterson, secretary; Donald Heaton, referee; Mrs. Wynette Saxton, publicity.

The affair attracted 25 members and guests. The next regular meeting will be Jan. 2 at the Heaton motorcycle shop on Wells Ave.

Feelings Are Hurt

MANITOU SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A member of the City Council resigned the day after the general election. His council seat was not at stake — he'd run for the county commission and was beaten. He said this showed the voters didn't have sufficient confidence in him.

Gentlemen:

I wish to acknowledge receipt of your check in the amount of $1361.07 in payment of the medical expense incurred by my son David. As you recall David was injured in an accident while driving a motorcycle on the Bell School Road September 20, 1960.

The motorcycle was not insured and if it had not been for the broad form medical payments in my automobile policy my family and myself would have had a great financial burden.

I purchased my insurance from you on June 18, 1960 and since the policy had only been in effect for three months I was very concerned about just how or if any claim would be taken care of. However, I must commend you and your company on the quick and courteous manner in which my claim was settled.

After thirty-nine days in the hospital my son is now getting along fine but must return at a later date for additional treatment. I know that I can depend on your company to take care of the claim quickly and efficiently.

Very truly yours,
John P. Pickens

Driver Hired For Beaver Local Schools

Employment of a new bus driver and a full-time mechanic were authorized by the Beaver Local Board of Education Monday night.

Allen Pepin of Calcutta was approved for the bus driver's post. He has been employed part-time.

Dale Blazer was named as a mechanic in the bus garage. A bus driver, he has been working part-time in the garage.

A lengthy discussion on the insurance on school buildings was held with William McNutt of the McNutt Insurance Agency of East Liverpool.

Some policies expire early next year and the board is deciding its future course and whether to purchase additional insurance.

The board also took under consideration the possibility of enlarging the parking lots at the elementary and high school buildings at Williamsport. An offer has been submitted by the board delayed action pending an investigation.

A discussion was held on the basketball and football schedules for 1961-62 seasons. The schedules must be approved by George Van Horne, executive head of the school district, and then be given final approval by the board.

A high school student, who was suspended for 10 days for smoking in the high school, was admonished about smoking in the building or on the grounds and informed he will be reinstated at the end of the suspension period.

The board has a policy barring smoking in and around the school and the grounds.

Herron Will Propose State Fund Changes

NEW CUMBERLAND — Squire John D. Herron will present a recommendation calling for a new system of handling state funds at the Jan. 8 convention of the Minor Judiciary Association of West Virginia in Wheeling.

The resolution was drafted by the Northern Panhandle chapter earlier to prevent a recurrence of a $20,000 embezzlement by a Brooke County justice of the peace.

If adopted at the state convention, the recommendation will be submitted to the State Legislature. Squire Herron is president of the Minor Judiciary Association and is eligible to be returned for another term.

RIVER ERUPTS. This "fountain" erupted into the air Monday afternoon when the first 100-foot section of the lock wall at Dam 8 was blasted out of the Ohio River. The remaining part of the lock wall is expected to be blown out today before the Monongahela & Ohio Dredging Co. begins clearing the river bottom. Demolition of the dam is expected to be completed this week.

Rogers Club Sets Yule Fete

The Corner Plus One Club of Rogers will hold a Christmas party and gift exchange Dec. 23 at Garneau's Smorgasbord at North Lima.

Atty. and Mrs. Donald Elliott held a party Saturday afternoon in observance of the 10th birthday anniversary of their daughter, Ilene.

Thirteen attended. Games were played. Lunch was served by the hostess.

A Christmas playlet, "The Gift of the Christmas Fairy," was presented at a meeting of the WCTU Friday at the Methodist Church.

A coverdish dinner was served at noon. A gift exchange was held. The group sang "Silent Night" and Mrs. Edith Moore, president, gave a reading.

The meditation, "The People That Walked In Darkness," was presented by Miss Ruby McMillan. Mrs. Della Wilson read "How Christmas Is Observed In Other Places."

The Scripture lesson was Luke 2:8-14. The next meeting is Jan. 13 with Mrs. Zora Roley.

Mrs. Art Locke was returned home Sunday from Salem City Hospital after a tonsillectomy.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wright included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Evans of Lisbon.

Mrs. Nell Dickey of Negley is ill at the home of her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis, of W. Walnut St.

Mrs. Ursa Low attended the Country Club meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Copeland of Kensington.

City Seeks Data On Vehicle Which Hit Traffic Signal

Safety - Service Director Lee Copenhaver said today the city hopes some motorist or nearby resident will furnish the city with data that will enable officials to locate a big truck which struck a traffic signal Friday morning on Harvey Ave. at Putnam St., damaging it beyond repair.

When the eastbound truck hit the light about 6:45 a. m., the noise and the scattering parts probably were noticed by some motorist or nearby resident who can furnish data that will enable the city to trace the vehicle, the director pointed out.

The busy intersection has been without a traffic light since the crash, although stop signs have been erected for traffic approaching Harvey Ave. from Putnam St. The director pointed out the intersection is used as a crossing for children walking to Klondyke School and by some who attend Neville School.

He estimated the replacement cost of the light at $240. Since it was mounted 14 feet above the pavement, the damage must have been caused by an unusually large truck, the director said.

Newell Firemen Given Equipment

Newell volunteer firemen met Monday night and accepted the gift of a new portable oxygen mask and gauge from American Legion Post 114 for use in the community.

Valued at nearly $100, the new equipment can be used in a resident's home without constant attention by an attendant.

Earl Flesch, chairman of the building committee, reported that blockwork has been completed for an addition to the post home, 26-by-24 feet, to be used for storage. Firemen will construct the roof and floor in the near future.

Robert Mercher was accepted as a new member. Ed Mercer was instructed to contact authorities for carnival rights for 1961.

The annual meeting will be held Jan. 8 at 2 p. m. with election of officers scheduled. New boots, hats, and badges have been ordered from a Columbus firm.

'Frustration' Looms As Key To Assembly

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The best word seems to be "frustration."

That's almost certain to be the reaction of all hands when the 104th General Assembly winds up its regular session next June or July—or maybe even August.

Certainly Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle isn't going to be happy.

By then, the Republican-controlled legislature, political realities being what they are, probably will have junked a bundle of the governor's plans to reorganize the state government along the lines of his own ideas.

The GOP won't be happy either, frustrated by months of working under the tight rein of a Democratic governor's veto power.

The coming session will be the first since 1955 with a governor of one political persuasion and a legislature of the other. That was during the fifth and last term of former Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche, an official who seldom found it too difficult to get along with Republican legislators.

How well DiSalle will be able to operate with a Republican Legislature remains to be seen. Two years ago, he had some difficulty persuading some of his fellow-Democrats to go along with his proposals, notably his tax-increase program. Others which got the cold shoulder from both parties included DiSalle proposals to revise the utility rate-base formula, abolish capital punishment and put stiff penalties on criminal conspiracy.

While the GOP will control both houses, it won't have enough margin to ride roughshod over the governor and upset what the 1959 legislature did at his request.

Republicans dominate the upcoming House 84-55. Those 84 votes are just exactly enough to override a veto by the governor.

But it's a different story in the Senate. The GOP edge there is only 20-18. It would take 23 votes to override a veto in the upper chamber.

The 1961 legislative session will, of course, be a series of opening skirmishes in the 1962 campaign. So look for a lot of party-line voting as each party tries to establish a record to which it can point with pride when the 1962 election day rolls around.

Since Republican and Democratic points of view are considerably at odds on many key issues, prospects for solid accomplishments are slim.

At this range, the prospect is that the Republican majority will make a few attempts to get its way on several controversial issues, then—in failure—shrug it off, say "Oh, what's the use," and end the session early.

Many lawyer - legislators are fond of saying Ohio has too many laws already.

Perhaps a short legislative session might be a good idea.

Weather Holds Up Arrival Of Citrus

The 1960-61 citrus season is under way, delayed several weeks because of unfavorable weather in Florida, according to Richard Skinner, marketing agent with the Agriculture Extension Service.

Despite some damage, the orange crop appears to be only a little smaller than last year, he said. Grapefruit production will be about the same as a year ago. The tangerine crop is 50 per cent larger this year and will be available in volume for the holiday season.

The California navel orange crop is considerably smaller this year and more costly. Other fruit items which offer good buys are apples, bananas and grapes.

Fryers take the spotlight at the meat counters and will for several weeks to come. Pork supplies are seasonally increasing. Beef supplies and prices remain about steady. Turkey prices will be about the same through the holiday season.

At the vegetable counter look for large supplies of good quality lettuce and celery at reasonable prices. Cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and brussel sprouts continue to be available at attractive prices. Locally-grown potatoes still have the lower price tag.

For holiday goodies, here is a good selection of California dates, walnuts and pecans available at reasonable prices.

SANTA and the BOY FISH by Lucrece Hudgins Beale

Costenbricker cannot recall the magic words to awaken Santa's sleeping elves and reindeer unless he has a black pearl that will make him young again. Michael volunteers to dive to the bottom of the sea and find the pearl which sank on a ship centuries ago.

CHAPTER EIGHT

Costenbricker's parasol was enormous. It was made of red silk with purple polka dots. It had a long handle with two crooks on the end.

"Usually," said Costenbricker, "I travel sitting in one of the crooks but all this excitement has tired me and I expect we better make ourselves comfortable."

Saying this, he turned the umbrella upside down. Michael was astonished to see little yellow cushions lying on the bottom and a flat green quilt tucked around the handle and bunches of bananas hanging from the ribs.

"How do all those things fit in the parasol when it's closed?" he exclaimed.

"Who said all those things are in there when it's closed," retorted Costenbricker mysteriously. "Get in now and away we'll go."

Michael turned to Santa. "Aren't you going?"

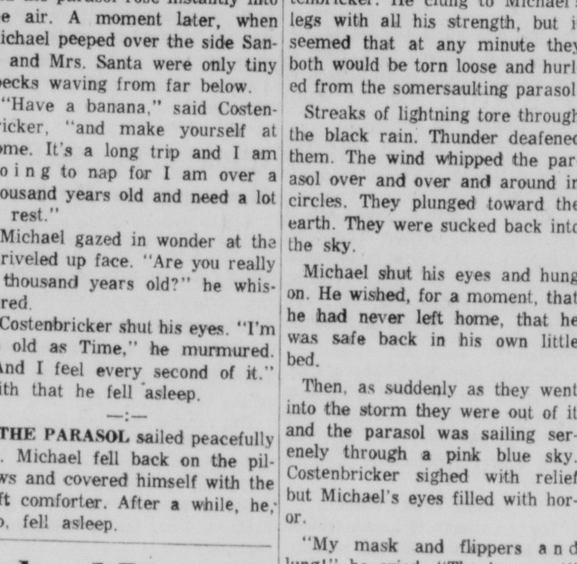
SANTA SHOOK his head. "It's best for me to stay here and do what work I can though it will all be useless unless you find the pearl and Costenbricker remembers the magic words that will waken the elves."

"Don't worry," said Costenbricker cheerfully. "We'll be back in no time at all!" He climbed into the parasol and Michael, tucking his precious mask and lung and flippers down among the pillows, scrambled in beside him.

Costenbricker shoved his triple-strength spectacles to the top of his forehead, put his hand over his eyes and muttered unintelligibly to himself. Nothing happened. Perspiration broke out on the old man's bald head as he clenched his hands and sought to remember the right incantation. He muttered on and on.

Suddenly the polka dot parasol rocked back and forth and slowly rose from the floor.

"Hooray!" cried Costenbricker triumphantly.



Lightning flashed and wind whipped the parasol.

"Wait!" cried Santa. "It'll never go through the door!"

Costenbricker blinked. "Oh, dear. I forgot that.

There was nothing for them to do but crawl out of the parasol, fold it up and carry it outdoors and open it up again.

This time, Costenbricker got the right words the very first time and the parasol rose instantly into the air. A moment later, when Michael peeped over the side Santa and Mrs. Santa were only tiny specks waving from far below.

"Have a banana," said Costenbricker, "and make yourself at home. It's a long trip and I am going to nap for I am over a thousand years old and need a lot of rest."

Michael gazed in wonder at the shriveled up face. "Are you really a thousand years old?" he whispered.

Costenbricker shut his eyes. "I'm as old as Time," he murmured. "And I feel every second of it." With that he fell asleep.

—:—

THE PARASOL sailed peacefully on. Michael fell back on the pillows and covered himself with the soft comforter. After a while, he, too, fell asleep.

He was awakened by a loud crash. The parasol lurched crazily. The pillows fell out and the comforter disappeared. Bananas flew away into space. Costenbricker landed on top of Michael.

"What is it?" cried Michael in terror, struggling to his knees and clutching the parasol handle.

"A storm cloud!" shouted Costenbricker. He clung to Michael's legs with all his strength, but it seemed that at any minute they both would be torn loose and hurled from the somersaulting parasol.

Streaks of lightning tore through the black rain. Thunder deafened them. The wind whipped the parasol over and over and around in circles. They plunged toward the earth. They were sucked back into the sky.

Michael shut his eyes and hung on. He wished, for a moment, that he had never left home, that he was safe back in his own little bed.

Then, as suddenly as they went into the storm they were out of it and the parasol was sailing serenely through a pink blue sky. Costenbricker sighed with relief but Michael's eyes filled with horor.

"My mask and flippers and lung!" he cried. "They're gone!"

Pennsy, TWU Reach Accord

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A new contract providing for a five-cent-an-hour wage increase retroactive to July 1 has been reached between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Transport Workers Union. The TWU represents 20,000 PRR maintenance employes.

The agreement, which must be ratified by a majority of the TWU's Pennsy locals, also provides for an additional six cents to be paid next March 1.

However, the union has the choice on whether the six cents shall be given in wages or used to pay part of the costs of a hospital and group life insurance plan.

Andrew Kaelin, TWU vice president in charge of the railroad division, said ratification is expected by the end of the week. He said the settlement was negotiated last Friday.

A PRR spokesman said the wage increase is identical to that granted to non-operating employes on the nation's major railroads, including the Pennsy, several months ago.

Kaelin said the average hourly pay of TWU members now is $2.66.

The union had demanded, in opening wage talks earlier this year, a wage boost of 35 cents an hour. The PRR said it was losing money and suggested TWU accept a 15-cent pay cut.

Kaelin said the hospitalization plan is estimated to cost 12½ cents an hour, and that if the union elects this the employe would pay all over six cents.

Plant At Vandalia Plans Move To Indianapolis

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Aero Products plant at nearby Vandalia, where employment has declined from a peak of more than 3,000 in recent years to a current level of about 1,050, will move its operations to Indianapolis, it was announced Monday night.

Cyrus R. Osborn, executive vice president of General Motors, declined to say when the plant will be vacated or what will be moved in there. Aero Products, which makes propellers, is a part of GM's Allison Division.

But Osborn said the Dayton area should benefit in the long run from the move because the eventual replacement at the plant should turn out a product that will result in a more consistent level of employment there.

American Male Spending Record Sum On Grooming

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The human male is preening himself as never before. He's pouring literally millions of dollars into what he prefers to call good grooming—shaving lotions, colognes, powders, hair tonic, hair pieces and hair dyes.

This goes on the year around as the male, openly or surreptiously, buys these things at the stores or frequents the barber shops and other establishments dedicated to even more glamorous grooming.

But at Christmas the women march into the picture. They buy the major share of men's gift toiletries. Merchants say they are about equally attracted by what the products promise to do for the men in their lives and by the ornate packaging that sprouts luxuriantly at this season.

Companies bent on making the men look better or smell sweeter —or be odor free altogether— mushroom on all sides. Often they are divisions of larger chemical, soap or drug companies. Sometimes they are names better known in the field of women's cosmetics.

Manufacturers of after-shave lotions say this year's sales should top the 1959 record of $50.1 million. This total was a 126.3 per cent jump since 1946. In that period women's perfumes and toilet waters increased in sales volume by 104.6 per cent.

Men rarely buy items labeled perfume for themselves. But they do spend around $94 million a year for items called luxury fragrance.

This fragrance buying is over and above the estimated $271 million spent on men's shaving preparations—after-shave lotions and creams, electric preshave and ordinary talc in 1959.

Men's deathless fight against baldness and dandruff swells sales totals year by year. Men's hair tonic sales are estimated at $69.85 million annually for hair tonic. This climbs at a rate of at least 5 per cent a year.

The nationwide industry that caters to men who have lost or are losing the battle of baldness also runs into the millions a year category, with exact figures lacking. But there's a smart sale of hair pieces of all sizes—"Men never buy wigs," say the dressers of men's craniums.

New Type Radiation Protection Device Seen

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—Development of a new type radiation protection instrument called the personal radiation monitor has been announced.

The device, about the size of a fountain pen and weighing only 3½ ounces, emits a warning tone and flashes a small light in the presence of a gamma radiation field.

Scientists here Monday said its greatest value would be the immediate warning it would give in a radiation accident.

'Frustration' Looms As Key To Assembly

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The best word seems to be "frustration."

That's almost certain to be the reaction of all hands when the 104th General Assembly winds up its regular session next June or July—or maybe even August.

Certainly Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle isn't going to be happy.

By then, the Republican-controlled legislature, political realities being what they are, probably will have junked a bundle of the governor's plans to reorganize the state government along the lines of his own ideas.

The GOP won't be happy either, frustrated by months of working under the tight rein of a Democratic governor's veto power.

The coming session will be the first since 1955 with a governor of one political persuasion and a legislature of the other. That was during the fifth and last term of former Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche, an official who seldom found it too difficult to get along with Republican legislators.

How well DiSalle will be able to operate with a Republican Legislature remains to be seen. Two years ago, he had some difficulty persuading some of his fellow-Democrats to go along with his proposals, notably his tax-increase program. Others which got the cold shoulder from both parties included DiSalle proposals to revise the utility rate-base formula, abolish capital punishment and put stiff penalties on criminal conspiracy.

While the GOP will control both houses, it won't have enough margin to ride roughshod over the governor and upset what the 1959 legislature did at his request.

This fragrance buying is over and above the estimated $271 million spent on men's shaving preparations—after-shave lotions and creams, electric preshave and ordinary talc in 1959.

Men's deathless fight against baldness and dandruff swells sales totals year by year. Men's hair tonic sales are estimated at $69.85 million annually for hair tonic. This climbs at a rate of at least 5 per cent a year.

The nationwide industry that caters to men who have lost or are losing the battle of baldness also runs into the millions a year category, with exact figures lacking. But there's a smart sale of hair pieces of all sizes—"Men never buy wigs," say the dressers of men's craniums.

New Type Radiation Protection Device Seen

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—Development of a new type radiation protection instrument called the personal radiation monitor has been announced.

The device, about the size of a fountain pen and weighing only 3½ ounces, emits a warning tone and flashes a small light in the presence of a gamma radiation field.

Scientists here Monday said its greatest value would be the immediate warning it would give in a radiation accident.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Non-Network Documentary Acclaimed

The American Broadcasting Co. gained a producer and lost a vice president when it made a top-level decision to present an independently produced documentary called "Yanki No!" utilizing "a new technique of candid motion picture reporting."

Marie Torre

"Mr. Drew (Robert Drew of Time, Inc.) may have developed a marvelous film process," said John Daly after resigning as vice president in charge of news and public affairs, "but nobody here in ABC news has seen it.

"I was not even consulted about the arrangement. The first I heard about it was when the deal was announced, at which time I decided that I had no recourse but to resign."

THE OFFICIAL slight was unfortunate. For "Yanki No" was unveiled on ABC last week and even Daly, though he's a dissenter in the practice of "farming out" the production of public affairs presentations, would have had to agree that the cause for his resignation had merit.

It was creditable fare on two counts: Its technique represented a welcome departure from the heavy reliance on "word logic" in TV documentaries; and it succeeded in making the viewer graphically—nay, shockingly—aware of Communist infiltration in Latin America and the urgent need for democratic action.

It was a potent story, which achieved its impact through close observation of impoverished Latin Americans in revolt, giving the viewer a sense of participation in the proceedings.

-:-

THE VIEWER, as a matter of fact, felt he was behind the cameras as they moved from a meeting of the Organization of American States (OAS) in Costa Rica to Venezuela where Minister Arcaya, who ignored his president's instructions and voted against the United States resolution to condemn Soviet intervention in Cuba, was faced with a rioting mob and an angry president; from shocking contrasts of wealth and poverty in Caracas to a mass wedding designed to legalize common law marriages on a wholesale basis; from the move of a poor Cuban from his shack into a government-built workers' house to a Soviet tanker in Havana harbor where a Russian sailor recorded his reaction to the assignment.

But the most chilling sight was the gigantic rally in Havana's Plaza Civica, where Fidel Castro stood as a messiah before a throng of a million people shouting, "Yanki No.!"

IN THEIR EAGERNESS to capture a realistic or "candid" view of the Latin American situation, cameramen sacrificed technicial proficiency or polish. Some of the film segments had the quality of home movies, jerky movements and all. But this is no criticism.

The important thing about "Yanki No" is that it introduced a new concept in the making of TV documentaries and that it was granted public exposure only because one network did the unprecedented thing and opened public affairs to an outsider.

Perhaps the other networks would do well to reopen the question of whether public affairs presentations should be kept under the sole preview of the network itself.

THERE BEING new interest in "talking" comedians, Jackie Gleason has succeeded in selling the idea of an informal comedy-panel show to CBS. Gleason will appear as moderator of the weekly program which will replace "The Garlund Touch" on CBS Jan. 20. . . .

If you want to see a TV program without commercials, we can recommend the "Project 20" production of "The Coming of Christ," which will be colorcast on NBC Dec. 21. The sponsor, United States Steel, decided that commercials would be in poor taste in such a venture. . . .

The Ideal Toy Corp., with a huge bag of toys slung over its back, makes its fifth Christmas pilgrimage to South America to distribute thousands of dollars worth of playthings to underprivileged children. . . .

A new series called "NBC Special News Reports," the number and length of which will be determined by the news as it breaks throughout the year, will be launched soon with Frank McGee at the helm. Each of these "instant" news programs will be given prime time exposure.

UAW Board Eyes Way To Ease Jobless

DETROIT (AP)—The international executive board of the United Auto Workers Union was to meet here today to plan ways to ease unemployment in 1961.

President Walter P. Reuther met Monday with Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey and the union's four vice-presidents — Norman Matthews, Richard T. Gosser, Leonard Woodcock and Pat Greathouse.

No indication came from the session on what goals and priorities the six top officers would submit to the 24-member board today.

There also was no advance indication whether the board would disclose its recommendations before an attempted selling campaign at the local union level.

A spokesman said, however, that discussion would center on growing unemployment in the auto industry.

UAW board members will also discuss the union's participation in an AFL-CIO drive to push wage and welfare legislation through Congress next year.

The UAW board will plan for the union's special convention opening here next April, two months before bargaining begins on new contracts with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Current three-year contracts with the Big Three expire Aug. 31 and bargaining is slated to open 60 days earlier.

Court Acquits Three Indicted For Gambling

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Three men indicted on gambling charges were acquitted by a Campbell Circuit Court jury Monday.

Stanley W. Schoemaker, Highland Heights; Richard Busker, Cincinnati, and Henry Freckman, Park Hills, had been accused of allowing bookie operations and dice and card games at Belmont Snax Bar in Newport.

The three were indicted by a special grand jury that heard testimony by delegates of an anti-vice group, the Newport Ministerial Association.

The grand jury had also indicted Sheriff Norbert Roll of Campbell County on a charge of nonfeasance in failing to enforce state law on gambling. He was acquitted in a trial last week.

Cincinnati Man Dies Of Fumes From Car

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati man was found dead in his closed garage Monday night, apparently the accidental victim of carbon monoxide poisoning from his car's exhaust, police reported.

Officers said a neighbor found the body of Herbert Mueller, 54, who had been working on his car in the garage during the day. Mueller's dog was also killed by the fumes.

Jumpers Move Base

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — The Black Angels, amateurs who make parachute jumps for fun, have decided to move their base to the nearby Hillsboro airport, from the Harrison airport near Cincinnati. A spokesman said Monday the Federal Aviation Agency had suggested they "move to a place without so much air traffic."

Husbands Attend Yule Dinner Staged By Sorority At Lisbon

A Christmas dinner party for members of the Gamma Nu Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, with their husbands as guests, was held Saturday night in the private dining room at Timberlanes in Salem.

Holdiay decorations highlighted the room and pine, gilt cones and burning white tapers formed the table decorations. Corsages were individual favors. The evening was spent in games and dancing.

The Progressive Club held its annual Christmas party Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Albright of E. Lincoln Way were hosts for the first dinner course, with seasonal decorations.

Dinner was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Burson of S. Lincoln Ave., where the buffet table was laid with a green cloth featuring golden decorations and lighted tapers in candelabra. Copper accessories completed the setting.

Gift Exchange Held

There was a gift exchange and an exchange of unusual tree ornaments on which the members had placed their names. Eleven were present.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Redd of Clearfield, Pa., and James Johnston of Salem.

The group will get together with friends to attend the Yuletide ball Dec. 30.

The Youth Fellowship of the First Christian Church met Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reese and spent the time painting and working on projects which will be turned over to the retarded children's class at Elkton School. Lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stockman.

Carol Sing Slated

Next Sunday evening, they will meet at the church to go Christmas caroling.

Some 80 members of the American Legion County Council and the auxiliary attended a joint meeting Friday night at the Legion Home in Lisbon.

State First Vice President Chet Stellar and several officers of the 10th District were special guests.

Contributions were received for the "Gifts for the Yanks Who Gave" fund in lieu of a gift exchange.

Lunch was served, with the Lisbon Legion members acting as hosts.

The Mariners Group of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church and their families held a 6:30 coverdish dinner at the church Saturday evening, with 27 attending.

Following dinner, adults decorated the church in the Christmas theme, while the children trimmed their tree in the Sunday School rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bergert served as hosts.

Group Attend Luncheon

Mrs. Walter Lipp, Mrs. Ray Beers, Mrs. Glen Conn, Mrs. Gilbert Marshall, Mrs. Eddie James, Mrs. Leland Adams, Mrs. Joseph Dornon, Mrs. Ralph Rose, Mrs. Clyde Lewis, Mrs. Walter Cope and Miss Lucille Bennett attended a Christmas luncheon party Saturday for line officers of District 13, Order of the Eastern Star, held at the United Presbyterian Church in Wellsville, with the Wellsville Chapter as hostess.

A program with a Christmas story and carol singing and a gift exchange followed.

Jeffrey Weinstock, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Weinstock, returned to his home in Ravenna Sunday afternoon after visiting with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Weinstock of Franklin Square Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lbby of Canton spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Libby of W. Lincoln Way and Mr. and Mrs. Foster Shattuck of E. Pine St.

Historical Unit Seeks Missing Stone Marker

A $25 reward is being offered by the East Liverpool Historical Society for information leading to the recovery of an old Pennsylvania-Virginia state line stone marker which was located near Little Blue Run on the south shore of the Ohio River.

The marker has the letter "P" on one side and "V" on the other. It is wanted because of its historical value. The marker stone was found earlier this year by two East End residents but it disappeared recently.

The stone was some distance from the original site of the terminus of the first survey line, where a later survey monument also stands.

Anyone with information may call FU 5-0845, the Chamber of Commerce, which is handling the calls for the society.

Property Taxes Hiked

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati householders must pay increased real estate taxes in 1961 for the seventh straight year. The Hamilton County Budget Commission reported Monday the rate will be $34.72 per $1,000 valuation, up $2.36 from last year.

2 Americans 'Forgotten' In Cuban Military Prison

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — Among the estimated 15,000 political prisoners crowded inside Cuba's jail and prisons today, two American aerial adventurers are forgotten men.

William J. Shergalis, 33, of West Hollywood, Fla., and Euclid, Ohio, and Louis Rundquist, 35, of San Rafael, Calif., and Miami, have been held almost nine months — without charges or trial.

They have little hope of being released soon from Matanzas Military Prison, where they are kept incommunicado. Some Cubans reportedly have been held even longer without trial.

At dawn last March 25, Shergalis and Rundquist landed their single-engine light plane on a highway in Matanzas, the province just east of Havana.

The civilian pilots told their captors of becoming lost on a flying fishing trip to Varadero, a seaside resort 22 miles northeast of Matanzas City.

But the Cuban authorities who seized them, with a burst of machinegun fire that wounded Rundquist in the foot, said the two Americans were ferrying out "war criminals" at a price.

The government made their cature a propaganda item, saying it was further proof of U.S. aggression against Cuba.

Abrupt silence followed when Washington announced it had a signed affidavit in which Shergalis said the clandestine flight was arranged in Miami by agents of the Fidel Castro government to embarrass the United States.

The U.S. embassy welfare officer has asked again and again to see Shergalis and Rundquist. But ever since Shergalis' affidavit was disclosed, the embassy requests have gone unanswered.

Government authorities in Matanzas will not discuss the case or say when the two are likely to be tried. As far as the Cuban public is concerned, the two fliers are buried and forgotten beyond the walls of Matanzas' San Sebastian prison. Their only visitor has been a Miami woman who says she is Shergalis' wife.

As the mass of political prisoners in Cuba grows, observers say the treatment of prisoners becomes more inhuman and dangerous. Conditions are so bad that some prisoners have smuggled out appeals asking the Human Rights Commission of the United Nations to investigate.

This is especially true of the notorious prison center on the Isle of Pines, 30 miles off the southwest Cuban coast in the Gulf of Batabano.

More than 6,000 persons are reported held there in quarters designed to hold 4,500 at most.

One Cuban businessman who visited his son, serving a long term on the Isle of Pines for counterrevolutionary activity, said when he got back:

"Much of the time the prisoners cannot eat the food they receive. Except for food sent in by their families, many of them would not survive."

"An American Tragedy" by Theodore Dreiser and "Gone with the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell have been proclaimed the greatest novels in American Literature for the past 60 years.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Non-Network Documentary Acclaimed

The American Broadcasting Co. gained a producer and lost a vice president when it made a top-level decision to present an independently produced documentary called "Yanki No!" utilizing "a new technique of candid motion picture reporting."

Marie Torre

"Mr. Drew (Robert Drew of Time, Inc.) may have developed a marvelous film process," said John Daly after resigning as vice president in charge of news and public affairs, "but nobody here in ABC news has seen it.

"I was not even consulted about the arrangement. The first I heard about it was when the deal was announced, at which time I decided that I had no recourse but to resign."

THE OFFICIAL slight was unfortunate. For "Yanki No" was unveiled on ABC last week and even Daly, though he's a dissenter in the practice of "farming out" the production of public affairs presentations, would have had to agree that the cause for his resignation had merit.

It was creditable fare on two counts: Its technique represented a welcome departure from the heavy reliance on "word logic" in TV documentaries; and it succeeded in making the viewer graphically—nay, shockingly—aware of Communist infiltration in Latin America and the urgent need for democratic action.

It was a potent story, which achieved its impact through close observation of impoverished Latin Americans in revolt, giving the viewer a sense of participation in the proceedings.

-:-

THE VIEWER, as a matter of fact, felt he was behind the cameras as they moved from a meeting of the Organization of American States (OAS) in Costa Rica to Venezuela where Minister Arcaya, who ignored his president's instructions and voted against the United States resolution to condemn Soviet intervention in Cuba, was faced with a rioting mob and an angry president; from shocking contrasts of wealth and poverty in Caracas to a mass wedding designed to legalize common law marriages on a wholesale basis; from the move of a poor Cuban from his shack into a government-built workers' house to a Soviet tanker in Havana harbor where a Russian sailor recorded his reaction to the assignment.

But the most chilling sight was the gigantic rally in Havana's Plaza Civica, where Fidel Castro stood as a messiah before a throng of a million people shouting, "Yanki No.!"

IN THEIR EAGERNESS to capture a realistic or "candid" view of the Latin American situation, cameramen sacrificed technicial proficiency or polish. Some of the film segments had the quality of home movies, jerky movements and all. But this is no criticism.

The important thing about "Yanki No" is that it introduced a new concept in the making of TV documentaries and that it was granted public exposure only because one network did the unprecedented thing and opened public affairs to an outsider.

Perhaps the other networks would do well to reopen the question of whether public affairs presentations should be kept under the sole preview of the network itself.

THERE BEING new interest in "talking" comedians, Jackie Gleason has succeeded in selling the idea of an informal comedy-panel show to CBS. Gleason will appear as moderator of the weekly program which will replace "The Garlund Touch" on CBS Jan. 20. . . .

If you want to see a TV program without commercials, we can recommend the "Project 20" production of "The Coming of Christ," which will be colorcast on NBC Dec. 21. The sponsor, United States Steel, decided that commercials would be in poor taste in such a venture. . . .

The Ideal Toy Corp., with a huge bag of toys slung over its back, makes its fifth Christmas pilgrimage to South America to distribute thousands of dollars worth of playthings to underprivileged children. . . .

A new series called "NBC Special News Reports," the number and length of which will be determined by the news as it breaks throughout the year, will be launched soon with Frank McGee at the helm. Each of these "instant" news programs will be given prime time exposure.

UAW Board Eyes Way To Ease Jobless

DETROIT (AP)—The international executive board of the United Auto Workers Union was to meet here today to plan ways to ease unemployment in 1961.

President Walter P. Reuther met Monday with Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey and the union's four vice-presidents — Norman Matthews, Richard T. Gosser, Leonard Woodcock and Pat Greathouse.

No indication came from the session on what goals and priorities the six top officers would submit to the 24-member board today.

There also was no advance indication whether the board would disclose its recommendations before an attempted selling campaign at the local union level.

A spokesman said, however, that discussion would center on growing unemployment in the auto industry.

UAW board members will also discuss the union's participation in an AFL-CIO drive to push wage and welfare legislation through Congress next year.

The UAW board will plan for the union's special convention opening here next April, two months before bargaining begins on new contracts with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Current three-year contracts with the Big Three expire Aug. 31 and bargaining is slated to open 60 days earlier.

Court Acquits Three Indicted For Gambling

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Three men indicted on gambling charges were acquitted by a Campbell Circuit Court jury Monday.

Stanley W. Schoemaker, Highland Heights; Richard Busker, Cincinnati, and Henry Freckman, Park Hills, had been accused of allowing bookie operations and dice and card games at Belmont Snax Bar in Newport.

The three were indicted by a special grand jury that heard testimony by delegates of an anti-vice group, the Newport Ministerial Association.

The grand jury had also indicted Sheriff Norbert Roll of Campbell County on a charge of nonfeasance in failing to enforce state law on gambling. He was acquitted in a trial last week.

Cincinnati Man Dies Of Fumes From Car

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati man was found dead in his closed garage Monday night, apparently the accidental victim of carbon monoxide poisoning from his car's exhaust, police reported.

Officers said a neighbor found the body of Herbert Mueller, 54, who had been working on his car in the garage during the day. Mueller's dog was also killed by the fumes.

Jumpers Move Base

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — The Black Angels, amateurs who make parachute jumps for fun, have decided to move their base to the nearby Hillsboro airport, from the Harrison airport near Cincinnati. A spokesman said Monday the Federal Aviation Agency had suggested they "move to a place without so much air traffic."

Husbands Attend Yule Dinner Staged By Sorority At Lisbon

A Christmas dinner party for members of the Gamma Nu Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, with their husbands as guests, was held Saturday night in the private dining room at Timberlanes in Salem.

Holdiay decorations highlighted the room and pine, gilt cones and burning white tapers formed the table decorations. Corsages were individual favors. The evening was spent in games and dancing.

The Progressive Club held its annual Christmas party Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Albright of E. Lincoln Way were hosts for the first dinner course, with seasonal decorations.

Dinner was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Burson of S. Lincoln Ave., where the buffet table was laid with a green cloth featuring golden decorations and lighted tapers in candelabra. Copper accessories completed the setting.

Gift Exchange Held

There was a gift exchange and an exchange of unusual tree ornaments on which the members had placed their names. Eleven were present.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Redd of Clearfield, Pa., and James Johnston of Salem.

The group will get together with friends to attend the Yuletide ball Dec. 30.

The Youth Fellowship of the First Christian Church met Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reese and spent the time painting and working on projects which will be turned over to the retarded children's class at Elkton School. Lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stockman.

Carol Sing Slated

Next Sunday evening, they will meet at the church to go Christmas caroling.

Some 80 members of the American Legion County Council and the auxiliary attended a joint meeting Friday night at the Legion Home in Lisbon.

State First Vice President Chet Stellar and several officers of the 10th District were special guests.

Contributions were received for the "Gifts for the Yanks Who Gave" fund in lieu of a gift exchange.

Lunch was served, with the Lisbon Legion members acting as hosts.

The Mariners Group of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church and their families held a 6:30 coverdish dinner at the church Saturday evening, with 27 attending.

Following dinner, adults decorated the church in the Christmas theme, while the children trimmed their tree in the Sunday School rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bergert served as hosts.

Group Attend Luncheon

Mrs. Walter Lipp, Mrs. Ray Beers, Mrs. Glen Conn, Mrs. Gilbert Marshall, Mrs. Eddie James, Mrs. Leland Adams, Mrs. Joseph Dornon, Mrs. Ralph Rose, Mrs. Clyde Lewis, Mrs. Walter Cope and Miss Lucille Bennett attended a Christmas luncheon party Saturday for line officers of District 13, Order of the Eastern Star, held at the United Presbyterian Church in Wellsville, with the Wellsville Chapter as hostess.

A program with a Christmas story and carol singing and a gift exchange followed.

Jeffrey Weinstock, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Weinstock, returned to his home in Ravenna Sunday afternoon after visiting with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Weinstock of Franklin Square Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lbby of Canton spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Libby of W. Lincoln Way and Mr. and Mrs. Foster Shattuck of E. Pine St.

Historical Unit Seeks Missing Stone Marker

A $25 reward is being offered by the East Liverpool Historical Society for information leading to the recovery of an old Pennsylvania-Virginia state line stone marker which was located near Little Blue Run on the south shore of the Ohio River.

The marker has the letter "P" on one side and "V" on the other. It is wanted because of its historical value. The marker stone was found earlier this year by two East End residents but it disappeared recently.

The stone was some distance from the original site of the terminus of the first survey line, where a later survey monument also stands.

Anyone with information may call FU 5-0845, the Chamber of Commerce, which is handling the calls for the society.

2 Americans 'Forgotten' In Cuban Military Prison

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — Among the estimated 15,000 political prisoners crowded inside Cuba's jail and prisons today, two American aerial adventurers are forgotten men.

William J. Shergalis, 33, of West Hollywood, Fla., and Euclid, Ohio, and Louis Rundquist, 35, of San Rafael, Calif., and Miami, have been held almost nine months — without charges or trial.

They have little hope of being released soon from Matanzas Military Prison, where they are kept incommunicado. Some Cubans reportedly have been held even longer without trial.

At dawn last March 25, Shergalis and Rundquist landed their single-engine light plane on a highway in Matanzas, the province just east of Havana.

The civilian pilots told their captors of becoming lost on a flying fishing trip to Varadero, a seaside resort 22 miles northeast of Matanzas City.

But the Cuban authorities who seized them, with a burst of machinegun fire that wounded Rundquist in the foot, said the two Americans were ferrying out "war criminals" at a price.

The government made their capture a propaganda item, saying it was further proof of U.S. aggression against Cuba.

Abrupt silence followed when Washington announced it had a signed affidavit in which Shergalis said the clandestine flight was arranged in Miami by agents of the Fidel Castro government to embarrass the United States.

The U.S. embassy welfare officer has asked again and again to see Shergalis and Rundquist. But ever since Shergalis' affidavit was disclosed, the embassy requests have gone unanswered.

Government authorities in Matanzas will not discuss the case or say when the two are likely to be tried. As far as the Cuban public is concerned, the two fliers are buried and forgotten beyond the walls of Matanzas' San Sebastian prison. Their only visitor has been a Miami woman who says she is Shergalis' wife.

As the mass of political prisoners in Cuba grows, observers say the treatment of prisoners becomes more inhuman and dangerous. Conditions are so bad that some prisoners have smuggled out appeals asking the Human Rights Commission of the United Nations to investigate.

This is especially true of the notorious prison center on the Isle of Pines, 30 miles off the southwest Cuban coast in the Gulf of Batabano.

More than 6,000 persons are reported held there in quarters designed to hold 4,500 at most.

One Cuban businessman who visited his son, serving a long term on the Isle of Pines for counterrevolutionary activity, said when he got back:

"Much of the time the prisoners cannot eat the food they receive. Except for food sent in by their families, many of them would not survive."

"An American Tragedy" by Theodore Dreiser and "Gone with the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell have been proclaimed the greatest novels in American Literature for the past 60 years.

GOP Loses Court Tests In Bid To Overturn Vote

By The Associated Press

Republicans have lost court tests in their attempts to overturn President-elect John F. Kennedy's winning margins in Illinois and Texas. At the same time official returns from all but three states cut still further Kennedy's popular vote edge over Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

New York's official canvass Monday sliced 20,869 votes from the Kennedy total compiled unofficially right after the Nov. 8 election. That gave Kennedy a nationwide popular vote margin over Nixon of 114,859, out of more than 68 million votes cast. The margin has not been that low since early in the vote counting on election night.

Only Illinois, Massachusetts and Rhode Island have not yet reported official vote counts. As they stand now, the popular vote totals are Kennedy 34,220,364 and Nixon 34,105,505. Kennedy still is credited with 300 electoral votes, however, 31 more than the 269 minimum needed to win.

In another development, unpledged electors from Mississippi and Alabama met in Jackson, Miss., and said they would vote for Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., for president. They urged other Southern states to join their cause, hoping to throw the election into the House of Representatives. It is considered very unlikely that this will happen.

There was no immediate comment from Byrd, who supported neither presidential candidate in the campaign.

The eight unpledged electors from Mississippi and the six from Alabama have not been counted either way in determining Kennedy's electoral vote total of 300.

In Texas, which has 24 electoral votes, U. S. Dist. Court Judge Ben C. Connally ruled that his court had no jurisdiction to rule on the Republican challenge of the election result. He also said there was no proof that anyone's rights had been violated when thousands of Texas ballots were voided for technical reasons.

In Illinois, with 27 electoral votes, State Circuit Judge Thomas E. Kluczynski dismissed two suits by Republicans against the Democratic-dominated Cook County and Chicago Election Boards. They demanded that official canvass results be altered in favor of Nixon.

The National Electoral College will go through its traditional ceremony of electing the president on Dec. 19, less than a week from now. Once that occurs, Kennedy's election will be official.

Township Street Vacating Studied

Columbiana County commissioners Monday discussed the requested vacating of Alley St., from the southerly line of Hudson St. to the northerly line of Calkin St. in Liverpool Township, but failed to reach an agreement.

Commissioners viewed property Nov. 21 and held a public hearing Nov. 28 and then asked a week to reach a decision but apparently still haven't agreed.

In other business, they awarded a contract for 100,000 glassine envelopes for the county treasurer's office to James Cullifer of East Liverpool, who represents the Specialty Envelope Co. of Cincinnati, on a bid of $514. This was the lowest of four.

Club At Summitville Will Give School Fete

SUMMITVILLE — Final plans were made for the school Christmas party to be held Friday, Dec. 23, at the Franklin Local School, when the Summitville Civic Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Lewis McCullough.

The group also sang Christmas carols and had a gift exchange.

Mrs. A. J. Booth and Mrs. Everett Hays, both of Summitville, were guests.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Donald Clark, Mrs. Dominic Sabatino, Mrs. Earl Rogers and Mrs. Donald McCord.

The next meeting will be Jan. 12 at the home of Mrs. Bernice Rogers.

Newell Food Collection Saturday To Aid Needy

Boy Scouts, in conjunction with Newell volunteer firemen, will begin a canvass of homes Saturday at 10 a. m. for canned goods for needy families at Christmas.

The Christmas basket project is under the direction of American Legion Post 114 and the Newell Lions Club.

Cash donations will be accepted. Anyone wishing to donate by check should make it payable to the Newell Lions Club, George LaNeve, Legion committee member, said.

Jury Hearing Arson Trial Is Discharged

TROY, Ohio (AP) — The jury hearing the six-day-old arson trial of Paul Cruikshank was discharged Monday by the judge, but no reason was given.

Cruikshank was indicted in September on charges of arson, burning property to defraud an insurance company and attempting to burn his hardware store at Pleasant Hill in southern Miami County last May 19.

Firemen said they found punctured cans at the store and also a burning candle underneath the staircase.

Prosecutor James DeWeese tried to show during the trial that the defendant bought eight cans of turpentine eight days before the fire.

The action in dismissing the nine-woman, three-man jury followed three hours of discussion between Common Pleas Judge David S. Porter, DeWeese and defense attorney Raymond White of Dayton.

Judge Porter said the situation that brought about the dismissal occurred outside the courtroom sometime between the time the trial began Dec. 5 and today. He did not elaborate.

The judge said Cruikshank will go on trial next month before another jury.

Commissioners Reject Annexation Proposal

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A proposal by residents of the new Lima suburb of Fort Shawnee to annex all of Shawnee Twp., to the village has been turned down by the Allen County Commissioners. The commissioners took the action Monday when they called the proposed annexation "improper, inequitable and unjustified."

Fort Shawnee was formed in June with a population of 5,900 and a tax valuation of $47,325,150 —the fifth greatest valuation in northwestern Ohio. In August, residents of a section of the new village effected action to detach their section and have it revert back to the township. Then residents of the remaining part of the village filed petitions with the County Commissioners proposing to annex the entire township.

6 Children's Presents Burned Up In Blaze

CINCINNATI (AP)—It won't be the Christmas they expected for the Williams family. Fire ravaged the second floor of their home late Monday. Presents for the six children, age 2 to 12, were in a first floor closet, and were damaged or destroyed by water used to fight the blaze.

Mrs. Dolores Williams, whose husband is in the Navy at San Diego, wept and said, "It will be a sad Christmas." Fire Marshal Vincent Wynn said the blaze was started by children playing with fire.

Ice Breaks, Boy Drowns

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Danny Lehman, 5, was walking on ice under a bridge near his home in Austintown Twp. Monday with two little friends when the ice broke. Only his cap was floating on the water of the creek when the other boys returned with Danny's mother, Mrs. Robert Lehman. She jumped into the creek, but could not find her son, whose body was recovered later by a neighbor.

In Ohio Public Schools

Development Of Students' Spirtual Values Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Should Ohio's public education system help develop "spiritual" as well as moral values in students?

John W. Morrison of Aurora, a member of the State Board of Education, thnks both terms should be included in the board's proposed two-page "Statement of Philosphy for Public Education in Ohio."

He said he doesn't want the impression given that the board is "shying away" from the spiritual values term.

The statement of objectives for public schools was prepared by a board committee and read to the full board at its meeting Monday. Robert A. Manchester of Youngstown, a committee member, said "spiritual values" had been omitted from the statement because it "might be misinterpreted."

He added that a 52-page supplementary statement, not yet considered by the board, included sufficient details to overcome Morrison's objections.

Another committee member, the Rev. Russell Hoy of Canal Lewisville, Coshocton County, said he held to Morrison's viewpoint but had not pressed for inclusion of "spiritual values" in the draft because "I don't want to precipitate a great controversy about preaching of religion in the schools."

The board delayed further action on the statement until its January meeting. But board vice president Wayne E. Shaffer of Bryan suggested the statement be considered informally by members on Jan. 9 in advance of the regular meeting.

The board set Jan. 15 as the deadline for receiving applications from school districts who wish to share in about $1 million in state building aid funds. The money is what's left from $10 million appropriated by the legislature last year.

Regulations were approved for setting up a priority list of school districts to participate in the building aid program. Asst. State School Supt. Dwight Darling said the list probably would be ready for consideration by the board at its February meeting.

Dearling added that the Department of Education has no plans to recommend changes in procedures for distributing future building funds to distressed school districts. Law requires districts receiving such funds to make partial repayment and comply with a host of regulations.

Board member Elliott Meyers of Ironton said Ohio's participation in any federal school construction aid program might require that building be started within 18 months after funds are allocated. But Ohio's present procedures might not permit such speedy action, he said.

The board delayed final action, pending further study, on a proposed new policy governing transfer of school territory involved in municipal annexations.

In other actions, the board:

Approved charters for three new junior high schools, two in Cincinnati, one in a Cleveland suburb.

Following voter approval last month, gave final approval for the creation of three new school districts which had been proposed by the board, all to become effective Dec. 31. School board members for these districts also were appointed to serve until permanent members can be elected at the November 1961 election. The new districts:

Consolidation of Ashtabula City, Ashtabula Harbor Exempted Village and Saybrook Local (Ashtabula County).

Consolidation of Geneva City, Geneva Local and Geneva-on-the-Lake, (Ashtabula County).

Consolidation of Rockford Local, Mercer County, and Willshire Local (Van Wert County), with the new district assigned to the Mercer County school system. Board members: Kenneth Dellinger, Glenn N. Miller and Herbert Brandt, all of Willshire; Lloyd Bollenbacher and Donald Siebert, both of Rockford.

Declared its intent to approve transfer of a section of Madison Local, Richland County, to Mansfield City District with the latter to pay the Madison board $1,137 in a settlement of bonded indebtedness involved.

Was advised by the Chesapeake Exempted Village District that it declined to accept a reservation of $87,192 in state building aid.

Head State School Supt. E. E. Holt report that state building aid construction contracts had been awarded totaling $735,365 at Boston-North Hampton Local, Summit County, and $1,417,546 at Minford Exempted Village District.

Tunnel Blaze Quelled

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — Firefighters donned gas masks to knock out a blaze Monday night in a tunnel used to haul sand to a cement-mix plant at the $78 million high-level dam project on the Ohio River at nearby Chilo. A spokesman for the builder, Groves-Venture Construction Co., said the fire was not near the big lock, now near completion.

Western Europe Applauds Rusk As Secretary Choice

LONDON (AP) — Western Europe today welcomed the choice of Dean Rusk as the new Kennedy administration's secretary of State.

In Britain, some observers viewed his appointment as indicating President-elect John F. Kennedy intends to bring U. S. foreign policy more directly under the president's personal control.

Rusk, together with his two principal aides—Adlai E. Stevenson and Chester Bowles — were hailed as a State Department team that could be counted on to pursue Western aims with dignity and resolution.

The French newspaper Combat applauded Kennedy's choice of Rusk, Bowles and Stevenson as "heralding a new leadership in American foreign policy."

A front-page editorial in the conservative London Daily Mail said the appointments "show that the most important man is going to be President Kennedy."

GOP Loses Court Tests In Bid To Overturn Vote

By The Associated Press

Republicans have lost court tests in their attempts to overturn President-elect John F. Kennedy's winning margins in Illinois and Texas. At the same time official returns from all but three states cut still further Kennedy's popular vote edge over Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

New York's official canvass Monday sliced 20,869 votes from the Kennedy total compiled unofficially right after the Nov. 8 election. That gave Kennedy a nationwide popular vote margin over Nixon of 114,859, out of more than 68 million votes cast. The margin has not been that low since early in the vote counting on election night.

Only Illinois, Massachusetts and Rhode Island have not yet reported official vote counts. As they stand now, the popular vote totals are Kennedy 34,220,364 and Nixon 34,105,505. Kennedy still is credited with 300 electoral votes, however, 31 more than the 269 minimum needed to win.

In another development, unpledged electors from Mississippi and Alabama met in Jackson, Miss., and said they would vote for Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., for president. They urged other Southern states to join their cause, hoping to throw the election into the House of Representatives. It is considered very unlikely that this will happen.

There was no immediate comment from Byrd, who supported neither presidential candidate in the campaign.

The eight unpledged electors from Mississippi and the six from Alabama have not been counted either way in determining Kennedy's electoral vote total of 300.

In Texas, which has 24 electoral votes, U. S. Dist. Court Judge Ben C. Connally ruled that his court had no jurisdiction to rule on the Republican challenge of the election result. He also said there was no proof that anyone's rights had been violated when thousands of Texas ballots were voided for technical reasons.

In Illinois, with 27 electoral votes, State Circuit Judge Thomas E. Kluczynski dismissed two suits by Republicans against the Democratic-dominated Cook County and Chicago Election Boards. They demanded that official canvass results be altered in favor of Nixon.

The National Electoral College will go through its traditional ceremony of electing the president on Dec. 19, less than a week from now. Once that occurs, Kennedy's election will be official.

Venditti Will Apply At Canton . . .

Lou Venditti, Potter football coach, said late Monday he will apply for the Canton McKinley job.

Listed as one of three top prospects for the opening, Venditti is expected to make formal application within the next few days.

It is a job Venditti always has wanted and he certainly would be foolish to turn it down should it come his way. The McKinley post pays $1,800 a season and a three-year contract is being offered.

At East Liverpool, the head football job is worth $950. Also at Canton, a radio show and other "fringe benefits" go with it.

We're quite sure that nobody would like to see Venditti leave East Liverpool, but on the other hand we would like to see him better himself.

Lou will be one of many applying for the job, but he is well thought of in Canton.

A quick glance at his five-year record here wouldn't attract anyone looking for outstanding won-and-lost figures. But there are numerous items which must be taken into consideration.

The overall record is 26 wins, 22 defeats and 3 ties. His 1956 team was 8-2, followed by 3-6 in 1957. The 1958 team won 2, lost 6 and tied 2. It was 7-3 in 1959 and 6-5 last year.

The big question in studying Venditti's record is: Who has East Liverpool played? The answer: The best in Ohio. The Potters reached their peak this year with such teams as Massillon, Alliance, Youngstown Rayen, Canton Central, Steubenville Central and others.

Lou hasn't been blessed with the best talent in the world, but always has managed to come up with something. In five years he has done the most with the material on hand.

Mason Looks Like Top Candidate . . .

THE COMPETITION for the job is some of the toughest of its kind. At present, Tony Mason of Miles, Ohio's coach of the year, is the leading candidate from what we have gathered.

His record is outstanding. Before moving to Niles, Mason had three undefeated campaigns and a 28-game winning streak at Brookfield.

He picked up at Niles where he left off at Brookfield, when his team went undefeated this season and gained the runnerup spot to Massillon in the final state ratings.

Another top prospect is Joe Malmisur of Lima Senior, a native of Youngstown, Malmisur has kept Lima among Ohio's top 10 during most of his career there.

Shouldn't Take Long . . .

THE TALK around Canton is that it won't take long for officials at McKinley to name a new coach. One of the reasons originates in Massillon.

The two Stark County rivals are fierce competitiors off as well as on the football field.

The fact that Leo Strang, who guided Massillon to its second Ohio football championship, has applied for the University of Cincinnati job, has more or less put more pressure on Canton to name a coach in a hurry.

If Strang would go to Cincinnati, Massillon would need a football coach and the competition would continue.

Massillon would be shooting for the best naturally and so is McKinley. Speculation has it that Mason would be very interested in the Massillon post. Who wouldn't?

The Canton job became available officially Saturday when Jim Robinson resigned.

Cunningham Slowed Down? . . .

THE QUESTION Saturday night following the East Liverpool-Alliance game was; How would Kenny Cunningham do on two legs?

The charley horse which has bothered Cunningham did keep the Potter star from driving, faking and jumping like he wanted to do.

The injury is a stiffness in the upper part of the leg, which slows him down.

Up until the fourth quarter, Kenny was having only an average night. In three quarters, he had scored 17 points but in the eight minutes of the final period he let go with 16 and almost pulled the game out of the fire.

He tallied East Liverpool's last 10 points. His shooting percentage for the first game, taking his injury into consideration, was outstanding. Of 28 shots, 16 brushed through the nets.

Injury or no injury Cunningham gave it all he had in that do-or-die last quarter and had the Alliance Aviators running around in circles.

Senate Committee Hears Testimony Of Williams

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators call Frank (Blinky) Palermo and Sonny Liston, top contender for the heavyweight championship, for quizzing today in hearings on mobster influence on boxing.

Palermo, a Philadelphia rackets figure, gets a chance to answer testimony by former lightweight champion Ike Williams that Palermo had relayed bribe offers totaling more than $180,000 to throw fights. Palermo was his manager at the time.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, conducting the inquiry, has heard testimony that mobsters grab off a lion's share of Liston's earnings. The subcommittee indicated in advance its members want to find out whether Liston knows anything about this.

Liston's manager, Joseph P. (Pep) Barone of Allentown, Pa., is reported too ill in an Allentown hospital to testify. The investigators have heard St. Louis police testimony that 52 per cent of Liston's ring earnings go to New York gangster Frankie Carbo, 12 per cent to Fifth Amendment pleading St. Louis hoodlum John J. Vitale, and 12 per cent to Palermo.

Liston launched his ring career after receiving a parole from prison, where he was serving a term for armed robbery.

Williams, now 20 pounds heavier than when he ruled the 135-pound division from 1945-51, testified Palermo had reported that someone—he did not identify the other party—had offered big money to throw fights with Jimmy Carter, Kid Gavilan, Freddie Dawson and Juste Fontaine.

Palermo, he said, recommended against accepting the bribes but left it up to Williams.

Williams said he rejected each one but conceded Monday he wished he had taken $100,000 for his nontitle scrap with Gavilan in 1949 and $50,000 for his last bout as champ—with Carter in 1951.

Gavilan beat him anyway, Williams recalled, and Carter dethroned him. He whipped Dawson and Fontaine.

Subcommittee Chairman Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., suggested that on looking back, Williams could feel better because he resisted temptation.

"I do not, senator," Williams persisted. "I do not."

Since then, Williams ruefully recalled, a lot of friends he had not wanted to disappoint had run out on him.

Now taking home $92.97 every other week from his job as a warehouseman for the State of New Jersey, Williams estimated that in the ring, "give or take a few thousand, I made a million dollars."

The former champ, now 37, whose identity had been concealed before he testified, said he never saw a penny of $65,000 in purses for two title matches in 1948. Palermo spent it before he could get his hands on it, Williams said.

Rigney Signed To Manage LA Club In 1961

LOS ANGELES (AP) — San Francisco didn't want him, but Los Angeles has signed volatile Bill Rigney to manage its American League baseball team in 1961.

Rigney, deposed by the Giants midway in the 1960 season, signed a one-year contract with the Angels Monday. He and Gen. Mgr. Fred Haney flew today to the American League draft meeting in Boston to get a few ballplayers.

Haney said nobody had signed. But veteran catcher Del Rice, who played with the St. Louis Cardinals and with Haney in Milwaukee, said in Centralia, Ill., that Haney had asked him to serve as catcher-coach.

Haney said he had made a contingent offer to Rice "before I was appointed general manager of the Angels," but he left no doubt that he wanted Rice.

"I also have talked to Red Schoendienst," said Haney. Milwaukee released Schoendienst, and St. Louis offered him a contract, but Haney indicated he hopes to land the ex-Cardinal second baseman.

Racing Called Off At Pimlico Track

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Only the horses will be outdoors," a Pimlico publicity blurb proclaimed at the opening of an "autumn" meeting Nov. 14.

Not even the horses were out today.

Sunday's snowfall a foot deep on the track made it impossible for the horses to race Monday. And road conditions were expected to be still hazardous today so Pimlico canceled again.

Pimlico thought it had the weather beaten when it enclosed its grandstand in glass last year and added a new clubhouse with similar protection last month.

Pimlico's 28-day meeting had been scheduled to come to an end Thursday.

Bradley Listed Second

Ohio State Ranked No. 1 In First National Poll

By The Associated Press

Ohio State, the defending NCAA basketball champion, leads the field in the first weekly poll by The Associated Press' panel of sports writers and sportscasters. Of the 36 votes cast, Ohio State received 35. The only other first-place ballot went to Detroit.

All-America Jerry Lucas & Co. from Ohio State ran over Army 103-54 Saturday for its third straight victory after fairly easy triumphs over Ohio University and St. Louis.

Bradley, which also rolled to its third straight Saturday by beating Butler 71-65 in the final four minutes, was voted to the No. 2 spot in the poll.

Despite Detroit's one first-place ballot, they had to be content with third place after nosing out Indiana 81-79 in double overtime on Tom Villemure's 20-foot corner shot in the final second. Indiana still polled enough votes for the No. 4 position.

North Carolina ranked fifth, and St. Bonaventure, with four straight, was sixth. Then came St. John's, Duke, Louisville and North Carolina State in that order.

The voting was based on the results of games played through Saturday, Dec. 10. Points were given on the basis of 10 for first place, nine for second, and so on down to one for 10th.

On the basis of points, Ohio State led Bradley 359-272.

The leaders, with won-lost records and first-place votes in parentheses follow:

1.	Ohio State (35) (3-0)	359
2.	Bradley (3-0)	272
3.	Detroit (3-0)	189
4.	Indiana (2-1)	145
5.	North Carolina (2-0)	136
6.	St. Bonaventure (4-0)	116
7.	St. John's (3-0)	72
8.	Duke (3-0)	60
9.	Louisville (5-0)	59
10.	North Car. State (4-0)	49

Boxing Doubleheader Featured At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cecil Shorts and Vince Martinez will be fighting for a chance at the welterweight title tonight when they meet in a 10-round cofeature of the annual Christmas Toyshop Fund boxing show at the Cleveland Arena.

Shorts, 22, a former Cleveland Golden Gloves champion, beat Benny (Kid) Paret just two bouts before the Cuban became champion.

Martinez, 30, of Miami Beach, Fla., fought Virgil Akins for the title two years ago. He is on the comeback trail after seven successive victories and says, "I'll fight any welterweight in the world."

The fight is rated even, but observers who have seen the two boxers in workouts here wonder whether Martinez can cope with Shorts' youth.

In the other 10-round cofeature tonight Pete Rademacher of Columbus, Ga., former Olympic heavyweight champion, will meet Willi Besmanoff, 28-year-old German who now lists Milwaukee as his home.

Bemanoff, a substitute for Alex Miteff, rates the edge in this bout because of his experience. Rademacher is four years older, but has had only 13 professional fights.

Miteff, of Argentina, faces a possible indefinite suspension by the National Boxing Association for pulling out of the fight. Eye specialist Dr. Robert S. Rosner confirmed Monday that Miteff is in no condition to fight because of corneal ulcers, but Matchmaker Larry Atkins argued that if the Argentine boxer had not agreed to serve as a substitute for a fight in London, England, last Tuesday he would have no optical difficulty.

"By taking that fight he abrogated his contract with us and jeopardized the Cleveland fight," Atkins said.

Boxing Commissioner Dave Ott will announce what action will be taken against Miteff after tonight's show as the fighter will not be breaking his contract until he fails to appear in the ring.

Dr. Rosner said Miteff's eye injuries would prevent him from fighting for 10 to 14 days. The injuries apparently were aggravated by use of a sun lamp, the doctor added.

Five other bouts are on the show, a benefit affair for Boystown of Ohio.

Los Angeles, Washington Clubs Will Pick Players

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Weather permitting, the Los Angeles and Washington clubs will pick their players for the new American League baseball teams Wednesday.

The history-making draw had been scheduled for today, but a raging blizzard closed all air traffic in and out of Boston, and Los Angeles officials couldn't make it to the meeting.

Shortly after the meeting was postponed, a league spokesman said the loop had received permission from Commissioner Ford Frick and the National League to extend the interleague trading deadline to midnight Friday. The original deadline was midnight Thursday.

The new teams will select 28 players each from a pool made available by the existing eight teams. Until they make those selections, no American League team will know exactly what players it has to work with, obviously handicapping any trading.

It was for that reason, a league spokesman said, that the loop asked for the trading deadline extension.

The list of 120 major league players available for draft by the two new teams has not been announced officially. The players selected for the two teams will not be announced until the draw is complete.

Each team must select 28 players from the pool at a price of $75,000 per player.

The two teams must pick 10 pitchers, two catchers, six infielders and four outfielders. The other six players can be for any position.

Bucks, Spartans Big 10's Only Undefeated Quintets

Big Ten basketball teams gained a measure of revenge from non-conference foes Monday night although Illinois was toppled from the ranks of the undefeated.

Illinois' 90-81 loss at Colorado left only Ohio State (3-0) and Michigan State (2-0) unbeaten but Indiana, Purdue and Iowa came through with victories against outside opposition.

Indiana, defeated by Detroit Saturday, humbled Missouri 66-55; Purdue beat Detroit 83-64 and Iowa defeated Creighton, 89-71. All three victories came at home.

Illinois' loss at Colorado wasn't surprising since it was the 15th time Big Ten teams have played away from home and they have produced only five victories.

Indiana put on a strong burst in the second half to wipe out a 35-32 Missouri halftime lead and score its third victory in four games. Walt Bellamy led the Hoosiers with 20 points. Tom Bolyard added 15 and Gary Long 14.

Purdue scored its second straight triumph after a pair of initial losses and Terry Dischinger, as usual, was the Boilermaker leader. Dischinger scored 31 points, hitting 11 goals in 18 attempts. Purdue shot .500 as a team with 31 of 62 from the field. Purdue led 45-30 at the half.

Don Nelson and Frank Allen were instrumental in Iowa's third victory in four games. Nelson whipped in 30 points and Allen picked off 15 rebounds.

Illinois never could get in front of Colorado although John Wessels poured in 23 points.

Browns Rate 1½-Point Margin Over New York

CLEVELAND (AP) — The National Football League's highest scoring team, the Cleveland Browns, plays the league's lowest scoring club, the New York Giants, in Yankee Stadium Sunday, and bettors rate the Browns only a 1½-point edge.

And were it not for injuries to a trio of Giants players the Browns probably would be underdogs, in spite of the fact that they have scored 314 points in 11 league games—an average of 28½ points a game—to New York's 137, or 12½ a game.

Halfback Frank Gifford and guard Darrell Dess on the offense and defensive end Jim Katcavage are not expected to be recovered sufficiently from injuries to play Sunday. The Browns' only doubtful starter is offensive end Leon Clarke, who has strained knee ligaments.

What the bettors are thinking of is that the Giants haven't had to be big scorers in whipping the Browns in the last six meetings of the two rivals, because the New York defense has been so tough. The most points the Browns scored in any one of the six losses was 17, and the Cleveland average for the six games was nine points a game.

The Browns want to avenge a 17-13 loss to New York here Nov. 6. Paul Wiggin, Cleveland defensive end, summed up the reasons this way:

"We'll really be going all out in this one. We have all the incentive in the world — those six straight losses to the Giants, that second-place money and that bowl game in Miami between the second-place teams. It should be quite a game."

The average temperature of the sea is about 39 degrees Fahrenheit.

Wilt, Elgin, 'Big O' 1-2-3 In Pro Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain, Elgin Baylor and Oscar Robertson, each a former college All-America, are running one-two-three in the National Basketball Association scoring race, the latest figures released today revealed.

Chamberlain, the Philadelphia Warriors' star, heads the list with 975 points and a 37.5 average. He's followed by Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers with 951 points and a 35.2 average and Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals with 805 and 28.7.

Chamberlain was an All-America in 1957 and '58 at Kansas, Baylor with Seattle in 1958 and Robertson with the University of Cincinnati in 1958, '59 and '60.

Venditti Will Apply At Canton . . .

Lou Venditti, Potter football coach, said late Monday he will apply for the Canton McKinley job.

Listed as one of three top prospects for the opening, Venditti is expected to make formal application within the next few days.

It is a job Venditti always has wanted and he certainly would be foolish to turn it down should it come his way. The McKinley post pays $1,800 a season and a three-year contract is being offered.

At East Liverpool, the head football job is worth $950. Also at Canton, a radio show and other "fringe benefits" go with it.

We're quite sure that nobody would like to see Venditti leave East Liverpool, but on the other hand we would like to see him better himself.

Lou will be one of many applying for the job, but he is well thought of in Canton.

A quick glance at his five-year record here wouldn't attract anyone looking for outstanding won-and-lost figures. But there are numerous items which must be taken into consideration.

The overall record is 26 wins, 22 defeats and 3 ties. His 1956 team was 8-2, followed by 3-6 in 1957. The 1958 team won 2, lost 6 and tied 2. It was 7-3 in 1959 and 6-5 last year.

The big question in studying Venditti's record is: Who has East Liverpool played? The answer: The best in Ohio. The Potters reached their peak this year with such teams as Massillon, Alliance, Youngstown Rayen, Canton Central, Steubenville Central and others.

Lou hasn't been blessed with the best talent in the world, but always has managed to come up with something. In five years he has done the most with the material on hand.

Mason Looks Like Top Candidate . . .

THE COMPETITION for the job is some of the toughest of its kind. At present, Tony Mason of Miles, Ohio's coach of the year, is the leading candidate from what we have gathered.

His record is outstanding. Before moving to Niles, Mason had three undefeated campaigns and a 28-game winning streak at Brookfield.

He picked up at Niles where he left off at Brookfield, when his team went undefeated this season and gained the runnerup spot to Massillon in the final state ratings.

Another top prospect is Joe Malmisur of Lima Senior, a native of Youngstown, Malmisur has kept Lima among Ohio's top 10 during most of his career there.

Shouldn't Take Long . . .

THE TALK around Canton is that it won't take long for officials at McKinley to name a new coach. One of the reasons originates in Massillon.

The two Stark County rivals are fierce competitiors off as well as on the football field.

The fact that Leo Strang, who guided Massillon to its second Ohio football championship, has applied for the University of Cincinnati job, has more or less put more pressure on Canton to name a coach in a hurry.

If Strang would go to Cincinnati, Massillon would need a football coach and the competition would continue.

Massillon would be shooting for the best naturally and so is McKinley. Speculation has it that Mason would be very interested in the Massillon post. Who wouldn't?

The Canton job became available officially Saturday when Jim Robinson resigned.

Cunningham Slowed Down? . . .

THE QUESTION Saturday night following the East Liverpool-Alliance game was; How would Kenny Cunningham do on two legs?

The charley horse which has bothered Cunningham did keep the Potter star from driving, faking and jumping like he wanted to do.

The injury is a stiffness in the upper part of the leg, which slows him down.

Up until the fourth quarter, Kenny was having only an average night. In three quarters, he had scored 17 points but in the eight minutes of the final period he let go with 16 and almost pulled the game out of the fire.

He tallied East Liverpool's last 10 points. His shooting percentage for the first game, taking his injury into consideration, was outstanding. Of 28 shots, 16 brushed through the nets.

Injury or no injury Cunningham gave it all he had in that do-or-die last quarter and had the Alliance Aviators running around in circles.

Senate Committee Hears Testimony Of Williams

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators call Frank (Blinky) Palermo and Sonny Liston, top contender for the heavyweight championship, for quizzing today in hearings on mobster influence on boxing.

Palermo, a Philadelphia rackets figure, gets a chance to answer testimony by former lightweight champion Ike Williams that Palermo had relayed bribe offers totaling more than $180,000 to throw fights. Palermo was his manager at the time.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, conducting the inquiry, has heard testimony that mobsters grab off a lion's share of Liston's earnings. The subcommittee indicated in advance its members want to find out whether Liston knows anything about this.

Liston's manager, Joseph P. (Pep) Barone of Allentown, Pa., is reported too ill in an Allentown hospital to testify. The investigators have heard St. Louis police testimony that 52 per cent of Liston's ring earnings go to New York gangster Frankie Carbo, 12 per cent to Fifth Amendment pleading St. Louis hoodlum John J. Vitale, and 12 per cent to Palermo.

Liston launched his ring career after receiving a parole from prison, where he was serving a term for armed robbery.

Williams, now 20 pounds heavier than when he ruled the 135-pound division from 1945-51, testified Palermo had reported that someone—he did not identify the other party—had offered big money to throw fights with Jimmy Carter, Kid Gavilan, Freddie Dawson and Juste Fontaine.

Palermo, he said, recommended against accepting the bribes but left it up to Williams.

Williams said he rejected each one but conceded Monday he wished he had taken $100,000 for his nontitle scrap with Gavilan in 1949 and $50,000 for his last bout as champ—with Carter in 1951.

Gavilan beat him anyway, Williams recalled, and Carter dethroned him. He whipped Dawson and Fontaine.

Subcommittee Chairman Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., suggested that on looking back, Williams could feel better because he resisted temptation.

"I do not, senator," Williams persisted. "I do not."

Since then, Williams ruefully recalled, a lot of friends he had not wanted to disappoint had run out on him.

Now taking home $92.97 every other week from his job as a warehouseman for the State of New Jersey, Williams estimated that in the ring, "give or take a few thousand, I made a million dollars."

The former champ, now 37, whose identity had been concealed before he testified, said he never saw a penny of $65,000 in purses for two title matches in 1948. Palermo spent it before he could get his hands on it, Williams said.

Ohio State Ranked No. 1 In First National Poll

Bradley Listed Second

By The Associated Press

Ohio State, the defending NCAA basketball champion, leads the field in the first weekly poll by The Associated Press' panel of sports writers and sportscasters. Of the 36 votes cast, Ohio State received 35. The only other first-place ballot went to Detroit.

Rigney Signed To Manage LA Club In 1961

LOS ANGELES (AP) — San Francisco didn't want him, but Los Angeles has signed volatile Bill Rigney to manage its American League baseball team in 1961.

Rigney, deposed by the Giants midway in the 1960 season, signed a one-year contract with the Angels Monday. He and Gen. Mgr. Fred Haney flew today to the American League draft meeting in Boston to get a few ballplayers.

Haney said nobody had signed. But veteran catcher Del Rice, who played with the St. Louis Cardinals and with Haney in Milwaukee, said in Centralia, Ill., that Haney had asked him to serve as catcher-coach.

Haney said he had made a contingent offer to Rice "before I was appointed general manager of the Angels," but he left no doubt that he wanted Rice.

"I also have talked to Red Schoendienst," said Haney. Milwaukee released Schoendienst, and St. Louis offered him a contract, but Haney indicated he hopes to land the ex-Cardinal second baseman.

Racing Called Off At Pimlico Track

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Only the horses will be outdoors," a Pimlico publicity blurb proclaimed at the opening of an "autumn" meeting Nov. 14.

Not even the horses were out today.

Sunday's snowfall a foot deep on the track made it impossible for the horses to race Monday. And road conditions were expected to be still hazardous today so Pimlico canceled again.

Pimlico thought it had the weather beaten when it enclosed its grandstand in glass last year and added a new clubhouse with similar protection last month.

Pimlico's 28-day meeting had been scheduled to come to an end Thursday.

Blanks Louisville In Match Points

Beaver Local Drubs Foe In Opening Mat Victory

With the exception of the heavyweight match — final event of the program — Beaver Local's wrestlers ripped through a visiting Louisville squad, 34-5, in posting their first mat win of the season Monday.

The Beaver Local grapplers won 10 straight matches and showed their superior strength by not allowing Louisville one match point. Each decision recorded by one of Coach Jack O'Rourke's wrestlers was a shutout.

The only loss on the 11-event card was in the heavyweight match when Romick pinned Keith Berger in 3:50. At the time of the pin Berger was leading 4-0.

Carl Hoppel, 133, decisioned Biery, a state semi-finalist last year, 7-0.

Other decisions were recorded by Wayne Hickman (112) 5-0 over Samblanet; Francis Possage (120) 8-0 over J. Weigand; Larry Yost (138) 5-0 over Dehoff; Dave Stacey (145) 4-0 over Krabill; Jim Hall (154) 6-0 over L. Weigand; Francis Campbell (165) 6-0 over Shanks.

John Steele, a transfer from Youngstown South who wrestled in competition for the first time Monday, blanked Bardash 6-0 in a decision. Steele, a junior, wrestles at 175.

John Cook, Beaver Local's 103-pounder won by a forfeit.

Beaver Local meets Wheeling Linsly Thursday at 6:30 in the Beaver Local gym.

The results follow:

103 — Cook (BL) won by forfeit.
112 — Hickman (BL) decisioned Samblanet (L) 5-0.
120 — Possage (BL) decisioned J. Wigand (L) 8-0.
127 — R. Hoppel (BL) pinned Stubblafield (L) :34 seconds.
133 — C. Hoppel (BL) decisioned Biery (L) 7-0.
138 — Yost (BL) decisioned Dehoff (L) 5-0.
145 — Stacey (BL) decisioned Krabill (L) 4-0.
154 — Hall (BL) decisioned L. Weigand (L) 5-0.
165 — Campbell (BL) decisioned Shanks (L) 6-0.
175 — Steele (BL) decisioned Bardash (L) 6-0.
Heavyweigh t— Romick (L) pinned Berger (BL) 3:50.

Chisox' Baumann Wins Mound Championship

BOSTON (AP) — Frank Baumann, Chicago's strong young lefthander, won the American League's 1960 pitching championship with a 2.68 earned run average.

The official league pitchng averages were released today, confirming unofficial averages announced at the close of the season.

The White Sox acquired the durable 27-year-old Baumann in an offseason trade with Boston.

With the White Sox last season he was 13-6, completing 7 of 20 starts with 2 shutouts and, in 185 innings, allowed only 11 home runs.

Jim Bunning of Detroit, who lost more than he won, was second in ERA with a 2.79 mark. Bunning, a righthander, had a 11-14 record and led the league in strikeouts, whiffing 201 in 252 innings.

He and Baumann were the only pitchers qualifying for the leadership—pitching 150 innings or more—who had an earned run mark below 3.00.

New York's Jim Coates, a righthander, finished with a 13-3 record and an .813 percentage, tops in the league.

There were no 20-game winners last season. Chuck Estrada of Baltimore and Jim Perry of Cleveland won the most, 18 each.

Michigan Coach Will Try To Beat His Former Team

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan basketball Coach Dave Strack, preparing to face Idaho here Wednesday, is in the odd position of trying to beat himself at his own game.

Last year, as Idaho head coach, Strack found himself with an open date and called U-M's coach, Bill Perigo, to arrange a game.

"I thought Michigan would be a good team for Idaho to play, partly because of the prestige," said Strack. "Now I'm not so sure."

Michigan, which lost its fourth of five starts Saturday to Drake, 83-72, will meet an Idaho team largely built by Strack himself.

Idaho has a 1-3 record this season.

Kemp, Tripucka In Passing Duel

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) —The battle for passing supremacy in the American Football League has ended up in a two-man duel between Jack Kemp of Los Angeles and Frank Tripucka of Denver.

The third-place slot was captured by Al Dorow of New York who had the finest game of the season last week. He hit 29 of 48 attempts, gave up no interceptions and gained 375 yards.

Kemp is still leading with an efficiency point total of 46½ to 45½ for Tripucka, and 42½ for Dorow.

For his fine performance last Sunday, Dorow today was named the league's outstanding player of the week on offense for the third time this season.

He passed for three touchdowns and ran 12 yards for another score in the Titans' 31-28 victory over the Oakland Raiders.

West Virginia Hunters Bagged 16,000 Deer

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia hunters bagged approximately 16,000 deer during the recent six-day firearms season.

The Conservation Department reported Monday that it had received reports of 15,797 kills, but that figure likely will increase in the final tabulation.

FIGHT RESULTS

New York — Gale Kerwin, 146, Ottawa, Ont., and Eddie Jordan, 142½, Brooklyn, drew, 10.

Chicago — T. J. Jones, 151½, Chicago, stopped Tony Dupas, 151, New Orleans, 4.

Pretoria — Mike Holt, South Africa, outpointed Gawie de Klerk, South Africa, 10 (heavyweights — weights unavailable).

San Francisco — Billy Thomas, 131, Marin City, Calif., outpointed George Page, 131¼, Auburn, Calif., 10.

Lucas Leads Big 10 On 27-Point Average

CHICAGO (AP) — All-America Jerry Lucas stepped out in front in the Big Ten all-games basketball scoring race this week with a nifty 27.0 average.

The Ohio State junior has collected 81 points in three games to push ahead of Iowa's Don Nelson. Nelson has a 25.7 average with 103 points in four games.

John Tidwell of Michigan is third with 127 points in five games for a 25.4 average.

Lucas has 25 field goals and 31 out of 36 free throws. His teammate, Larry Siegfried, is seventh in the conference with an 18.0 average on 19 fielders and 16 of 17 fouls for 54 points.

Springfield's Sweeney Takes AHL Point Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Sweeney of the pace-setting Springfield Indians has replaced Buffalo's Larry Wilson as the top scorer in the American Hockey League.

Sweeney collected four points in last week's action, giving him 43 for the campaign. Wilson had only two points and dropped into second place with 42.

Art Stratton of Springfield is third with 38 points followed by Phil Maloney, Buffalo captain, with 37. Harry Pidhirny of Springfield has the most goals, 20.

Marcel Paille continues to lead the goaltenders. The Springfield star has yielded an average of only 2.55 goals a game.

'Bama One-Point Pick Over Texas In Bluebonnet

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The University of Alabama is a one-point favorite to beat the University of Texas in the second Bluebonnet Bowl football game here Saturday.

The bowl, which oddsmakers have established as the closest of the postseason matches, starts at 1 p.m. (CST) and will be televised nationally. Officials expect a sellout in Rice's 70,000-seat stadium.

The meeting of Darrell Royal of Texas and Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama figures to be a defensive battle between strong defenses and could easily be decided by a kicker's toe.

Royal's Longhorns lost two games this season on field goals and Alabama closed out its regular season with a 3-0 win over Auburn.

This season, Longhorn foes made 2,144 yards. Alabama gave up only 1,576.

Purdue, Indiana Chalk Up Impressive Cage Victories

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Purdue and Indiana, the two teams figured to give national collegiate basketball champion Ohio State a run for the money in the Big Ten Conference chase, were looking up in the world today after important victories.

Purdue, beaten by Pitt and Penn State before overpowering Ball State, lowered the boom on previously unbeaten Detroit, 83-64. Indiana rallied from a 35-32 deficit at halftime to defeat Missouri, one of four teams who beat the Hoosiers last season, 66-55.

Terry Dischinger, who played on the victorious U. S. Olympic team at Rome, led the charge against the Detroit Titans with 31 points. The Titans rated a No. 3 spot in the first weekly Associated Press nationwide poll, after beating South Dakota State, Utah State and Indiana.

The unbeaten Bradley Braves won their 37th straight home victory by belting Northern Michigan 105-77 to make it 4-0 and certify a No. 2 poll rating behind Ohio State, which is idle until a major test against Wichita on Saturday.

Georgia Tech, winner of three straight, finally was beaten as the University of Louisville opened the Bluegrass Invitational Tournament with a 74-65 victory.

Louisville meets Western Kentucky, 86-72 winner over Utah State, in the Bluegrass finals tonight. Louisville is rated No. 9 in the first AP poll. Western Kentucky made it 5-0.

St. Bonaventure, the country's No. 6 team, made it 5-0 by smashing Xavier of Ohio 85-75, after leading at halftime 46-29.

Southwest Conference teams, with a bleak record against intersectional rivals, again got clipped, Louisiana State beat Texas, defending Southwest champions, 62-59. Brigham Young beat Texas Christian 74-65, and Tulane went into overtime to defeat Rice 84-83. Texas Tech saved the night by beating New Orleans Loyola 78-74.

Colorado ran its string to 5-0 by defeating touring Illinois 90-81, and Duquesne—winner of its first four games, was stopped in overtime by Bowling Green of Ohio, 68-65. Vanderbilt made it four straight without loss by rallying in the last half to down Alabama 77-61.

Duke remained unbeaten in four starts by trouncing South Carolina 107-79 in an Atlantic Conference game, and Florida State defeated Clemson 74-57. Kansas State defeated New Mexico 81-64.

Duquesne Is Upset By Bowling Green

By The Associated Press

It was a bad night for two previously unbeaten teams—Ohio Wesleyan and Duquesne—on Ohio college basketball courts Monday night.

And it was equally disastrous for Xavier of Cincinnati, defeated for the first time in its last 15 home games.

Ohio Wesleyan, which piled up five straight victories, four in the Ohio Conference and none by more than four points, fell before Otterbein 66-55.

Bowling Green, the decided underdog with a 2-3 record going into the contest against Duquesne, marred the Pittsburghers' four consecutive triumphs by coming from behind to win an overtime battle 68-65.

St. Bonaventure, rated No. 6 in the nation, ran its record to 5-0 by trouncing Xavier 85-75.

In other Ohio college action, Huntington of Indiana whipped Bluffton, 99-87; Kentucky State moved out in front early and beat Wilberforce 79-68, in a game marred by 51 fouls; and Central State edged Steubenville 67-64 on the basis of foul shooting as the Barons' record fell to 1-3.

Otterbein (3-2), in winning its second straight Ohio Conference fray, hit 41 per cent from the floor to Wesleyan's 35 per cent. The Otters held a 29-24 halftime lead.

Bowling Green, after leading Duquesne most of the first half, trailed 36-33 at intermission and fell behind by as much as seven points in the second half. The Falcons didn't catch the Dukes until only 61 seconds were left to play when they tied the score at 61-all.

Regulation play ended on that note after desperation shots by both teams in the last eight seconds failed to click.

In the overtime, Bowling Green took a 66-63 lead which was cut to one point by a Duquesne bucket with five seconds remaining. But the Falcons then iced the victory as Eli Chatman was fouled and made both free throws.

St. Bonaventure, with Fred Crawford hitting for 26 points and Tom Stith 25, jumped to an 8-0 lead over Xavier, enlarged it to 32-13 and then 46-29 at the half. The Bonnies, falling short of their 93-point game average, did not ease their tight trip until late in the second half when Xavier cut the margin to 10 points.

The game was won on the free throw line, since the Bonnies made but 29 buckets to the Musketeers' 32—on 55 and 72 attempts, respectively.

Dawson Hits In Clutch In Bowling Green Win

Bob Dawson, an East Liverpool product playing at Bowling Green, only scored eight points but they were important markers when the Falcons upset Duquesne Monday night, 68-65 in overtime. It was Dawson's jump shot which deadlocked the game at the end of regulation time, 61-61 then he scored three points in the overtime.

Absent when the picture was taken were Bob Gilmore and Gene Wolfe.

Blanks Louisville In Match Points

Beaver Local Drubs Foe In Opening Mat Victory

With the exception of the heavyweight match — final event of the program — Beaver Local's wrestlers ripped through a visiting Louisville squad, 34-5, in posting their first mat win of the season Monday.

The Beaver Local grapplers won 10 straight matches and showed their superior strength by not allowing Louisville one match point. Each decision recorded by one of Coach Jack O'Rourke's wrestlers was a shutout.

The only loss on the 11-event card was in the heavyweight match when Romick pinned Keith Berger in 3:50. At the time of the pin Berger was leading 4-0.

Rick Hoppel, a cousin of state champ Carl Hoppel, claimed the only pin for Beaver Local by dropping Stubblafield in 34 seconds of the 127-pound match.

Carl Hoppel, 133, decisioned Biery, a state semi-finalist last year, 7-0.

Other decisions were recorded by Wayne Hickman (112) 5-0 over Samblanet; Francis Possage (120) 8-0 over J. Weigand; Larry Yost (138) 5-0 over Dehoff; Dave Stacey (145) 4-0 over Krabill; Jim Hall (154) 6-0 over L. Weigand; Francis Campbell (165) 6-0 over Shanks.

John Steele, a transfer from Youngstown South who wrestled in competition for the first time Monday, blanked Bardash 6-0 in a decision. Steele, a junior, wrestles at 175.

John Cook, Beaver Local's 103-pounder won by a forfeit.

Beaver Local meets Wheeling Linsly Thursday at 6:30 in the Beaver Local gym.

The results follow:

103 — Cook (BL) won by forfeit.
112 — Hickman (BL) decisioned Samblanet (L) 5-0.
120 — Possage (BL) decisioned J. Wigand (L) 8-0.
127 — R. Hoppel (BL) pinned Stubblafield (L) :34 seconds.
133 — C. Hoppel (BL) decisioned Biery (L) 7-0.
138 — Yost (BL) decisioned Dehoff (L) 5-0.
145 — Stacey (BL) decisioned Krabill (L) 4-0.
154 — Hall (BL) decisioned L. Weigand (L) 5-0.
165 — Campbell (BL) decisioned Shanks (L) 6-0.
175 — Steele (BL) decisioned Bardash (L) 6-0.
Heavyweigh t— Romick (L) pinned Berger (BL) 3:50.

Chisox' Baumann Wins Mound Championship

BOSTON (AP) — Frank Baumann, Chicago's strong young lefthander, won the American League's 1960 pitching championship with a 2.68 earned run average.

The official league pitchng averages were released today, confirming unofficial averages announced at the close of the season.

The White Sox acquired the durable 27-year-old Baumann in an offseason trade with Boston.

With the White Sox last season he was 13-6, completing 7 of 20 starts with 2 shutouts and, in 185 innings, allowed only 11 home runs.

Jim Bunning of Detroit, who lost more than he won, was second in ERA with a 2.79 mark. Bunning, a righthander, had a 11-14 record and led the league in strikeouts, whiffing 201 in 252 innings.

He and Baumann were the only pitchers qualifying for the leadership—pitching 150 innings or more—who had an earned run mark below 3.00.

New York's Jim Coates, a righthander, finished with a 13-3 record and an .813 percentage, tops in the league.

There were no 20-game winners last season. Chuck Estrada of Baltimore and Jim Perry of Cleveland won the most, 18 each.

West Virginia Hunters Bagged 16,000 Deer

CHARLESTON (AP) — West Virginia hunters bagged approximately 16,000 deer during the recent six-day firearms season.

The Conservation Department reported Monday that it had received reports of 15,797 kills, but that figure likely will increase in the final tabulation.

Michigan Coach Will Try To Beat His Former Team

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan basketball Coach Dave Strack, preparing to face Idaho here Wednesday, is in the odd position of trying to beat himself at his own game.

Last year, as Idaho head coach, Strack found himself with an open date and called U-M's coach, Bill Perigo, to arrange a game.

"I thought Michigan would be a good team for Idaho to play, partly because of the prestige," said Strack. "Now I'm not so sure."

Michigan, which lost its fourth of five starts Saturday to Drake, 83-72, will meet an Idaho team largely built by Strack himself.

Idaho has a 1-3 record this season.

Kemp, Tripucka In Passing Duel

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) —The battle for passing supremacy in the American Football League has ended up in a two-man duel between Jack Kemp of Los Angeles and Frank Tripucka of Denver.

The third-place slot was captured by Al Dorow of New York who had the finest game of the season last week. He hit 29 of 48 attempts, gave up no interceptions and gained 375 yards.

Kemp is still leading with an efficiency point total of 46½ to 45½ for Tripucka, and 42½ for Dorow.

For his fine performance last Sunday, Dorow today was named the league's outstanding player of the week on offense for the third time this season.

He passed for three touchdowns and ran 12 yards for another score in the Titans' 31-28 victory over the Oakland Raiders.

FIGHT RESULTS

New York — Gale Kerwin, 146, Ottawa, Ont., and Eddie Jordan, 142½, Brooklyn, drew, 10.

Chicago — T. J. Jones, 151½, Chicago, stopped Tony Dupas, 151, New Orleans, 4.

Pretoria — Mike Holt, South Africa, outpointed Gawie de Klerk, South Africa, 10 (heavyweights — weights unavailable).

San Francisco — Billy Thomas, 131, Marin City, Calif., outpointed George Page, 131¼, Auburn, Calif., 10.

Lucas Leads Big 10 On 27-Point Average

CHICAGO (AP) — All-America Jerry Lucas stepped out in front in the Big Ten all-games basketball scoring race this week with a nifty 27.0 average.

The Ohio State junior has collected 81 points in three games to push ahead of Iowa's Don Nelson. Nelson has a 25.7 average with 103 points in four games.

John Tidwell of Michigan is third with 127 points in five games for a 25.4 average.

Lucas has 25 field goals and 31 out of 36 free throws. His teammate, Larry Siegfried, is seventh in the conference with an 18.0 average on 19 fielders and 16 of 17 fouls for 54 points.

Springfield's Sweeney Takes AHL Point Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Sweeney of the pace-setting Springfield Indians has replaced Buffalo's Larry Wilson as the top scorer in the American Hockey League.

Sweeney collected four points in last week's action, giving him 43 for the campaign. Wilson had only two points and dropped into second place with 42.

Art Stratton of Springfield is third with 38 points followed by Phil Maloney, Buffalo captain, with 37. Harry Pidhirny of Springfield has the most goals, 20.

Marcel Paille continues to lead the goaltenders. The Springfield star has yielded an average of only 2.55 goals a game.

Purdue, Indiana Chalk Up Impressive Cage Victories

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Purdue and Indiana, the two teams figured to give national collegiate basketball champion Ohio State a run for the money in the Big Ten Conference chase, were looking up in the world today after important victories.

Purdue, beaten by Pitt and Penn State before overpowering Ball State, lowered the boom on previously unbeaten Detroit, 83-64. Indiana rallied from a 35-32 deficit at halftime to defeat Missouri, one of four teams who beat the Hoosiers last season, 66-55.

Terry Dischinger, who played on the victorious U. S. Olympic team at Rome, led the charge against the Detroit Titans with 31 points. The Titans rated a No. 3 spot in the first weekly Associated Press nationwide poll, after beating South Dakota State, Utah State and Indiana.

The unbeaten Bradley Braves won their 37th straight home victory by belting Northern Michigan 105-77 to make it 4-0 and certify a No. 2 poll rating behind Ohio State, which is idle until a major test against Wichita on Saturday.

Georgia Tech, winner of three straight, finally was beaten as the University of Louisville opened the Bluegrass Invitational Tournament with a 74-65 victory.

Louisville meets Western Kentucky, 86-72 winner over Utah State, in the Bluegrass finals tonight. Louisville is rated No. 9 in the first AP poll. Western Kentucky made it 5-0.

St. Bonaventure, the country's No. 6 team, made it 5-0 by smashing Xavier of Ohio 85-75, after leading at halftime 46-29.

Southwest Conference teams, with a bleak record against intersectional rivals, again got clipped, Louisiana State beat Texas, defending Southwest champions, 62-59. Brigham Young beat Texas Christian 74-65, and Tulane went into overtime to defeat Rice 84-83. Texas Tech saved the night by beating New Orleans Loyola 78-74.

Colorado ran its string to 5-0 by defeating touring Illinois 90-81, and Duquesne—winner of its first four games, was stopped in overtime by Bowling Green of Ohio, 68-65. Vanderbilt made it four straight without loss by rallying in the last half to down Alabama 77-61.

Duke remained unbeaten in four starts by trouncing South Carolina 107-79 in an Atlantic Conference game, and Florida State defeated Clemson 74-57. Kansas State defeated New Mexico 81-64.

Duquesne Is Upset By Bowling Green

By The Associated Press

It was a bad night for two previously unbeaten teams—Ohio Wesleyan and Duquesne—on Ohio college basketball courts Monday night.

And it was equally disastrous for Xavier of Cincinnati, defeated for the first time in its last 15 home games.

Ohio Wesleyan, which piled up five straight victories, four in the Ohio Conference and none by more than four points, fell before Otterbein 66-55.

Bowling Green, the decided underdog with a 2-3 record going into the contest against Duquesne, marred the Pittsburghers' four consecutive triumphs by coming from behind to win an overtime battle 68-65.

St. Bonaventure, rated No. 6 in the nation, ran its record to 5-0 by trouncing Xavier 85-75.

In other Ohio college action, Huntington of Indiana whipped Bluffton, 99-87; Kentucky State moved out in front early and beat Wilberforce 79-68, in a game marred by 51 fouls; and Central State edged Steubenville 67-64 on the basis of foul shooting as the Barons' record fell to 1-3.

Otterbein (3-2), in winning its second straight Ohio Conference fray, hit 41 per cent from the floor to Wesleyan's 35 per cent. The Otters held a 29-24 halftime lead.

Bowling Green, after leading Duquesne most of the first half, trailed 36-33 at intermission and fell behind by as much as seven points in the second half. The Falcons didn't catch the Dukes until only 61 seconds were left to play when they tied the score at 61-all.

Regulation play ended on that note after desperation shots by both teams in the last eight seconds failed to click.

In the overtime, Bowling Green took a 66-63 lead which was cut to one point by a Duquesne bucket with five seconds remaining. But the Falcons then iced the victory as Eli Chatman was fouled and made both free throws.

St. Bonaventure, with Fred Crawford hitting for 26 points and Tom Stith 25, jumped to an 8-0 lead over Xavier, enlarged it to 32-13 and then 46-29 at the half. The Bonnies, falling short of their 93-point game average, did not ease their tight trip until late in the second half when Xavier cut the margin to 10 points.

The game was won on the free throw line, since the Bonnies made but 29 buckets to the Musketeers' 32—on 55 and 72 attempts, respectively.

Dawson Hits In Clutch In Bowling Green Win

Bob Dawson, an East Liverpool product playing at Bowling Green, only scored eight points but they were important markers when the Falcons upset Duquesne Monday night, 68-65 in overtime. It was Dawson's jump shot which deadlocked the game at the end of regulation time, 61-61 then he scored three points in the overtime.

'Bama One-Point Pick Over Texas In Bluebonnet

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The University of Alabama is a one-point favorite to beat the University of Texas in the second Bluebonnet Bowl football game here Saturday.

The bowl, which oddsmakers have established as the closest of the postseason matches, starts at 1 p.m. (CST) and will be televised nationally. Officials expect a sellout in Rice's 70,000-seat stadium.

The meeting of Darrell Royal of Texas and Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama figures to be a defensive battle between strong defenses and could easily be decided by a kicker's toe.

Royal's Longhorns lost two games this season on field goals and Alabama closed out its regular season with a 3-0 win over Auburn.

This season, Longhorn foes made 2,144 yards. Alabama gave up only 1,576.

Renewals of ads that appeared the previous day, cancellations and corrections may be made until 9:00 A. M. on the day of publication.

The Review is a member of the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers which includes practically all leading newspapers throughout the country and has for one of its aims the elimination of fraudulent and misleading classified advertising.

TO PLACE YOUR WANT AD

Phone FU 5-4545, or mail it to the Review, Want Ad Dept., 210 East Fourth St., E. Liverpool, O.; or visit the Want Ad Desk. Cards of Thanks, In Memoriam Notices, Situations Wanted and Wanted To Rent advertisements must be accompanied by cash. All other Want Ads can be accepted by mail or over the telephone and a statement of the charge will be mailed to you.

Deadline 5:30 P. M. the day before publication. On Mondays and on mornings following legal holidays advertisements are accepted until 9:00 A. M. the day of publication.

The Review as well as every other member of the Association endeavors to print only truthful classified advertisements and will appreciate having its attention called to any advertising not conforming to the highest standard of honesty.

Budget Filed For Wellsville School Band

A request for a budget of $2,700 for the instrumental department for 1961-62 was presented the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night by Theodore Koenig, band director.

Koenig was informed the board will study the budget and needs and then let him know later what action can be taken.

Koenig explained that $550 is needed for repairs to four tubas, $196 for protective cases, $225 for a new baritone horn, $884 for portable risers for seating the band and approximately $200 for other repairs to instruments. All are estimates. He said a two small filing cabinets, costing approximately $80, are needed for storing music.

Koenig also briefly outlined what he estimates will be needed each year through 1964. He listed each individual instrument in the department, its condition and the repairs needed.

Supt. S. E. Daw said the music department is growing and there is no doubt more money will be needed.

Earl Bake, president, said there is nothing the board can do this year but that the request will be studied.

Koenig said the Band Mothers are working toward the purchase of new uniforms for the entire band. The project will cost about $7,000, he said.

Bake suggested that the present uniforms be repaired and the Band Mothers take the remainder of the money and put it on repairs of instruments.

Russell Dysert, member, said "the longer the repairs are delayed the worse they will get. "Koenig displayed a tuba to indicate repairs needed.

Raymond S. Rolley, clerk, pointed out to the board that approximately $13,000 balance will be on hand at the end of the month. He said this will just meet the January bills and the board still will have to meet a $36,000 payroll.

He reported a balance of $87,300.95 as of Nov. 30.

Daw turned over $210.91 collected in fees to Rolley. A request was received from Carl McDevitt, basketball coach, for construction of a storage bin for equipment in the lockerroom.

A request was filed by William Menough, high school principal, for a small filing cabinet for use in the office to store current records.

The board approved a request for purchase of two aquariums, two aquarium kits and slides for the biology department. The cost will be $64.90. The board will be reimbursed 50 per cent of the cost under a federal aid program.

A fee of $5 plus janitor costs was set for use of the MacDonald School gym on Saturday mornings for the Ministerial Association. The ministers plan to set up a church basketball league.

Daw reported he has received favorable reaction to a proposal to initiate television classroom work in area schools. He announced the proposal last month.

The annual reorganization meeting was set for Monday, Jan. 2, at 10 a. m.

Richard Grills was absent. It was announced Christmas vacation will be from Wednesday, Dec. 21, through Tuesday, Jan. 3. The original schedule called for school to resume Monday, Jan. 2, but it was pointed out the holiday will be observed on Monday.

Christmas Seal Sale Nears Halfway Mark

LISBON—The Columbiana County Public Health League's Christmas Seal sale has almost reached the halfway mark after four weeks, according to a report by Miss Lillian Schroeder, executive director. The collection was listed at $16,836.78 with a goal of $33,000.

A breakdown, with goals in parenthesis, shows:

Butler and Knox Townships, $622 ($1,000); Center, $1,307.25 ($2,400); Elkrun, $123 ($200); Fairfield, $1,801.25 ($3,300); Franklin and Wayne, $76.50 ($200); Hanover, $379.50 ($650); Liverpool and St. Clair, $4,307.30 ($9,225); Madison, $98.50 ($200).

Middleton, $214 ($475); Perry, $3,873.75 ($7,400); Salem, $841.25 ($1,500); Unity, $1,596.50 ($3,000); Washington, $283.95 ($650); West, $208.50 ($400), and Yellow Creek, $1,103.50 ($2,400).

Cleveland Council OKs Urban Renewal Plan

CLEVELAND (AP)—City Council gave unanimous approval to the plan for the Erieview urban renewal project Monday night. Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze immediately signed legislation making the plan official.

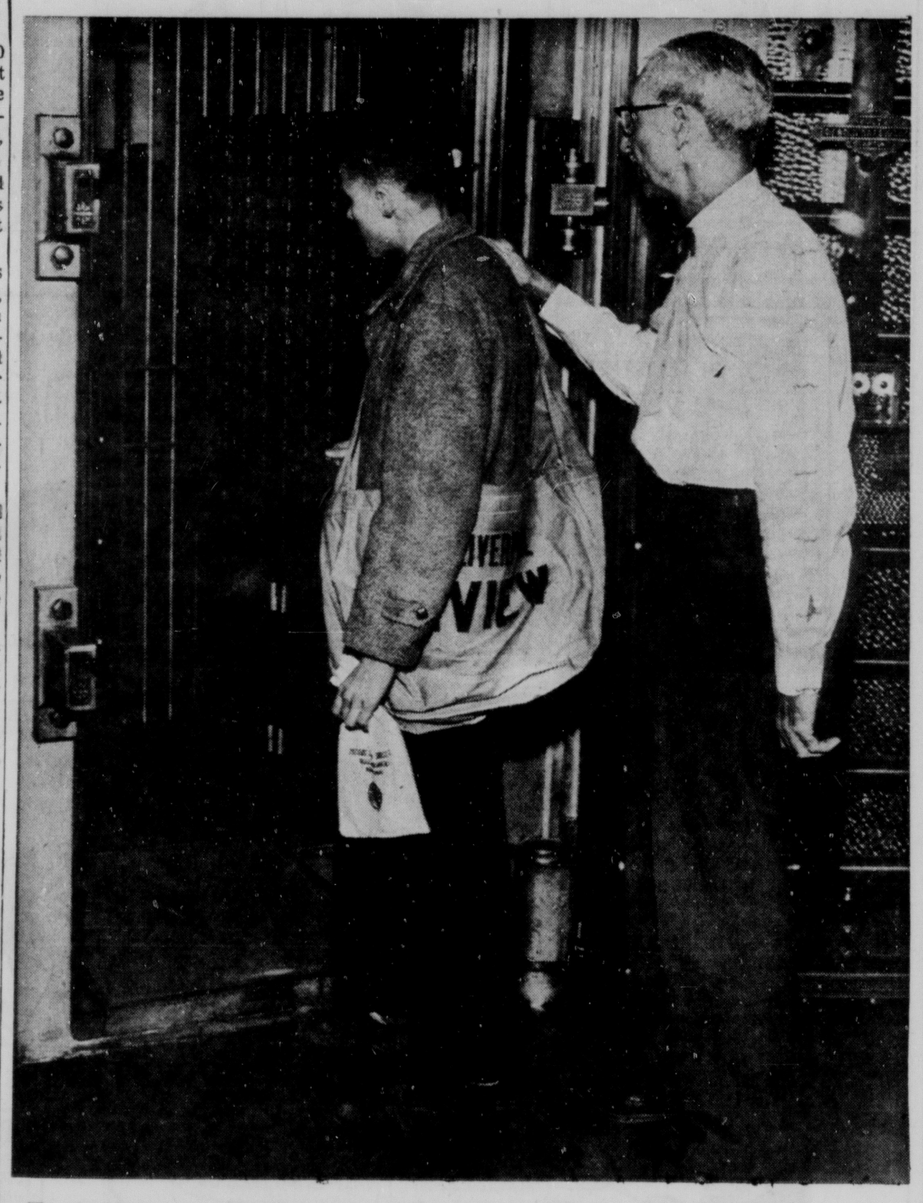
The plan involves proposals for a complex of apartment towers, office buildings, plazas and other structures in an area bounded approximately by East 9th Street, East 17th Street, Memorial Shoreway and Chester Avenue. Celebrezze says present property will be purchased and the land cleared as developers offer specific proposals for construction.

Vice Adm. Angas Dies

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—Vice Adm. William Mack Angas, retired, 68, commander of Seabee operations for the 7th Fleet in World War II, died Monday. He had been serving as chairman of the Princeton University Department of Civil Engineering.

Under Review 'Little Merchant' Plan

More Newsboys Become Bankers



The checking account plan set up by The Review for its newspaperboys has been expanded to include the 21 carriers in Wellsville.

Richard Kay, manager of the Wellsville branch of the Potters Bank & Trust Co., is showing Richard Bratt, 513 Commerce St., the vault which will hold the weekly deposits he makes.

Under the program, the youngsters make their collections Thursday and Friday evenings of each week to permit them to make their deposits Saturday morning.

Each carrier prepares his own deposit slip and has his own bank book. He makes out a check payable to The Review to cover the amount of his weekly bill for papers he delivered.

The checking account plan is another phase of the "Little Merchant" program designed to train boys to better qualify themselves for the future as citizens and businessmen.

Arrangements for the account plan were made by Marvin Roberts, Review circulation manager, with the cooperation of bank officials.

Despite Supreme Court Move

New Orleans School Issue Seen No Nearer Solution

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans school integration hassle seemed no closer to solution today, despite U. S. Supreme Court action in smashing the state's legal barriers to integration.

The State Legislature in Baton Rouge plowed ahead in its fourth attempt to remove the Orleans Parish School Board for accepting federal court orders for token school integration.

Legislators called the high court ruling asinine and ridiculous.

The white boycott held firm at Frantz and McDonogh No. 19, the two schools integrated Nov. 14. School officials said they doubted if more than eight pupils would attend Frantz in the near future.

One Negro girl is in the first grade at Frantz. Three Negro girls in the first grade remain the only pupils attending McDonogh.

Although the boycott continued to work at the two schools, external evidences of it continued to decline. Only a handful of women huddled in a yard across from the school to watch U. S. deputy marshals escort the eight white and one Negro students to Frantz.

This was the same number that attended Friday but was considerably below the 23 who went last Tuesday before segregationists stepped up their behind-the-scenes pressure campaign.

In Washington, the nine Supreme Court judges ruled unanimously against Louisiana's appeal for a stay of a three-court federal court decision Nov. 30 that struck down the state's anti-integration legal arsenal and refused to suspend integration.

Although the court ruling was not directly on the three-judge court's actions, it in effect affirmed them.

Specifically, the judges blasted interposition, a theory under which the state claimed to place itself between the federal court and the people of Louisiana to prevent school integration.

In a four-paragraph unsigned opinion, the judges agreed with the lower court that interposition is unconstitutional and, "if taken seriously, it is an illegal defiance of constitutional authority."

The school board said it would ask a court hearing on the three-judge ruling itself.

School Board Okays Program For Building

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Board of Education has approved a two-year building program which will cost more than $11 million. Approval came Monday after a public hearing at which no opposition to the program was voiced.

The program calls for construction to be completed in 1962, of six new elementary schools and one junior high school and additions to six elementary schools and one junior high. It will provide a total of 192 new classrooms.

Club To Hear Record

LISBON — A tape recording of brain washing technique used by the Russians on Korean War prisoners will be played at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon in the Pythian Hall. It was provided by Maj. W. E. Mayor, mental health director of Hawaii. O. Dale Mason is program chairman.

Clyde B. Pike Named Lisbon Councilman

LISBON — Clyde B. Pike, 270 E. Pine St., was appointed as the new member of Council Monday night by Mayor Dean Stockman. Council unanimously approved. Pike succeeds Robert Lower, who resigned when he moved to Columbiana last summer.

Pike is a salesman and is the father of Gary Pike, Lisbon High School basketball coach. He is a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

In other business, Council heard a report of Robert Kelm, chairman of the finance committee, who said that to keep the town operating at its present level, it would need between $16,000 and $18,000 more in revenue each year. He said the only way this could be obtained is to submit a 3-mill levy on the primary ballot on May 2.

He said the finance committee took everything into consideration and that this is the only solution. He reported all village equipment is old and always needs repairs and the only way to keep from spending money is to purchase new equipment. But at the present income the village is unable to do this. Council took no formal action on the committee's report.

The street committee reported on an investigation of the alley along the home of Tony Catanzarite at the last meeting that water runs into his yard.

The committee suggested that if slag is placed in his driveway and in his garage, this might stop part of the water going onto his lawn. The committee said that the alley should be graded along the side to drain the water on to E. Lincoln Way. The committee also recommended that the alley be made one way for north traffic only.

New forms will be made up designating the amount of bond to be required when a village street is opened to do line repairs. Persons doing this type of work will be charged according to the length and also to the type of street opened. Previously, Council has been asking only a small bond and the street crew has always had to keep the holes repaired because those who had dug up the street sometimes found it cheaper to forfeit the bond than restore the street properly.

Council's next meeting will be Dec. 29, rather than Dec. 26, so that all bills can be ordered paid.

Clerk Sworn In

LISBON — Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana has been sworn in as clerk of courts for his first four-year term. He has served for the last two years in the remainder of the term of John Coleman of Glenmoor, who died while in office in 1958. The oath was administered by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

Three Are Named As Directors By Legion At Chester

Dwight Allison, John Merriman and Ernest John were elected to the board of directors of Chester American Legion Post 121 at a meeting Monday night in the post home.

Tellers for the balloting were John Stoy, Sayre Graham, Paul Reed and Byron Allison.

Plans were completed for a dinner-dance Saturday night at 7 at the post home, a New Year's Eve party and a New Year's Day program of television and sauerkraut.

Christmas wreaths will be placed at the memorial lot at Locust Grove Cemetery and the 1st St. memorial Sunday afternoon at 1.

Contributions of $25 each were authorized for the Hancock County Tuberculosis League and the Salvation Army. A social meeting followed.

Benson Expected To Keep Pushing Plans On Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson is expected to push for his program of lower price supports and relaxed planting controls for wheat right up to the time he steps out of office Jan. 20.

His recommendations are expected to be incorporated in President Eisenhower's message to Congress on the state of the Union.

Wheat supplies in government as well as private hands total about 1½ billion bushels, a record high.

Efforts to write new wheat legislation in the new Congress undoubtedly will run into sharp controversy.

Wheat is currently supported at 75 per cent of parity, the minimum permitted under the law. Congress this year failed to pass a new wheat law and the old program will continue in effect for 1961. Good growing weather likely will result in additional surpluses in 1961.

The fight in Congress will be over the program to be in effect for the 1962 wheat crop program.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new secretary of agriculture to be named by President-elect John F. Kennedy will need the "sympathy" which the retiring secretary, Ezra Taft Benson, says he will have for his successor.

Farm income has been relatively low during the last few years, at a time when the farmers were setting new production records. The new secretary will have the task of trying to improve the situation.

One of the things the new secretary will have to decide is whether to wait until Congress writes new farm policy or whether to act under authority already on the books.

For example, under present law, the secretary can raise price supports to 90 per cent of parity for most of the basic commodities if he desires.

Budget Filed For Wellsville School Band

A request for a budget of $2,700 for the instrumental department for 1961-62 was presented the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night by Theodore Koenig, band director.

Koenig was informed the board will study the budget and needs and then let him know later what action can be taken.

Koenig explained that $550 is needed for repairs to four tubas, $196 for protective cases, $225 for a new baritone horn, $884 for portable risers for seating the band and approximately $200 for other repairs to instruments. All are estimates. He said a two small filing cabinets, costing approximately $80, are needed for storing music.

Koenig also briefly outlined what he estimates will be needed each year through 1964. He listed each individual instrument in the department, its condition and the repairs needed.

Supt. S. E. Daw said the music department is growing and there is no doubt more money will be needed.

Earl Bake, president, said there is nothing the board can do this year but that the request will be studied.

Koenig said the Band Mothers are working toward the purchase of new uniforms for the entire band. The project will cost about $7,000, he said.

Bake suggested that the present uniforms be repaired and the Band Mothers take the remainder of the money and put it on repairs of instruments.

Russell Dysert, member, said "the longer the repairs are delayed the worse they will get. "Koenig displayed a tuba to indicate repairs needed.

Raymond S. Rolley, clerk, pointed out to the board that approximately $13,000 balance will be on hand at the end of the month. He said this will just meet the January bills and the board still will have to meet a $36,000 payroll.

He reported a balance of $87,300.95 as of Nov. 30.

Daw turned over $210.91 collected in fees to Rolley. A request was received from Carl McDevitt, basketball coach, for construction of a storage bin for equipment in the lockerroom.

A request was filed by William Menough, high school principal, for a small filing cabinet for use in the office to store current records.

The board approved a request for purchase of two aquariums, two aquarium kits and slides for the biology department. The cost will be $64.90. The board will be reimbursed 50 per cent of the cost under a federal aid program.

A fee of $5 plus janitor costs was set for use of the MacDonald School gym on Saturday mornings for the Ministerial Association. The ministers plan to set up a church basketball league.

Daw reported he has received favorable reaction to a proposal to initiate television classroom work in area schools. He announced the proposal last month.

The annual reorganization meeting was set for Monday, Jan. 2, at 10 a. m.

Richard Grills was absent. It was announced Christmas vacation will be from Wednesday, Dec. 21, through Tuesday, Jan. 3. The original schedule called for school to resume Monday, Jan. 2, but it was pointed out the holiday will be observed on Monday.

Christmas Seal Sale Nears Halfway Mark

LISBON—The Columbiana County Public Health League's Christmas Seal sale has almost reached the halfway mark after four weeks, according to a report by Miss Lillian Schroeder, executive director. The collection was listed at $16,836.78 with a goal of $33,000.

A breakdown, with goals in parenthesis, shows:

Butler and Knox Townships, $622 ($1,000); Center, $1,307.25 ($2,400); Elkrun, $123 ($200); Fairfield, $1,801.25 ($3,300); Franklin and Wayne, $76.50 ($200); Hanover, $379.50 ($650); Liverpool and St. Clair, $4,307.30 ($9,225); Madison, $98.50 ($200).

Middleton, $214 ($475); Perry, $3,873.75 ($7,400); Salem, $841.25 ($1,500); Unity, $1,596.50 ($3,000); Washington, $283.95 ($650); West, $208.50 ($400), and Yellow Creek, $1,103.50 ($2,400).

Cleveland Council OKs Urban Renewal Plan

CLEVELAND (AP)—City Council gave unanimous approval to the plan for the Erieview urban renewal project Monday night. Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze immediately signed legislation making the plan official.

The plan involves proposals for a complex of apartment towers, office buildings, plazas and other structures in an area bounded approximately by East 9th Street, East 17th Street, Memorial Shoreway and Chester Avenue. Celebrezze says present property will be purchased and the land cleared as developers offer specific proposals for construction.

Vice Adm. Angas Dies

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—Vice Adm. William Mack Angas, retired, 68, commander of Seabee operations for the 7th Fleet in World War II, died Monday. He had been serving as chairman of the Princeton University Department of Civil Engineering.

Under Review 'Little Merchant' Plan

More Newsboys Become Bankers

The checking account plan set up by The Review for its newspaperboys has been expanded to include the 21 carriers in Wellsville.

Richard Kay, manager of the Wellsville branch of the Potters Bank & Trust Co., is showing Richard Bratt, 513 Commerce St., the vault which will hold the weekly deposits he makes.

Under the program, the youngsters make their collections Thursday and Friday evenings of each week to permit them to make their deposits Saturday morning.

Each carrier prepares his own deposit slip and has his own bank book. He makes out a check payable to The Review to cover the amount of his weekly bill for papers he delivered.

The checking account plan is another phase of the "Little Merchant" program designed to train boys to better qualify themselves for the future as citizens and businessmen.

Arrangements for the account plan were made by Marvin Roberts, Review circulation manager, with the cooperation of bank officials.

Despite Supreme Court Move

New Orleans School Issue Seen No Nearer Solution

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans school integration hassle seemed no closer to solution today, despite U. S. Supreme Court action in smashing the state's legal barriers to integration.

The State Legislature in Baton Rouge plowed ahead in its fourth attempt to remove the Orleans Parish School Board for accepting federal court orders for token school integration.

Legislators called the high court ruling asinine and ridiculous.

The white boycott held firm at Frantz and McDonogh No. 19, the two schools integrated Nov. 14. School officials said they doubted if more than eight pupils would attend Frantz in the near future.

One Negro girl is in the first grade at Frantz. Three Negro girls in the first grade remain the only pupils attending McDonogh.

Although the boycott continued to work at the two schools, external evidences of it continued to decline. Only a handful of women huddled in a yard across from the school to watch U. S. deputy marshals escort the eight white and one Negro students to Frantz.

This was the same number that attended Friday but was considerably below the 23 who went last Tuesday before segregationists stepped up their behind-the-scenes pressure campaign.

In Washington, the nine Supreme Court judges ruled unanimously against Louisiana's appeal for a stay of a three-court federal court decision Nov. 30 that struck down the state's anti-integration legal arsenal and refused to suspend integration.

Although the court ruling was not directly on the three-judge court's actions, it in effect affirmed them.

Specifically, the judges blasted interposition, a theory under which the state claimed to place itself between the federal court and the people of Louisiana to prevent school integration.

In a four-paragraph unsigned opinion, the judges agreed with the lower court that interposition is unconstitutional and, "if taken seriously, it is an illegal defiance of constitutional authority."

The school board said it would ask a court hearing on the three-judge ruling itself.

School Board Okays Program For Building

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Board of Education has approved a two-year building program which will cost more than $11 million. Approval came Monday after a public hearing at which no opposition to the program was voiced.

The program calls for construction to be completed in 1962, of six new elementary schools and one junior high school and additions to six elementary schools and one junior high. It will provide a total of 192 new classrooms.

Club To Hear Record

LISBON — A tape recording of brain washing technique used by the Russians on Korean War prisoners will be played at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon in the Pythian Hall. It was provided by Maj. W. E. Mayor, mental health director of Hawaii. O. Dale Mason is program chairman.

Clyde B. Pike Named Lisbon Councilman

LISBON — Clyde B. Pike, 270 E. Pine St., was appointed as the new member of Council Monday night by Mayor Dean Stockman. Council unanimously approved. Pike succeeds Robert Lower, who resigned when he moved to Columbiana last summer.

Pike is a salesman and is the father of Gary Pike, Lisbon High School basketball coach. He is a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

In other business, Council heard a report of Robert Kelm, chairman of the finance committee, who said that to keep the town operating at its present level, it would need between $16,000 and $18,000 more in revenue each year. He said the only way this could be obtained is to submit a 3-mill levy on the primary ballot on May 2.

He said the finance committee took everything into consideration and that this is the only solution. He reported all village equipment is old and always needs repairs and the only way to keep from spending money is to purchase new equipment. But at the present income the village is unable to do this. Council took no formal action on the committee's report.

The street committee reported on an investigation of the alley along the home of Tony Catanzarite at the last meeting that water runs into his yard.

The committee suggested that if slag is placed in his driveway and in his garage, this might stop part of the water going onto his lawn. The committee said that the alley should be graded along the side to drain the water on to E. Lincoln Way. The committee also recommended that the alley be made one way for north traffic only.

New forms will be made up designating the amount of bond to be required when a village street is opened to do line repairs. Persons doing this type of work will be charged according to the length and also to the type of street opened. Previously, Council has been asking only a small bond and the street crew has always had to keep the holes repaired because those who had dug up the street sometimes found it cheaper to forfeit the bond than restore the street properly.

Council's next meeting will be Dec. 29, rather than Dec. 26, so that all bills can be ordered paid.

Clerk Sworn In

LISBON — Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana has been sworn in as clerk of courts for his first four-year term. He has served for the last two years in the remainder of the term of John Coleman of Glenmoor, who died while in office in 1958. The oath was administered by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.
